SENATE ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF PROPAGANDA FOR HOLDING FIRMS

Resolution by Norris Is Approved Without Debate Following Message by President Urging Regulatory Measure.

INQUIRY BY FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

Information About Origin, Purpose, Methods and Expense of Campaign Opposing Legislation to Be Sought.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The Senate today ordered a Federal trade investigation of propaganda circulated on legislation to regulate public utility holding companies.

The inquiry was proposed in a resolution by Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, and approved without debate.

President Roosevelt struck at such propaganda in his message to Congress yesterday urging enactment of holding company regulatory legislation.

Norris' proposal directed the Trade Commission to investigate and report on the "origin, purpose, methods and expense" of such propaganda.

Replies by Utility Men.

Utility executives replied warmly to Roosevelt's charges of "propaganda" today.

One spokesman said the administration "disregards the pleas of the people" while another saw a "strain of malice" in the message which the President urged that control of utility operations be taken away from "a few corporate insiders" by ultimately abolishing all except "necessary" holding companies in this field.

Mr. Roosevelt had said that "far-fetched and fallacious fears" about the effect of pending holding company legislation are being spread.

To this Philip H. Gadsden, chairman of the Committee of Public Utility Executives, replied:

"The utilities have endeavored honestly to inform investors and the general public as to the disastrous effects of this legislation. We shall continue to urge them to express their opinion frankly and fairly."

Gadsden added that "the destruction of the holding company, as provided in the proposed public utility bill, is no longer a concern for the public utilities alone, but for all industry."

The President's message was acclaimed, meanwhile, by several Democratic leaders in Congress and by Senator Norris.

Letter Put in Record.

In a move supporting the President's statements, Senator Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, put into the record a letter bearing the name of the Associated Gas & Electric Co. It asked security holders and employes to write their Congressmen in protest against the legislation.

One of the most strongly-worded protests against the President's message came from Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Utility Investors. He said it seemed to indicate "a state of mind that listens to the brain trusters, but cooly disregards the pleas of the people in the exercise of their constitutional right to petition their own Government for a redress of grievance."

In his message Mr. Roosevelt asserted that destruction of "private socialism" built up by holding companies was "utterly essential to avoid governmental socialism."

"Regulation has small chance of ultimate success against the kind of concentrated wealth and power which holding companies have shown the ability to acquire in the utility field," he added.

C. O. G. Miller, president of the Pacific Lighting Corporation, replied:

"That is a great reflection upon the rate-making bodies of the several states and is untrue."

"It is lamentable that all through his message there is a strain of malice," Miller said, "and it is also lamentable that the President should object to citizens protesting against the confiscation of their property.

"He states in this message that the measure will not destroy legitimate business or wholesome and productive investments, and still he proceeds to advocate such destruction."

Utility spokesmen took sharp ex-

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE APPROVES PINK SLIP REPEAL

Vote Is 14 to 7 in Favor of House Proposal—Group Rejects Amendments by Couzens and La Follette.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The Senate Finance Committee approved today the House resolution to repeal the "pink slip" provision for publication of income tax figures.

At the same time, the committee rejected an amendment by Senator Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, to impose a graduated excess profits tax designed to raise $250,000,000.

The pink slip repeal was approved with unexpected speed, without record vote after the committee had rejected, 14 to 7, a motion by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin for full publicity of all income tax returns.

Couzens' amendment, rejected 12 to five, would have imposed a graduated excess profits tax ranging from 5 to 40 per cent on profits over 8 per cent in place of the present flat 5 per cent tax on profits over 12½ per cent.

All three votes were taken in a meeting which lasted only half an hour.

The vote on the La Follette motion to provide for greater instead of less publicity on income tax returns, which was in effect a test vote on the pink slip provision, follows:

For: Costigan, Clark, Black and Guffey, Democrats; Couzens, La Follette and Capper, Republicans.

Against: Harrison, King, George, Walsh, Barkley, Connally, Gore, Bailey, Byrd, Lonergan and Gerry, Democrats; Keyes, Metcalf and Hastings, Republicans.

The vote on the Couzens amendment, immediately offered on the floor of the Senate, was:

For: Costigan, Black, Democrats; Couzens, La Follette and Capper, Republicans.

Against: Harrison, King, George, Walsh, Barkley, Connally, Bailey, Byrd, Lonergan, Gerry and Guffey, Democrats; and Keyes, Republican.

Chairman Harrison, in announcing the votes, said he had opposed the Couzens amendment, together with other Senators, on the ground that the pink slip repeal was a "simple proposition that ought not to become involved in a long discussion affecting other revenue legislation."

Harrison said he would not call up the pink slip repeal measure until after the Senate disposes of the pending work-relief bill.

Observers did not concede that the Senate's action meant repeal of the pink slip law. They pointed out the Senate Finance Committee was not a test of Senate sentiment, and that it rejected last year the La Follette publicity amendment which was later voted by the Senate.

Depositors Chase Bankers From Court Crying "Stop Thief"

200 Pursue Three Partners of Bankrupt Private Concern in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—A crowd of angry depositors chased three partners of a bankrupt private bank from a third-floor courtroom in the Federal Building to the street yesterday.

Shouting "stop thief," more than 200 men and women raced the partners, Alexander S. Berkowitz, Eugene Berkowitz and A. Murray Spitzer, down two flights of stairs.

A woman, struck Flannery, bodyguard of Federal Judge George A. Welsh, on the face with an umbrella as he and other deputy marshals tried to break up the disturbance, which followed a creditors' hearing. Mrs. David Schorb was arrested as the assailant. Her husband was also taken into custody.

SPEEDER SHOWN BODY OF MAN WHO WAS HACKED TO DEATH

No Auto Victim at Morgue; Raymond Schaller, Truck Driver, Says It Was "Awful."

Raymond Schaller, 22-year-old delivery truck driver, 4256 Margaretta avenue, chose to pay a $10 fine today for speeding in Judge Vest's court and to view a body at the Morgue. As there was no body of an automobile victim at the Morgue, Schaler was shown the body of Thomas Furach, who had been hacked to death with a hatchet in his shanty at Hooverville community.

Schaller was not informed the body was that of a murder victim, but agreed with Parole Officer Leo Quirk it was "awful," and made him "stop and think."

On leaving the Morgue, however, Schaller remarked, "That kind of stuff doesn't scare me much. It really doesn't make any difference how fast a man drives if he is a good driver and the car has good brakes."

RAIL PENSION ACT ARGUED BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

Law Declared Unconstitutional by District of Columbia High Tribunal.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The constitutionality of the railway retirement act, estimated to affect 1,000,000 employes, was argued today in the Supreme Court. The legislation has been declared unconstitutional by the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

It would set up a single compulsory retirement and annuity system with an independent executive board of three, named by the President, to enforce it. It provides for retirement at 65 years.

Harold M. Stephens, assistant Attorney General presented oral argument for the Government. He was assisted by Harry Shulman, special counsel for the railroad retirement board and a former secretary to Justice Brandeis.

JOHN STRACHEY OF ENGLAND CITED FOR DEPORTATION

Former M. P. Arrested in Chicago, Charged With Falsely Denying That He Is Communist.

RELEASED ON BOND PENDING HEARING

Writer and Lecturer Says Accusations in Warrant Are 'Absurd' and Continues on His Tour.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Labor Department officials said today that a deportation hearing probably would be held soon for Evelyn John St. Loe Strachey, visiting English writer and lecturer, who was arrested in Glencoe, Chicago suburb, last night, charged with being an alien Communist, who had misrepresented himself in gaining admission to the country.

The hearing will be before an Immigration Inspector, probably in New York. His findings will be forwarded to the Board of Review in Washington. If the board decides that Strachey is guilty it will order his deportation, no court action being necessary.

Strachey, a former member of Parliament, is a son of John St. Loe Strachey who was editor of the London Spectator for 30 years. He is a nephew of the late Lytton Strachey, noted biographer. He arrived in this country recently for a lecture tour. His visitor's visa has four months to run.

Charges Against Strachey.

The charge against Strachey was made in a warrant issued in Washington. Col. D. W. McCormack, Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, gave out a statement saying that opinions published over Strachey's name were "inconsistent" with answers he gave to officials at the time of his entry into the United States.

He said that Strachey's presence had been objected to by "individuals and organizations," and added that since Strachey's arrival in the United States "he has stated in various publications, over his own name, that not only is he a Communist but that he is in the United States as an active advocate of Communism."

The Labor Department declared that court decisions made it mandatory to deport alien Communists or foreigners who advocate Communism. These decisions, it was said, have established that membership by an alien in the Communist party, or advocacy by an alien of the principles of Communism, proves belief in or advocacy of the overthrow of the Government by force.

Strachey's Publications.

Strachey nas been writing for the New Masses and other publications while in the United States.

"In one of these publications," said Commissioner MacCormack, "he uses the term 'we Communists' and in another refers to himself as a 'Communist drummer' in these words:

"'A Communist drummer, for that is what I am at the moment, peddling Marxism instead of pink pills. . . .' He concludes this article with the statement, 'the Communist party has immense opportunities in front of it; but it will need the most consummate political skill to seize its opportunities to the full.'"

MacCormack said these statements were "obviously inconsistent" with Strachey's negative replies to immigration authorities who asked him whether he advocated or believed in the overthrow of the United States Government by force.

"Had he given frank answers to the questions put to him and disclosed his political views at the Consulate in London or on his arrival at New York," Mac Cormack said, "the situation which he has now brought about could have been averted."

His Books Selling Fast.

The order for Strachey's arrest was issued at a time when books by Strachey, in which he pictures a world facing the alternatives of barbarism or Communism, were being sold widely throughout the country. Book stores reported the books were going fast. Both "The Nature of Capitalist Crisis" and a previous work, "The Coming Struggle for Power," have been reviewed widely in radical publications and in what Communists call the "capitalistic press."

Strachey was educated at Eton and Oxford in England. He was a Labor party member of Parliament from 1929 to 1931. He created a stir in Parliament in 1931 when he switched from the Labor party to Oswald Mosley's Fascist "Black

SAYS BROTHER TOLD OF KILLING PATROLMAN SIKO

Russell Couch Testifies Against George Couch, Once Convicted, at Second Trial for Crime.

IDENTIFIES PISTOL TAKEN FROM VICTIM

Louis De More Got Life for This Murder, but Later Repudiated Confession and Was Freed.

Russell Couch took the witness stand in Circuit Judge Russell's court today as a principal State's witness in the trial of his brother, George Couch, 27-year-old paroled convict, charged with murder in the strange case of Patrolman Albert Siko, who was shot down while pursuing a robber on the night of last April 29.

Russell Couch could not be found when the State sought to put him on the stand at his brother's first trial last October, which resulted in conviction and a life sentence. A new trial was granted later by Circuit Judge Hogan on the ground that Assistant Circuit Attorney William Flynn had made prejudicial remarks to the jury.

Innocent Man Pleaded Guilty.

This was the case in which Louis de More, 42-year-old taxi driver, confessed killing Siko and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary several days after the officer died of his wounds. The case had been considered closed until George and Russell Couch were arrested on the street, and detectives found Siko's revolver, wrenched out of his grasp by the killer, in George Couch's room. George Couch at first said the weapon was given to him by a friend, and later said he found it near the scene of the shooting. De More repudiated his confession, explaining that he had feared he would be hanged if he faced a jury. Subsequently he was released from the penitentiary.

Russell Couch's Testimony.

Russell Couch, who has been in custody of police for the last five weeks, showed no perturbation as he took the witness stand. Carefully avoiding the steadfast gaze of his brother, the witness turned to the jury and readily answered Flynn's questions in a clear voice. His testimony, on which the State's hope for a conviction with the death penalty largely depends, follows:

"Last April 29, a Sunday, I saw my brother George at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. He asked me if I could borrow a pistol for him and told me that, if I got the gun, to meet him that night at the home of our sister in the 3500 block of Cass avenue, where he was staying. I went to my boss, Louis Kemper, and asked him to let me have a pistol. He gave me a nickel-plated revolver, which was loaded.

"I got my girl and we drove to my sister's home about 10 o'clock that night. George answered the door and I gave him the gun. About 15 minutes later he went out, saying he was going for a walk and would be back about midnight."

Quotes Brother's Statement.

Answering direct questions, the witness said George failed to return that night and at 5:30 next morning, in response to telephone directions, he drove to an address on Seventh boulevard, found George there and took him to the Cass avenue address.

"George's clothes were soiled, his hands were cut and bruised and he told me he had been in trouble, that he had to shoot it out with a policeman," the witness continued. "George showed me a blue steel revolver, and said he took it off the officer. He said he had tried to hold up a Wellston street car near the east end of the line and had been chased by the policeman. He said he had to shoot the policeman to get away."

Identifies Revolver.

The witness testified that, when he called for his brother at the Seventh boulevard address, George was hatless and had explained that he had left his hat and some revolver shells on the roof of a shed near the scene of the shooting, where he had lain hidden while police were searching the neighborhood. Russell Couch identified Patrolman Siko's .38-caliber revolver as the weapon George had shown him, also a second revolver which he said was the weapon he borrowed from Kemper for his brother.

Asked if he had read newspaper accounts of De More's confession and sentence, the witness replied affirmatively, adding that he and his brother never discussed that phase of the case.

MAJOR FLOOD IS PREDICTED BY ARMY ENGINEERS

Mississippi's Stage at Cairo, Ill., Expected to Reach 7 Feet Above Danger Mark by Saturday.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 13.—Flood waters of the Mississippi and its tributaries menaced homes in five states today while wind, snow and rain storms were reported in parts of the South.

Hundreds of persons were driven from their homes in Illinois, Missouri and Mississippi by rising waters that crumbled levees of the St. Francis River, near Kennett, Mo. Some areas in Kentucky and Arkansas were covered with water.

National guardsmen were ordered out in Missouri to help families evacuate the flooded area, from which more than 500 fled. Officials said more levees would be swept away before the flood reached its crest.

Nearly half of Saline County, Illinois, was inundated. Floods there were described as the worst since 1913.

United States engineers predicted the Mississippi would rise seven feet above flood stage at Cairo, Ill., by Saturday. They forecast a major flood.

The Current and Little Black Rivers in Missouri had the largest rise since 1915. The Frisco Railroad was washed out between Success, Ark., and Harviell, Mo.

More than 100 boats, under the command of Mayor J. C. Allen of Poplar Bluff, Mo., and National Guardsmen, patrolled the flooded areas east of Poplar Bluff, rescuing farm families from their homes, surrounded by water waist deep. The refugees were temporarily housed in churches and at the courthouse.

High Wind, Snow and Sleet in South; Tornado Damages Town.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Miss., March 13.—Moving eastward across the Gulf States from Texas, a freakish storm reached tornadic force in Mississippi and Georgia and added a cold wave, with snow and sleet, to the flood menace in parts of the South.

Pontotoc, a town of 2500 population in Northern Mississippi, was struck Monday night by the windstorm, which did damage estimated at more than $100,000, largely in the business section. Three persons were injured and more than 20 business houses and homes destroyed or damaged.

Residents in the flat sections of South and East Jackson awoke to find their homes surrounded by water from the steadily-rising Pearl River, which exceeded the 35-foot stage yesterday. Red Cross and other relief workers rescued persons trapped in their homes overnight without fuel in the sudden drop in temperature.

MISSISSIPPI MOB LYNCHES NEGRO IN SCHOOL YARD

Man Suspected of Killing Highway Employe Is Hanged by Crowd of 50 Men Near Slayden.

By the Associated Press.

SLAYDEN, Miss., March 13.—Ab Young, Negro tenant farmer suspected of killing a white highway employe, was lynched in a school yard three miles east of here yesterday.

A mob of 50 men hanged him from an oak tree two hours after he was seized at Rossville, Tenn., just across the Mississippi line. Young was wanted for the killing of Hardy Mackie, 45 years old.

"You'd better sing a hymn," one of the group told Young as a rope was placed about his neck. He tried to sing.

"You'd better pray," he was told. He prayed.

One end of the rope was tied to the tree. Young was pushed on top of a small automobile and the car was driven away.

The hanging took place about 4:10 p. m. As the members of the mob passed through Mount Pleasant with their captive an hour or so before, they told men at a garage that the Negro would be "lynched at sundown."

Mackie had returned from Holly Springs, Miss., Saturday night when he stopped his automobile in front of a store at Slayden. Officers said Young had been drinking and was shooting across the road.

"Stop that shooting, or you will kill somebody," they said Mackie told Young. The officers reported Young fired at Mackie. Mackie fell, mortally wounded. Young escaped under the fire of a group of men. He had not been apprehended by officers when found by the mob at Rossville.

Prosecuting Attorney E. C. Wright said he would make "a thorough investigation" into the lynching. An inquest was called for today.

"We will present our case to the grand jury in August," Wright said.

CALIFORNIA SENATE DEFEATS TOWNSEND PENSION PROPOSAL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 13.—A Senate revolted against Gov. Frank F. Merriam yesterday, defeating the Administration resolution calling on Congress to enact the Townsend old age pension bill. The vote was 21 to 17.

Several of the Governor's closest advisers expressed opposition to the proposal.

300 REBELS TO BE TRIED AS TRAITORS BY GREECE

Wholesale Courts-Martial Follow 11-Day Revolt With Hint Those Convicted Will Face Firing Squad.

VENIZELOS OBTAINS ITALIAN PROTECTION

Leader of Rebellion on Island of Rhodes — Two More Suicide Attempts by Insurgent Officers, One of Them Dies.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

ATHENS, March 13.—The possibility of death before a firing squad faced more than 300 Greek rebels today as the Government started wholesale courts-martial for those implicated in the 11-day revolt.

The belief was widely held in Athens, where it was recalled that a similar fate befell the leaders of Greece's last revolution.

Premier Tsaldaris gave cheering crowds before his home a hint of the stern measures the Government might invoke.

"The people of Greece," he said, "may be certain the law will be executed in such a way the present generation will never again witness the spectacle of these last days."

Italy Protects Venizelos.

While his followers waited to learn the penalty for disloyalty to the Government, Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the rebellion, was on the Italian island of Rhodes after fleeing yesterday to the little Italian island of Cassos, 50 miles east of Crete.

The Governor of the island received the rebel leader and told him he is a free man as far as the Italian Government is concerned.

A previous order that the former Greek Premier was to be interned has been canceled, the Governor said, assuring Venizelos he may go where he likes.

Venizelos probably will stay at Rhodes several days at a de luxe hotel with a private beach. It is understood he then will go to the Italian mainland, ultimately proceeding to Paris to spend his remaining years with his two sons.

Moved for Protection.

The former Greek statesman was taken to Rhodes because he could be given complete police protection. It was feared that some of the Greeks at Cassos, which constitute a majority of the island's population, might make an attempt against his life.

It was reported Venizelos' fellow countrymen on the Italian island were bitter against him because it was he who gave up the Dodecanese islands to Italy.

An Italian Government spokesman in Rome said today that Italy would refuse any request of the Greek Government for the extradition of Venizelos. The spokesman said Venizelos was to be considered a political refugee and therefore not subjected to the provisions of the treaty of extradition.

Rebel Captain Shoots Self.

The Captain of the Greek rebel submarine Jason which arrived at Patmos yesterday attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself and his condition was reported to be grave.

Gov. Mario Lago of Rhodes sent an airplane from the Island of Leros to Patmos to take the wounded man to Rhodes. The Captain was placed in the Royal Rhodes Hospital where doctors said he had a slight chance for life.

He was the third insurgent officer to attempt suicide. Gen. Panayotopoulos ended his life when the revolt collapsed. Col. Flengas, chief of staff of one of the rebel divisions, tried to kill himself yesterday.

Cheers for Kondylis.

Crowds danced and paraded in the streets of Athens this morning, but jeered when there appeared on bulletin boards a statement attributed to Venizelos that he has "definitely retired from Greek politics forever."

While Athens continued its celebrations, the Government set its losses in the insurrection as 11 killed and 28 wounded.

A crowd of 300,000 cheered madly when Gen. George Kondylis, commander of the Loyalist troops, appeared on the balcony of the home of Premier Tsaldaris.

"Twenty-five hundred years ago," the General told the enthusiastic throng, "King Darius sent ambassadors to Greece demanding sub-

RICHBERG SUBMITS PLAN TO COMBINE 537 NRA CODES

Suggests, but Does Not Recommend, Blanketing Them in Single Small Industries Group.

THINKS THIS WOULD SIMPLIFY OPERATIONS

Before Senate Committee Calls Borah's Criticism of Steel Pact 'Exaggeration of Trifles.'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—A plan for eliminating 537 of NRA's smaller codes by blanketing them all into a single flexible "small industries" code was presented to the Senate Finance Committee today by Donald R. Richberg, on behalf of the administration.

Though Richberg did not personally recommend the plan, he submitted it to the committee as a method of simplifying NRA administration and concentrating its efforts on the big industries, if Congress should desire.

The director of the National Emergency Council said the blanket code plan, together with his recommendation for dropping service trade codes, would reduce the present code structure from more than 700 to 181 codes.

Says Business Favors NRA.

American business was represented by Richberg as overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the NRA.

Text of Statement.

The text of Richberg's statement to the committee follows:

1. Withdraw the Federal Government from all compulsion (including codes) with reference to service trades. Require the administration to furnish the best protection to labor and competitors in these trades that can practically be furnished, on a voluntary basis so far as the Federal Government is concerned. (This means the devising of standards co-operatively between the industry, the Federal Government and the states and the use of presidential agreements and Federal administrative agencies to promote co-operation, but leaving compulsion to the states and local governments which desire to take his step)."

2. Require the administration to consolidate all small codes. (a) With the appropriate larger codes (thereby eliminating annoyances of overlapping and separate efforts to administer); and (b) with a limited 'small industries' code—effective as to any small industry only when the true representatives of that industry subscribe.

"(Note: If all codes covering less than 10,000 employes per code are consolidated, as above suggested, 537 would be eliminated, without reference to service industries. This would leave 194 total codes. If deduction is made for the 13 major service codes there would be 181 total codes left outstanding)."

After presenting this plan for reducing the number of codes, Richberg said there would be "vigorous protests" from the industries involved.

"They will tell you with great vigor," he said, "that they should be permitted to retain codes that have operated with great efficiency."

Richberg also told the committee that Senator Borah's criticism of the NRA steel code was "an exaggeration of trifles" that did not represent "mature judgment on the facts of industry."

Richberg told the committee he could bring "battalions" of business men before the committee to support the code organization.

"I don't know how other members of the committee feel," Chairman Harrison remarked, "but I don't want to see battalions coming up here."

Richberg testified that both the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the American Federation of Labor had declared for an extension of NRA.

He told the committee some of the monopoly charges under NRA arose from patent monopolies which would not be corrected by enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

He emphasized particularly charges against the electrical manufacturing code, telling the committee it would require changes in the patent law, if Congress wanted to change conditions there.

Refers to Borah's Charge.

Richberg warmly defended NRA's approval of the steel code in the face of monopoly charges, contendind it did not establish monopoly in the steel industry and did not change practices in the industry.

Then, without mentioning Borah by name, Richberg referred to a charge on the floor of the Senate by the Idaho Senator that the price of steel had risen as much as 800 per cent.

"That is the sort of exaggeration of trifles," Richberg said, "that does not represent a mature judgment on the facts of industry."

He cited figures intended to show that the price of steel had not risen unduly.

The 1929 price of finished steel, a ton, he said, was $51.45, but now it was about $47.50 and has "not yet come within speaking distance of the pre-depression level."

On the other hand, he said, steel payrolls had risen from a low of $13,000,000 a month to $42,000,000 and the average weekly wages from $11.52 to $19.12.

Discusses Steel Code.

Turning to the steel code which some have charged with fostering monopoly Richberg said that despite a decline in the steel business the number of employes and the amount of wages were increased under the code.

"There is not a better instance of what could be done under the law," he said.

Richberg contended the steel industry had "grown up" under the price-fixing system and that it would have required a "tremendous dislocation" to change it.

"I ask if a single man who faced the proposition of putting 75,000 men to work at better wages would have refused because he wanted to fight out then and there whether practices of 10 years standing were monopolistic," he said.

He maintained that any monopolistic practices under the steel code were carryovers from the previous custom of the industry and asserted it had provided thousands of jobs at higher pay.

Not Justified, King Thinks.

Senator King (Dem.), Utah, said in an interview today that Richberg had not "made a showing to justify maintenance of the codes."

"The high salaried officials in NRA are determined to maintain it and are doing everything to bring about that result," King said. "But their presentation of figures does not justify the codes in the present form. The Federal Trade Commission has authority to do most of the things NRA has accomplished with respect to unfair competition. The provisions to protect labor should be preserved. But I believe the Labor Department, which is in sympathy with labor, can more effectively administer the provisions of NRA relating to labor."

SENATE ORDERS HOLDING COMPANY PROPAGANDA INQUIRY

ception to the President's contention that the proposed holding company legislation would not destroy "a penny of actual value" of the properties represented by holding company securities.

Hearings to Proceed.

The House Committee on Interstate Commerce prepared to proceed with hearings on the holding company bill introduced recently by its chairman, Rep. Rayburn (Dem.) Texas. It proposes to abolish most utility holding companies five years from now and subject them to strict Federal regulation in the interim.

Retpublicans in the House contended yesterday, after hearing the Roosevelt message, that it constituted "propaganda." Representatives Snell and Fish of New York both so described it. Representative Cooper (Rep.), Ohio, told the House Rayburn's bill was "too drastic" and asserted the Government itself had incorporated the Tennessee Valley Authority as a holding company to compete with private business without regulation.

Meanwhile a Federal Power Commission official advised Congress to limit control over gas and electric rates for the present to wholesale power and see if that would not be effective before attempting to regulate local rates. Dozier de Vane, solicitor, prompted by Chairman Frank R. Mcninch, testified before the House Interstate Commerce Committee on the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

"We are going to leave it with the states to control local rates," De Vane explained, "but we are going to help them. But if the Supreme Court rules there are cases the states cannot reach because of interstate power movement, then Congress should put in that authority afterwards."

ECCLES WOULD HAVE RESERVE BOARD STABILIZE INDUSTRY

Proposes Amendment to Banking Bill to Let Agency Use Its Monetary Power to That End.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—An amendment to the omnibus banking bill to direct the Federal Reserve Board to stabilize production, employment and prices so far as possible "within the scope of monetary action," was proposed today by Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the Reserve Board.

Testifying before the House Banking and Currency Committee, he opposed setting a definite price goal as an objective of the bill reiterating his views that monetary action alone could not solve economic problems. "We hear a great deal about inflation," he said. "But we don't see any signs of it in the markets. If people had a real fear of inflation they would be shifting money into equities and real estate, and commodities and prices would be going up."

He explained, however, that the basis had been laid for a greater expansion of credit than had been witnessed before the deflation. He said member banks of the Federal Reserve System on the basis of their present excess reserves could extend more than $20,000,000,000 credit without having to borrow from reserve banks.

STATE SENATE COMMITTEE FOR MOVIE CENSOR BILL

Reports Measure for Commission of Three to Examine All Pictures and Film Posters.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 13.—Senator John P. Shea's bill to create a State Board of Motion Picture Censors has been reported favorably by the Senate Criminal Jurisprudence Committee, with only a few committee amendments cutting down the salaries of the censors and other employes.

The bill would establish a board of three, which would approve all motion pictures that "are moral and proper" and disapprove those that are "obscene, indecent, immoral, improper, cruel, inimical to the welfare of the State or nation, or which tend to debase or corrupt morals or citizenship or unduly excite and deceive the public."

All movies, including full-length pictures, news reels, comedies and short subjects, would be examined by the board at a cost to the producer or distributer of 50 cents for each reel. The board would also inspect all advertising matter and posters.

The censors would receive $2500 a year under the committee amendments. Shea is a motion picture theater operator in St. Louis.

SOUTH CAROLINA HOUSE WON'T TAKE STAND ON HUEY LONG

Votes Down Anti-"Kingfish" Resolution but Washes Its Hands of His Coming Visit.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 13.—The South Carolina House, after an acrimonious debate over Senator Huey Long, tabled a resolution today which asserted the Louisiana Senator was regarded by many as a "public enemy" and providing that he be requested not to visit this State. The Representatives voted, 51 to 35, to table the resolution.

The chamber then adopted a resolution to place the General Assembly on record as having no part in inviting Long to Columbia. The "Kingfish" is scheduled to make an address here March 23. Representative Ben E. Adams of Columbia, weekly newspaper editor and one of a group of citizens who invited Long here, was the Senator's principal defender.

HOLDING FIRM'S RECORDS AIRED AT MELLON HEARING

Union Construction Co. Received $44,000,000 of McClintic-Marshall Corp. Assets.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, March 13.—The Government continued today to inquire into affairs of holding companies in which Andrew W. Mellon was interested and through which it contends he illegally avoided payment of income tax in 1931.

Cross-examination of Earle J. Patterson, former secretary-treasurer of the $65,000,000 McClintic-Marshall Corporation, F. R. Shearer, Government counsel, went into records of the concern, 30 per cent of which was owned by Mellon.

Shearer brought out that in 1926 the McClintic-Marshall Construction Co. was superseded by the McClintic-Marshall Corporation, and that later this concern was split, the Union Construction Co., a holding concern, taking $44,000,000 of the assets and the Bethlehem Steel aquiring $21,000,000.

Seeking $1,000,000 Tax on Deal.

The Government contends that Mellon made $6,500,000 in the Bethlehem transaction, which it asserts was a sale and therefore taxable. Mellon's counsel says the deal was a merger and not taxable. More than $1,000,000 of the $3,089,000 it is seeking to collect from the banker is involved in the transaction.

A. J. State of Bethlehem, Pa., succeeded Patterson on the witness stand. He is assistant secretary to McClintic-Marshall, and Government counsel questioned him about the contracts by which control of his company was taken by Bethlehem Steel.

The questioning was highly technical and Mellon himself, at the hearing daily until yesterday, spent only 10 minutes at his counsel's table today. He seemed a little paler than usual and a cough which has been troubling him for two weeks or more, seemed worse. He said he has been sleeping fine and is feeling good. He will be 80 years old in a week.

Friends say the financier was greatly shocked by the death last week of Henry C. McEldowney, president of the Union Trust Co., central structure of the Mellon banking empire, who has been his intimate friend for more than 30 years.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

Shearer drew from Patterson details of varous stockholders' and directors' meetings at which preliminaries to the $21,000,000 deal were discussed.

Patterson said that while the merger was pending, McClintic-Marshall, on advice of counsel, decided to segregate into one holding company all the assets which Bethlehem did not want. These assets, with a book value of $44,000,000, included 83½ per cent of the Koppers Company of Delaware stock, cash and other securities. The new concern was called the Union Construction Co.

The witness, on direct testimony, had identified various contracts and minutes of the meetings of the seven subsidiaries of McClintic-Marshall, accepting a proposal by the Union Construction Co. for their assets—contracts which Mellon's counsel contends are perfectly legal transactions, making the transfer of assets both to Union and to Bethlehem, non-taxable until actual cash shoul dbe acquired by the individuals from the proceeds.

Shearer had Patterson describe the meetings of stockholders and boards of directors of the seven subsidiaries. There were 20 meetings, all on Dec. 31, 1931, of which 15 were held in the McClintic-Marshall offices in Pittsburgh during the afternoon and evening.

It was brought out that at the Pittsburgh meetings only four men were present, C. D. McClintic, H. H. Marshall, Patterson and E. A. Gibbs, and that the minutes of the subsidiary concerns showed these four every 10 minutes changed from a stockholders' meeting to a directors' meeting. Shearer said this process went on until all had approved the transactions.

Patterson said the proceedings were informal, adding that no gavel was used to start and close proceedings.

McClintic-Marshall was sole owner of the subsidiaries' stock. Using proxies, the McClintic-Marshall companies of New York, California, and Illinois met in Buffalo, San Francisco and Chicago respectively, Patterson said.

The Government is trying to prove that the contracts were a screen behind which the McClintic-Marshall Corporation sought to liquidate part of its holdings to avoid taxes; that Bethlehem did not actually merge with the company (such a transaction would not be taxable) but actually purchase of part of its assets, thereby giving Mellon part of the profits he had acquired since he had helped organize the company 30 years before.

Andrew Mellon and his brother, the late R. B. Mellon, owned 60 per cent of the McClintic-Marshall stock, holding 30 per cent each.

Strachey Released on Bond; Declares Charge Is "Absurd."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Free on $500 bond, Evelyn John St. Loe Strachey, former member of Parliament, who was arrested last night on charges of illegal entry into the United States, left Chicago for Cleveland today to continue his lecture tour. He was released on a bond furnished by Prof. Robert Morss Lovett, 45-year-old editor and teacher.

When he appeared at the Immigration Office to arrange bonds, Strachey intended to make Federal authorities prove their charges that as a Communist he advocated the overthrow of the Government by force.

Accompanied by two attorneys, Strachey entered the office of Fred J. Schlotfeldt, District Director of Immigration and Naturalization, at 10 a. m. Strachey's two attorneys were identified by Hugh Miller, secretary of the Civil Liberties Union, as Edgar Brenhard and Alfred Kamin, attorneys for the Union.

No depositions were taken and Strachey was not questioned.

The time and place for a hearing were left open, but it was said the hearing probably would be held at New York.

Strachey was arrested in suburban Glencoe. He was taken in custody by Schlotfeldt and police at a Jewish temple when he concluded an address in which he was quoted as advocating the overthrow of the capitalistic system.

A question asked by a member of Strachey's audience in his lecture before the North Shore Congregation Israel was: "How must the change from capitalism to Communism be achieved?" Strachey parried.

"Such a question should be addressed, not to me, but to the capitalists," he said. "Any social and economic change which is made should be achieved, if at all possible, in an orderly way through democratic decisions. In the case of change affecting the interests of capitalists, the capitalists should be asked whether they would accept democratic decisions, even should such decisions indicate change adversely affecting their interests. Only they can give the answer."

"The charge as read to me in the warrant is absurd," Strachey said afterward. "I am not a member of the Communist party and therefore I will firmly deny that I entered the country through any misstatements. I have never advocated the overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence. I never advocate anything. All the political talking I do, I do in my own country, Great Britain. Here, American citizens invite me to lecture to them on politics and economics of the day from the informative standpoint and not from a matter of political beliefs."

"A Communist America would start farther ahead than Russia is now," Strachey was quoted as saying in his Glencoe address. "We Marxists cannot believe there is any way in which capitalism can come out of its dilemma. We stand for total abolition of capitalism and substitution of a system based on production for public ownership and use."

In the course of his lecture tour, he addressed University of Illinois students at Champaign Monday night and asserted that the New Deal was playing a "sincere but losing" hand in trying to reform capitalism.

"It is virtually necessary to abolish the system (capitalism) and substitute another," he said there.

One London Paper Says Strachey Is "Theoretical Communist."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, March 13. — London newspapers are prominently displaying reports of the arrest at Chicago of Evelyn John St. Loe Strachey, English author and lecturer.

Editorial comment is lacking, but the Evening Star, in its news report of the arrest, says Strachey "recently associated himself with the Communist movement." The Standard says he is regarded as a "theoretical Communist."

Socialists, Communists and Fascists all joined in disowning Strachey.

As one newspaper headline said, Strachey has found himself "a spot of bother" to United States immigration authorities and no one semed greatly concerned in claiming him for themselves.

The secretary of the British Communist party said: "Strachey definitely is not a member of our party and never has been one."

The Foreign Office said it was not interesting itself in Strachey's case in any way.

OTHER MARINE UNIONS BACK STRIKING OIL TANKER SAILORS

Radio Operators Called Out in Sympathy; Other Workers Pledge Support.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—Various marine unions have pledged support to the striking oil tanker sailors. The first sympathetic walkout was announced at San Pedro by C. H. Jordan, representative of the American Radio Telegraphists' Association, who said radio operators had been called off the oil tankers.

Pledges to refuse to work on any vessel replacing strikers with nonunion crews were previously made by the Masters', Mates' and Pilots' Association and the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association here and at San Pedro.

The strike was indorsed by the International Seamen's Union, of which the sailors' organization is a unit, and a threat was made to order a walkout from 220 general cargo vessels.

Dock employes at Seattle refused to work at three piers.

More than 20 vessels, most of them tankers, are reported tied up at Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, San Pedro, San Diego and Long Beach.

Oil company executives said the sailors' union had refused to submit to arbitration its demand for preferential hiring for its members. They are waiting a response from appeals to the Department of Labor in Washington for Government intervention.

INTERNATIONAL ARMS EXPERTS DEFINE MILITARY AIRPLANE

They Thereby End Dispute Between U. S. and Britain Over Disarmament Treaty Provisions.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, March 13.—International arms traffic experts decided today a military airplane is one, irrespective of design, which is equipped with bomb racks, gun guards, or a torpedo or bomb release mechanism.

Such machines, they decided, should in the future only be sold directly to governments although purely commercial aircraft may be sold freely abroad to individuals as well as governments. This freedom likewise was extended to the essential component parts of an airplane including engine for types either military or commercial.

The decision ended the conflict between Great Britain and the United States on the subject, England hitherto having insisted that all airplanes should receive the same treatment under the proposed disarmament treaty. The Americans also made a concession, as the American draft for the treaty took the essential parts of military airplanes into the category which could only be sold to governments.

'ADVISER' QUIZZED ON $1000 FEE ON $2000 INSURANCE

Emanuel E. Kauffman Gives Deposition in Mrs. Winifred Van Hee's Suit Against Him.

SHE HAS RECEIVED NOTHING, HE ADMITS

He "Analyzed" and "Studied Policy a Few Days," He Says, Though Her Claim Was Uncontested.

'ADVISER' UNDER FIRE

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

EMANUEL E KAUFFMAN.

The ethics of charging a penniless widow $1000 for "collecting" a $2000 insurance policy that the insurance company stood ready to pay on demand was discussed yesterday by Emanuel E. Kauffman, who calls himself "an insurance adviser."

Kauffman is being sued by the widow, Mrs. Winifred Van Hee, for the full $2000. His discussion of the equity of his fee came during the taking of his deposition by Mrs. Van Hee's attorneys, who are members of the Bar Association's Committee on Unauthorized Practice of the Law.

"Do you think," demanded William H. Biggs, one of the committee members," that your fee is a fair fee for collecting on a death policy where there is no denial of liability?"

"Well," Kauffman retorted, "if nothing would be collected, she wouldn't pay me a nickel."

Kauffman Says He Doesn't Know.

"Answer the question," Biggs insisted. "Do you think it is a fair fee?" "I don't know. I never have experienced a case like this. That's the reason I couldn't tell you if it's fair. Let somebody else decide if it was fair."

"Do you charge 50 per cent in all of your cases?"

Kauffman's attorney, Alvin A. Wolff, who helped "collect" the $2000 from the Aetna Life Insurance Co., objected to that question on the ground that Kauffman's regular practice was not an issue in the suit. Former Circuit Judge William H. Killoren, special commissioner in the case, ruled that the defendant might answer and Kauffman said, "No, sir."

"What was your fee of 50 per cent for?" Biggs asked. "She voluntarily offered me that. She said your knowledge of your business and whatever you have to do . . ."

Woman Has Received Nothing.

Biggs had established that Kauffman and Wolff had offered Mrs. Van Hee a cashier's check for $1000 after she indorsed the Aetna company's $2000 draft which she has said she thought was just a slip of paper meaning that her claim was to be allowed. Mrs. Van Hee refused the $1000 and Wolff still has the cashier's check, Kauffman testified.

"Where's the other $1000?" Biggs inquired. "I paid Mr. Wolff $350," was the answer.

"Where's the other $650?" "I retained that."

"And the only services you performed after Mrs. Van Hee's husband died was to receive some papers from Mr. Wolff, mail them to Mrs. Van Hee to sign and give them back to Mr. Wolff?" "Yes."

The "papers" were printed forms authorizing the insurance company to examine hospital records about Van Hee. Signing them is a routine procedure in all insurance claims.

In justification of his fee, Kauffman testified he had a contract with Mrs. Van Hee, signed when she wanted to collect disability insurance on her husband, who was then ill, and that he had "made some investigations" which justified him in claiming half the policy. Also, he said, he "analyzed" the policy and "studied it for a few days."

He testified that he was 38 years old, lived at 5736 Page boulevard, was married and had one child and is sole owner of the Insurance Advisory Bureau in the Louderman Building, which he started last May.

Mrs. Van Hee's Deposition.

Mrs. Van Hee, a diet maid at the City Hospital, testified she went to Kauffman for advice about her policy "because I didn't know where the office of the Aetna company was."

"Can you read English?" Wolff interrogated. "Yes."

"Can you use a telephone book?" "Yes, but I was looking under Etna."

She said she read the contract Kauffman gave her to sign, which provided him with power of attorney in prosecuting the claim for $2000, "that is, as much as I could," she added. "I got nervous and couldn't distinguish black from white. I do that every time I get nervous. Besides, I couldn't make any sense of it."

Wolff inquired how she happened to file suit against Kauffman and Mrs. Van Hee answered: "He told me not to say anything about the money and when he told me that, I thought there was something wrong with it, so I went to the Better Business Bureau and they sent me out to the Lubrite Co., where my husband worked when he got the policy and the Lubrite Co. sent me to their attorney, Mr. Kenneth Teasdale (president of the St. Louis Bar Association) and Mr. Teasdale turned me over to Mr. Biggs.

Still Thinks It's "Crooked."

"The way he said I shouldn't tell anybody I thought there was something crooked about it?" "You think it's crooked?" Wolff repeated.

"It sure is," the witness answered heatedly, "if you're charging what you're charging me. For two letters. Humph"

Mrs. Van Hee explained that the contract she signed with Kauffman was merely to pay him 50 per cent of whatever disability payment he was able to collect. Wolff asked her if she had not visited his office to sign forms authorizing the insurance company to inspect hospital records.

"No," she answered flatly. "I signed a paper to keep them from inspecting the hospital records and make them go to you for their information. And I couldn't understand why, because there wasn't any secret about my husband's case."

"The Ad Said Free Advice."

"Did you expect to pay for any services you received?" Wolff demanded. "Well," the ad in the paper said free advice."

"And after Mr. Kaufman told you he had turned in your policy to the Aetna company and would have a check for you in a few days, didnt' you expect to pay him for his services?" "Yes."

"How much did you expect to pay him?" "Well," the witness replied, "I certainly didn't expect to pay him the whole works."

Says Fee Was Too High.

Wolff persisted in the inquiry until Mrs. Van Hee responded that she had intended to pay Kauffman "for his services, which was about two letters, and I didn't think it was worth any $1000."

The $2000 group insurance policy, it was testified, was given to Van Hee while he was employed at a filling station of the Lubrite company, and the company paid the premiums on it while he was working there. He had a nervous breakdown and was ill for a year before Mrs. Van Hee made any attempt to collect on the disability provision of the policy.

Clarence T. Case, chairman of the Committee on Unauthorized Practice of the Law, attended the hearing, as did William W. Crowdus and Frederick A. Judell, committee members. Mrs. Van Hee's attorneys in the case are Teasdale, president of the Bar Association, and the entire membership of the Committee on Unauthorized Practice of the Law.

WILLIAM F. M'CARTHY WANTS VAGRANCY CHARGE DISMISSED

Son of Police Chief Says State Has Failed to Prove He Is Able-Bodied Man.

Contending that the State had failed to show he was an able-bodied man, William F. McCarthy, son of Chief of Police McCarthy, asked Judge Dickmann in Court of Criminal Correction today to dismiss a charge of vagrancy by failure to support his wife and two children, 8 and 12 years old.

The demurrer, presented by McCarthy's lawyer, William Hough, was taken under advisement. It was based on the contention that since the statute described "every able-bodied married man who shall neglect or refuse to provide for the support of his family," as a vagrant, the prosecution's proof must have established that the defendant was able-bodied.

Mrs. Jessie McCarthy, the wife, 5455 Delmar boulevard, testified that she and McCarthy separated in 1927, and that since Feb. 5, 1934, he had given her only $10. She said she was employed at $20 a week as a stenographer by Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney department store.

McCarthy, who lives at the Hamilton Hotel, did not take the stand.

MOVIE ACTOR ARRESTED IN JEWELRY SMUGGLING

G. K. Arthur Accused of Theft in England and of Getting Loot Into United States.

NEW YORK, March 13.—George K. Arthur, Hollywood movie actor, was arrested today as he stepped off the gangplank of the Panama-Pacific liner Columbia, charged with smuggling in connection with an international jewel theft.

A New York City police detective, Walter Miller, who made the arrest, said Arthur, whose real name is George Brest, was held on a Federal indictment after information had been supplied by Scotland Yard and the Department of Justice.

Arthur is accused of stealing a diamond and sapphire bracelet from Stephen Raphael, British banker, and duping Miss Mary H. Jopling of New York, social registerite, into carrying the bracelet into the United States.

HEAD TAX CLAUSE IN STATE OLD AGE PENSION MEASURE

House Committee Approves Proposal for $3 Annual Levy on Residents Between 21 and 70.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 13.—The House Committee on Pensions approved a substitute old age pension bill last night providing that the money for such pensions should be raised by an annual tax of $3 on each resident of the State between the ages of 21 and 70.

The bill differs from the pending Senate bill in this provision and also in the plan of administration. The Senate measure provides for administration by the Board of Managers of the Eleemosynary Institutions. The House bill provides for boards in each county, consisting of the probate judge, clerk of the county court and the county superintendent of schools. In St. Louis the proposed board would comprise the probate judge, circuit clerk and comptroller. Members would serve without compensation.

Both measures provide for a maximum monthly payment of $30 for single persons and $45 for couples over 70 years of age. The House bill also provides that the total payments shall not exceed $360 a year for single persons and $540 a year for couples, the payments to be diminished by the amount of total income of recipients of the pensions.

The House bill also provides that it shall be the duty of the State Auditor to apply to the Federal Relief Administrator for the allotment to which the State is entitled in the event Congress passes old age pension legislation.

The tax to provide funds for pensions would be due on or before June 1 of each year. Failure to pay that date would result in a penalty of 25 cents a month being added to the tax and failure to pay within 60 days would authorize the collector to order the employer of the delinquent person to deduct the amount of the tax from his salary.

The House bill was prepared by a subcommittee from nine old age pension bills introduced in the House. Members of the subcommittee were Representative Karst of St. Louis, McGee of Warrenton and Jolly of Sedalia.

defendant by court appointment was unable to shake Russell Couch's testimony by a vigorous cross-examination. He sought to show that the brother took the stand for the State to save himself from possible prosecution as an accessory. The witness replied that he had acted innocently in getting the revolver for his brother, and was "telling the truth."

Louis Kemper, news dealer, corroborated Russell Couch's account of the lending of the revolver, which was returned next day with only two loaded cartridges, he said.

"I Just Shot a Copper."

George Schumaker, 33-year-old shipping clerk, 1216 Seventh boulevard, testified he had known the Couch brothers since school days. Early last April he met George Couch on the street, and the paroled convict visited his home.

About 2 a. m. last April 30, Schumaker testified, he wasawakened by a knock at the back door and admitted George Couch.

"He said, 'Let me in; I just shot a copper,'" the witness related. "I told him, 'You must be crazy.' He said he had tried to hold up a street car, had to kick the door open and get away and had been followed by a policeman. He told me, 'I swung around and shot him in the face, then a big hoosier came along and I had to throw some slugs at him.' He showed me a policeman's revolver and said he took it away from the officer he had shot."

Schumaker testified he had made coffee for Couch, bought a morning newspaper and read him an account of the shooting of Siko and later telephoned a neighbor of Couch's sister on Cass avenue, requesting that Russell be sent to get his brother. Couch told him, the witness said, that he had hidden on a shed roof, leaving his hat and the empty cartridges there.

Brother-in-Law Testifies.

Arthur Whitter, brother-in-law of the Couch brothers, at whose home George Couch roomed, took the stand and testified that two weeks after the killing George told him of the attempted holdup, remarking that he "had to shoot a cop." Whitter said that on the morning after the killing he received the telephone message in which Russell Couch was directed to call for George on Seventh boulevard. When George reached home his clothing was soiled, he was hatless and his hands were scratched, the witness said.

The recovery of Siko's missing revolver in Couch's room was related yesterday by Detective William Greenspan. Russell Couch directed officers to 3513 Cass avenue, the sister's home, Greenspan said, and Siko's revolver and another .38-caliber revolver were found in a handbag in George Couch's room. Greenspan also told of the finding of a light colored felt hat, discharged shells fitting Siko's revolver and shells for another revolver on the roof of a shed at 118 Lucas avenue. Previous witnesses had testified that the robber chased by Siko wore a light colored hat.

Harry Klinger, commission merchant, testified that he hailed Siko, who was standing near Third street and Delmar boulevard waiting for a relief officer, and informed him of the attempt to hold up a street car, which failed when the Motorman, Thomas E. Fisher, shouted for help. Klinger said Siko ran into Collins street after the robber . There was a scuffle on the ground, the flash and report of revolver fire, and the robber jerked away and fled after firing a shot at Klinger.

Siko, 29 years old and the father of two young sons, died two days after he was shot. He and Fisher identified De More, who was arrested at a Walnut street hotel.

REPPERT QUICKLY FREED BY JURY OF PERJURY CHARGE

Ex-Police Head Acquitted in Case Growing Out of Testimony in Kansas City Station Killings.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 13.—Eugene C. Reppert, former Director of Police, was acquitted by a Federal Court jury last night of a charge that he committed perjury in testimony before a grand jury relative to the Union Station Plaza murders in 1933. The jury was out 18 minutes.

When the verdict was returned after being reached on the first ballot, Reppert shook hands with the jurors. He said: "I consider the jury's decision not only as a vindication of myself but as a vindication of the entire Police Department against whom the charges should never have been brought."

Maurice M. Milligan, United States District Attorney, said today that the perjury indictments against Thomas J. Higgins, chief of detectives, and George L. (Jeff) Rayen, detective lieutenant, would be dismissed. Milligan said the Government's evidence against the two was virtually the same as was introduced in the trial of Reppert.

Denied He Gave "Lay Off" Order.

The trial, at which the Government sought to disclose "behind-the-scenes" phases of the murders, was based on the charge that Reppert directed his department to "lay off" the case but denied before a Federal grand jury he gave any such orders.

The Government contended that a speedy investigation would have disclosed that John Lazia, powerful local politician until his murder last year, introduced two of the station killers the night before the crime, June 17, 1933.

Reppert, who later resigned as director, made only a brief denial of the perjury charge, but men who served under him testified that he pushed the investigation vigorously.

Five Men Killed at Time.

The murders occurred when gangsters attempted to liberate Frank Nash as he was being taken to the Leavenworth (Kan.) Federal prison. Nash was killed in a burst of machine-gun fire that cost the lives of four officers.

The Government sought to show that Lazia introduced Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd and Verne C. Miller, two of the alleged gunmen. Both since have been killed. Adam Richetti is in jail here charged with the murder under a State indictment.

In January six persons were found guilty in Federal Court here of making the arrangements for the delivery of Nash. They are: R. T. Galatas, Hot Springs, Ark.; Herbert A. Farmer, Joplin, Mo.; Elizabeth Galatas, Esther Farmer, Frank B. (Fritz) Mulloy, Kansas City, and Louis ("Doc") Stacci, Chicago night club operator.

Frances Nash, widow of the slain Frank Nash, was released by the Government after her testimony in the conspiracy case. Vivian Mathis, who lived here as the wife of Verne Miller, pleaded guilty during the trial.

Flooded Transient Camp in St. Louis County

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

FEDERAL transient camp on the Meramec River at Highway 66, which was flooded when a sandbag embankment protecting camp from a small tributary of the river gave way early today. The camp site is on the bed of what was once a small lake. Supplies and some clothing of the 100 men in camp were lost or damaged.

highway travel and causing many families to flee from their homes.

About 100 families in Harrisburg, Gaskins City and Wilmoth, suburbs, were driven from their homes. Families within seven blocks of the Harrisburg business district were forced to move to higher ground.

It was estimated 40 per cent of Saline County was inundated by overflows of the Saline River and its tributaries. Boats were used to move families to safety. Since the 1913 flood, $500,000 has been spent in flood control work on the Saline and its tributaries.

Washouts on the Big Four Railroad near Vienna and on the Louisville & Nashville between Broughton and Eldorado were repaired. In some sections the high water had passed the crest.

428 Flood Refugees Sleep in Courthouse at Poplar Bluff.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., March 13.—The St. Francis River swept through the Stoddard County levee in five places near Rombauer last night and was flooding the 15,000-acre Mingo Basin. Farmers fled to safety, leaving livestock and other property behind. They had no time to round up their farm animals.

Ira Hawthorn, a farmer, took his wife and three children to a point of safety but the onrush of waters swept the farm dwelling they occupied from its foundation and carried it away. Everything the family possessed was lost.

With the levee broken near Rombauer pressure was relieved in the Fisk community, where the stage dropped more than a foot in an hour. The river today, however, again was rising at Fisk, registering 26.6 feet. The maximum reached two years ago when the Dunklin County levees broke, was 26.3 feet.

The Red Cross here cared for 428 persons in the Butler County Courthouse last night. Some of the refugees will be able to return to their homes late today. Black River had fallen two feet this morning.

Red Cross Appeals to Missouri Chapters for Flood Relief Funds.

The American Red Cross, which is directing relief work in flooded areas, issued an appeal for funds today to its 119 Missouri chapters. L. M. Mitchell, assistant manager of the midwestern office, asked that contributions be made through the local chapters.

The Red Cross, Mitchell said, was sheltering 2000 Butler County refugees at Poplar Bluff, and at Kennett, Dunklin County, preparations were being made to aid a larger number. Three trained disaster relief workers have been sent to Butler and Dunklin counties and to Newport, Ark. Others are to be sent tomorrow.

Alyce Jane McHenry Apparently on Way to Recovery at Fall River, Mass.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 13.—Alyce Jane McHenry, 10 years old, of Omaha, Neb., is apparently on the way to recovery after a delicate operation to correct her inverted stomach.

A hospital bulletin gave normal readings for her temperature, pulse and respiration, while her condition was said to be "satisfactory" after a comfortable night.

FEDERAL TRANSIENT CAMP UNDER WATER

100 Men Work Through Night on Sandbag Barrier Against Meramec River.

The Federal transient camp on the Meramec River at Highway 66, was flooded at 3 a. m. today when water from a creek, which had backed up from the Meramec, broke down an embankment of sandbags which the 100 men in the camp were building through the night.

Today the water stood eight to 10 feet deep over some parts of the camp site, which is on low ground, formerly the bed of a small lake. The eight buildings of the camp, four bunkhouses, office building, laundry, dining hall and commissary, were under water. A part of the supplies and some of the men's belongings were lost or damaged.

Some of the men took refuge at nearby Sylvan Beach, while arrangements for a new camp were made by the Federal Transient Bureau for the St. Louis area.

The men had ample warning of the flood danger, as it was seen last evening that the camp was in a precarious situation. The camp was protected sufficiently from the Meramec itself, but not from the tributary creek, which rose rapidly after dark.

Marshall road, which runs along the lowlands north of the Meramec from Kirkwood to Valley Park, was under water to a depth of four feet at some points. The road along the river from Valley Park to Fenton was still open, but had a few inches of water at some low spots.

At Valley Park, the stage of the Meramec was 23.2 feet at 9 a. m., a rise of .4 foot in two hours. Flood stage at Valley Park is 32 feet, and the present stage, which is expected to rise to about 25 feet, will not threaten the town. Clubhouses in the lowlands, in most cases, are on stilts which keep them out of the water. At Pacific, the stage of the Meramec was 19.3 feet.

The stage of the Mississippi at St. Louis was 19.7, a rise of .6 foot in 24 hours, and of 11 feet in eight days. The river will rise about .4 foot before 7 a. m. tomorrow, and will fall .5 foot in the subsequent 24 hours. The Illinois and Missouri will rise slightly and the upper Mississippi will fall slightly.

Trains of the Missouri Pacific's Arkansas-Texas lines, delayed by flood conditions near Poplar Bluff, Mo., were late in arriving at Union Station today.

ILLINOIS OFFICIAL HURT IN PLANE CRASH

L. P. Bonfoey, Head of Aeronautics Commission, Was on Way to Washington.

HANCOCK, Md., March 13.—L. P. Bonfoey, chairman of the Illinois Aeronautics Commission, was injured when snow and ice forced his plane down on a Pennsylvania farm a mile north of here yesterday. The extent of his injuries has not yet been learned.

Harry W. Johnson of Chicago, chief inspector of the commission, who was flying with Bonfoey, received a severe scalp injury. George C. Roberts, Bonfoey's pilot, was not hurt. Bonfoey was taken to a hospital at Hagerstown for medical treatment. Johnson said the plane was on the way from Chicago to Washington.

"We were caught in the hills," said Johnson. "The snow and mist got so thick we could not see anything and we had to land. We circled around and the pilot picked out what seemed to be a good landing place, but a little tree rose suddenly in front of the plane. We were coming down pretty hard and the plane turned over when it sideswiped the tree."

Bonfoey's home is in Quincy, Ill. He is an officer of a chemical company.

SEDALIA TRANSIENT CLEARED IN KILLING OF DETROIT GIRL

Comparison of Fingerprints Discloses He Isn't Man Wanted in Michigan.

By the Associated Press.

SEDALIA, Mo., March 13.—Sergt. E. P. Clark of the State highway patrol at Jefferson City yesterday announced fingerprints of a man arrested at a transient camp here did not correspond with those of Merton W. Goodrich wanted at Detroit, Mich., for the killing of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher last Sept. 26. The suspect was released.

Rabbi Newton Friedman, a case worker at the camp, became suspicious when he noted what he thought was a resemblance between the man, who had registered under the name of Goodrich, and the suspect as described in a police poster. Rabbi Friedman communicated with Detroit police and asked that the man be detained.

When questioned, the man denied his name was Goodrich. He submitted to having his fingerprints made and was taken to the Missouri penitentiary at Jefferson City for that purpose. He then was returned here. He had been here since Sunday. He said he came from Cincinnati and had been in various parts of the country.

Iowa was reported leading in signers with 125,000 applications, nearly one-sixth of the total. Missouri reported 70,000, Illinois 65,000.

NEW TAX INDICTMENT AGAINST FRIEND OF LONG

Federal Grand Jury Amends Previous Charges Against Abe L. Shushan of New Orleans.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 13.—The Federal grand jury returned a new indictment yesterday against Abe L. Shushan, president of the Orleans Levee Board, charging attempt to evade income tax payments. Shushan is a close political associate of Senator Huey P. Long.

The indictment charges attempts to evade payments in 1933 and amends a previous indictment charging efforts by Shushan to defeat tax payments in 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1932.

The Government charges that in the five-year period, from 1929 to 1933, Shushan owed $71,153 on a net income of $569,237, but that he paid only $4790, on a reported net income of $121,018.

Representative Joseph Fisher of Jefferson Parish, one of eight persons indicted recently on income tax charges, is scheduled to go on trial in Federal District Court here April 1. Trial dates for the seven other defendants have not been announced.

REPORTS BILL TO MAKE COAL A PUBLIC UTILITY

Senate Sub-Committee Approves Measure With Several Amendments.

WASHINGTON, March 13. — A Senate sub-committee approved yesterday the Guffey bill, which would declare coal production to be a public utility.

The Senators recommended a number of amendments. One would provide allocation of production on the basis of 1934 production.

In addition to giving coal a public utility status the bill would set up a commission to regulate production and fix prices, and provide for purchase of $300,000,000 worth of sub-marginal coal fields as a national reserve.

The report was made public by Senator Neely (Dem.), Nevada, chairman of the sub-committee.

Many Southern coal producers opposed the bill on constitutional grounds and said it would throw the industry into chaos.

The proposal for the allocation of production was the center of attack. Before being amended by the sub-committee, the measure provided that production be allocated to districts and to mines on the basis of a mean between 1919-1934 production and 1934 production.

The sub-committee approved an amendment to increase the size of the National Coal Board, which would administer the industry, from five to nine members, of whom two would represent the producers and two the miners. It also voted to eliminate the initial payment of the tax which the bill would levy for non-compliance.

Other changes approved by the sub-committee included:

A provision for judicial review of all orders of the National Coal Commission.

Authorization for the commission to issue cease and desist orders.

A clause prohibiting any governmental department or agency from purchasing coal not produced by operators adhering to the act.

GREECE TO TRY 300 REBELS BY COURTS-MARTIAL

mission. They were thrown over a precipice. The same insult was hurled by that madman Venizelos."

More Talk of Monarchy.

The capital talked of the possibility of a monarchist restoration. Crowds cheered and thundered "zito"—Grecian exclamation of acclaim—when pictures of the late King Constantine appeared on the streets and were circulated from hand to hand.

Venizelos abandoned all hope for success of the revolution when he learned the entire rebel fleet, with the exception of the cruiser Averoff, had been abandoned by their officers and crews in Sauda Bay and that Crete had been captured by Loyalist forces.

First news of the fleet's surrender was received in Athens in a dramatic wireless message from the Governor of Crete.

"I announce the rebels have abandoned the warships and departed aboard the Averoff," the message said. "I await your orders."

The Government's reply instructed the Governor: "Await orders, maintain connections with us continually. A price will be put on the leaders of the insurgents."

In Shadow of Acropolis.

The street scenes which this news precipitated in the shadow of the stately old Acropolis were reminiscent of a New Year's eve in New York.

The crowds, singing and shouting, paraded through the streets bearing effigies of the white-bearded Venizelos dangling from the scaffolds.

The din swelled with receipt of a communique from Saloniki announcing the surrender of the submarine Katsonis at Kavalla. The craft was the last of the Greek navy to remain in rebel hands.

It is understood the Government will ask Bulgaria for the extradition of Gen. Kamanos and the other rebels who fled across the frontier, since the $600,000 they were reported to have taken from the Bank of Seres was said to have been seized by the Bulgarian Government with the intention of returning the funds to Greece.

Round-Up of Suspects.

The Government continued to round up officials suspected of complicity in the revolutionary conspiracy, taking into custody Stylianos Gonatas, president of the Senate and premier of the revolutionary government in 1922.

The Government ordered the luxurious homes of Venizelos and Deputy Pistolakis confiscated.

Official quarters forecast that the Government would act shortly to suspend the constitutional protection afforded state employes in preparation for a cleansing of the bureaucracy, dissolve all Venizelist organizations and proclaim elections for the national assembly looking toward modification of the Constitution to allow suppression of the Senate and strengthening of the executive power.

Martial Law Continues.

Although martial law will be maintained until the courts-martial have been completed, most of the emergency restrictions enforced during the revolutionary period will be lifted today. They include the curfew regulations and controls imposed upon shipping.

Venizelist newspapers, however, are still under suspension. Incoming and outgoing cables and telegrams are subject to censorship.

The Bourse and University will resume their activities tomorrow, and airports will be thrown open to traffic.

Hall, who now lives in Richmond, Va., was ordered to pay interest on the money to be rebated at 6 per cent from October, 1924, so that the total repayment would be $72,800.

WOMAN 'KISSING ROBBER' SENTENCED AT WICHITA, KAN.

Given 5 Years for Harboring Bremer Kidnaping Suspect, but Penalty Is Suspended.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., March 13.—Edna Murray, the "kissing robber," and Harry C. Stanley, captured in a pistol fight with officers at Pittsburgh, Kan., several weeks ago, pleaded guilty in Federal District Court here yesterday of charges of harboring a criminal.

Judge Richard J. Hopkins sentenced the woman to five years' imprisonment and then suspended the sentence. Stanley was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $1000. The charge against the pair was for harboring Jess Doyle, also captured in the Pittsburg fight and wanted by St. Paul authorities for questioning in the kidnaping case of Edward Bremer.

The woman, authorities said, kissed her holdup victims.

DISAGREEMENT IN LABOR BOARD

Secretary Perkins and Chairman Biddle Before Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 13. — Before the Senate Labor Committee yesterday, Secretary of Labor Perkins and Chairman Biddle of the Labor Relations Board disagreed over the setup of the permanent Labor Relations Board, which would be established by the Wagner bill that the committee is considering.

Miss Perkins said she wanted to keep the board in the Labor Department to avoid "complication, confusion and duplication" of the department's and the board's activities. Biddle indorsed the provision in the bill which provided that the board be established as an independent agency. The stand on the Wagner bill by Biddle has the support of the measure's author, Senator Wagner, and the American Federation of Labor.

DEBTORS' PETITION BY CEMENT FIRM

Glencoe Company Failed to Get Relief From Damage Suits by State Receivership.

Unsuccessful in its effort to obtain relief from personal injury damage suits for alleged dust diseases through a State court receivership, the Glencoe Lime and Cement Co. filed a debtor's petition in Federal Court yesterday for reorganization under the amended bankruptcy law.

Hearing of the petition was set today for April 5 by Federal Judge Davis, who directed counsel for the company to prepare a list of officers and their salaries, ordering continuation of the present management meanwhile. When the Court inquired why the company had not put up a $45,000 appeal bond on a $22,500 personal injury damage judgment, counsel for the company said it had been unable to meet the requirements of surety companies.

The company went into receivership in Circuit Court a month ago after former employes filed suits seeking a total of $155,000 and threatened execution on a $22,500 judgment for Cosmer Alexander, a former employe, but a few days later Circuit Judge O'Malley set aside the receivership on motion of Alexander and his attorney, Russell J. Horsefield. Judge O'Malley held the petition did not contain grounds for the appointment of a receiver.

Although the company is solvent and is paying ordinary creditors, the debtor's petition said, the law suits have hurt its business and its credit. The petition, signed by Gus H. F. Johannes, president, set forth that the company had been unable to furnish the necessary $45,000 appeal bond which would stay execution of Alexander's judgment. It had been stated in the State court receivership that the company was unable to meet requirements of surety companies for posting of cash and Government bonds to cover maximum liability under the bond, because its assets were tied up in plants, merchandise and accounts receivable.

The company's balance sheet showed assets with a book value of $1,452,373 against liabilities of $388,679, according to the debtor's petition. The petition was filed by Arthur J. Freund and Wilbur B. Jones, attorneys.

SKULL EXHIBITED AT TRIAL FOR GRACE BUDD'S MURDER

Said to Be That of 10-Year-Old Girl Who Was Killed in New York State.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 13.—A skull taken from a mat of dead leaves on the grounds of an abandoned East Irvington (N. Y.) cottage was placed in evidence today as that of 10-year-old Grace Budd by the prosecution in the murder trial of Albert Howard Fish, 65.

The moment the skull was taken from a cardboard box by Assistant District Attorney Elbert T. Gallagher, Defense Counsel James E. Dempsey Jr. was on his feet demanding a mistrial, which was denied by Supreme Court Justice Frederick Close.

The skull was produced by the Assistant District Attorney during the questioning of Detective William King, who arresterd Fish. King testified Fish led him and other officers to the cottage, "Old Wisteria," where he helped them dig up the child's bones.

PAIR WED 21 YEARS, PARTED 22, REMARRY

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Nickolaus Both Had Other Mates in Interim.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Nickolaus Sr., who separated 22 years ago, after 21 years of married life, have been remarried, it was learned today.

During the separation, and after their divorce five years later, both were remarried to other mates, later divorcing them. The reunited pair will celebrate the forty-third anniversary of their first wedding next May 5.

The remarriage took place last Feb. 24, after a courtship which began four weeks earlier, when Mrs. Nickolaus consented to attend a celebration of her former husband's sixty-ninth birthday at his home, 4453 Beck avenue. They had not seen one another for 14 years, though their children, John P. Jr., Andrew and Helen, had been in touch with their father.

They were married at Mrs. Nickolaus' home, 6828 Fyler avenue, where they are now residing. Andrew, who is 34 years old, and Helen, 28, also live there. John P. Jr., 39, lives with his wife at the Beck avenue place. Nickolaus, a retired grocer, obtained a divorce from his second wife Feb. 6, 10 days after he saw the first Mrs. Nickolaus again.

FORMER OFFICER OF BUS FIRM SURRENDERS ON INDICTMENT

Floyd E. Dunn Charged With Embezzling $654 From Great Eastern Stages in City.

Floyd E. Dunn, 5650 Pershing avenue, surrendered at the Sheriff's office in the Municipal Courts Building today on an indictment voted by the grand jury last Thursday charging him with embezzling $654 from Great Eastern Stages, Inc., a bus system of which he was divisional superintendent here for three years. He gave $1500 bond in Circuit Judge Connor's court.

Assistant Circuit Attorney McLaughlin said that Dunn was discharged last Dec. 8, following an audit of the books of the bus company office at Broadway and Washington avenue.

The audit showed, McLaughlin said, that since July 1, 1933, Dunn had been receiving a 15 per cent commission on sales of tickets for connecting bus lines, but had turned over only 10 per cent to the company, although he was supposed to turn over the entire amount.

DRIVER ACQUITTED IN DEATH OF MAN IN AUTO COLLISION

Joseph Deranja, Whose Passenger, Thomas Piskulic, Was Victim, Freed by Jury.

Joseph Deranja, 2637 Rutger street, was acquitted of manslaughter in the sealed verdict of a jury opened today in Circuit Judge Williams court.

The case arose out of the death of Thomas Piskulic, 2651 Allen avenue, a passenger in Deranja's automobile when it collided last Nov. 25 at Grand boulevard and Market street with one driven by Dr. Joseph Gitt, a physician, of 5938 Pershing avenue.

Dr. Gitt, also indicted on a manslaughter charge, has not been tried.

GETS 15 YEARS FOR ROBBERY

Royman Baker, Ex-Convict, Pleads Guilty of Holdups.

Royman Baker, Negro former convict, was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary today by Circuit Judge Connor when he pleaded guilty of robbery.

Baker, who is 26 years old, held up Percy Pierce, employe of Goodwill Industries, last Sept. 7 and robbed him of $20. Five days later he held up Carl Anderson in a newsdealer's office at 816 North Jefferson avenue and robbed him of $39.

MAN FATALLY BEATEN IN ROOMING HOUSE

Two Persons Questioned About Death of Watchman—$40 Pay Missing.

Two persons are held for questioning by St. Clair County authorities about the death yesterday of Frank Finnell, 57-year-old railroad crossing watchman, who had been beaten in his room at 2508 North Forty-first street, Fairmont City.

Finnell's skull was fractured, his nose was broken, and there were lacerations on his head and face. His hands were bruised as if he had held them over his face to protect himself from the blows.

In a search of the premises today police found a metal-tipped police club hidden under clothing in a dresser drawer. Police Chief Artinger of Fairmont City said it apparently had been washed to remove blood stains. One of Finnell's front teeth was stuck in a leather wrapping on the club.

The watchman had received $40 pay from the Pennsylvania Railroad Saturday night, had worked Sunday and Monday. Yesterday was his day off. No money was found in his room.

Mrs. Edna Williams, proprietor of the rooming house, told police she went to his room at 10 a. m. yesterday and told him to get up. Two hours later, not having seen him, she went into his room and found him in semi-conscious condition. She said he mumbled he had been robbed and said if he got well he would tell who beat him. She called a physician and on his advice informed police. Finnell died four hours later at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, without being able to make a statement.

COMMITTEE AGAIN APPROVES ARMS SUPERVISION TREATY

Senators Eliminate Persian Clause That Resulted in Recall When Misconstrued.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today for the second time the 1925 Geneva treaty for the supervision of the international traffic in arms and munitions.

Chairman Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, said President Roosevelt "considers ratification of this treaty will be a far step in the right direction and to a great extent eliminate gun running and the efforts of irresponsible salesmen to use improper means to induce the purchase of arms."

The committee eliminated the reservation of Senator King (Dem.), Utah, declaring ratification shall not be construed as denying any right of sovereignty Persia might have in the Persian Gulf, a condition which caused the treaty's recall recently because of a misinterpretation.

Another reservation attached when the Senate approved the pact last session—providing that other principal arms producing nations which have signed it must first ratify it before this country adheres—was retained.

WILLIAM C. CONNETT TO RUN FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

Banker and Democrat Is Fourth Candidate Brought Out by Citizens' Committee.

William C. Connett, 4422 Lindell boulevard, a vice-president of the First National Bank, has become a candidate for the Board of Education at the solicitation of the Citizens' School Board Committee. Connett, a Democrat, was the fourth candidate brought out by the committee. The others were: Mrs. Henry S. Caulfield and Albert J. Davis, Republicans, and Frank B. Coleman, Democrat.

Two Republicans and two Democrats are to be elected to the board April 2. The citizens' committee has not made formal indorsements of candidates. It has started circulation of nominating petitions for the four it has sponsored, however.

Connett, who was secretary to Mayor Wells, was Democratic nominee for Mayor in 1917.

PACIFIC AIR LINE OBTAINS PERMIT FOR ISLAND HANGARS

Navy Authorizes Construction at Three Points on Proposed Passenger Route.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Secretary of the Navy Swanson today issued permits to Pan-American Airways for construction of landing facilities on three islands for its proposed Pacific passenger line. The islands are Guam, Midway and Wake Islands.

Swanson said the permits authorized Pan-American to construct hangars, radio beacons and everything "in an airport."

No other company can use Pan-American's facilities but the navy reserved the right to issue permits to other applicants. The navy reserved the right to revoke the permit and take over facilities "in an emergency."

Swanson disclosed that another group had begun informal discussions looking to issuance of permits for another line, but declined to name it. Pan-American's supply ship now is on the west coast ready to leave for preliminary construction work on the islands.

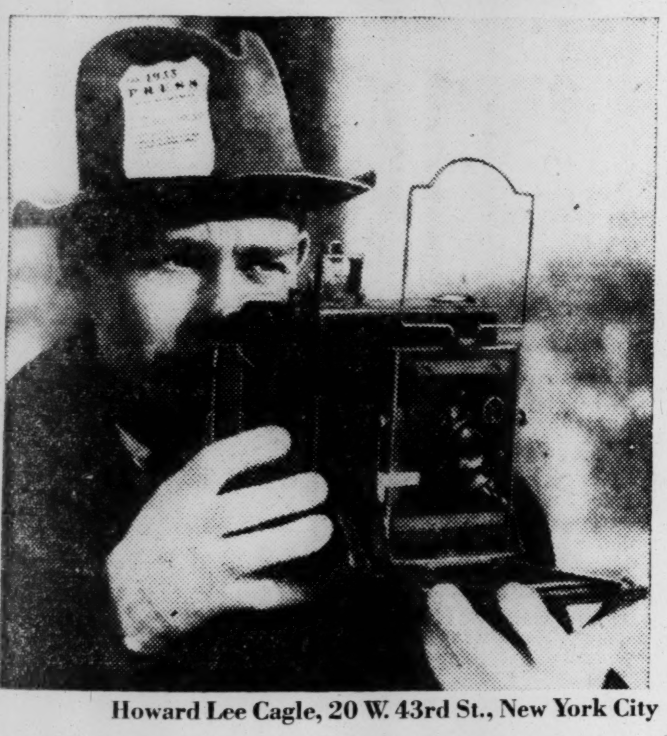
REAL INTERVIEWS WITH REAL FOLKS as told to Madam X, EX-LAX Reporter

Constipated?
Read what this ace cameraman says about Ex-Lax



Howard Lee Cagle, 20 W. 43rd St., New York City

A CRACK news cameraman talking. Hanging over the top of the Empire State Building for a "shot" one minute . . . scrambling up the side of an ocean liner to snap an incoming celebrity the next. A fast-moving, hard-hitting gentleman, always ready for action. Can't be weighed down by constipation. Got to be trigger-quick...always. So, read what Cameraman Howard Lee Cagle told the Ex-Lax reporter.

"The uncertainty of the hours of a news cameraman makes it necessary for me to use a laxative occasionally. I must always be ready for an assignment, so I have to keep in trim.

"A couple of years ago I learned about Ex-Lax from a lad working with me on an assignment. I got a box at the corner drug store that night. That first trial sold me on Ex-Lax as THE only laxative.

"I've found I could get Ex-Lax on the West coast, in the Mid-West and the South, so I never have to be without it, no matter what part of the country I'm in."

"The first trial sold me on Ex-Lax as THE only laxative," says Cameraman Cagle! And how many millions of people have had that same experience! They seem to change from this laxative and that—and then they discover Ex-Lax. Then their changing days are over. They have found the perfect laxative at last.

Why Ex-Lax?

Ex-Lax is as safely thorough as any laxative you can take...yet, it is gentle. You get such painless, pleasant, easy relief. Ex-Lax won't give you stomach pains. It won't gripe. It won't leave you feeling weak afterwards, or cause you any embarrassing moments. And Ex-Lax is such a treat to take. It tastes just like velvety, delicious chocolate. Ex-Lax has no unpleasant after-taste and no bad after-effects.

And, That "Certain Something"

So many imitators have tried to produce a chocolated laxative that would equal Ex-Lax. But they couldn't. Why? Because Ex-Lax is more than just a chocolated laxative. Because the exclusive Ex-Lax process gives Ex-Lax a "certain something"—a certain ideal action that words just can't explain and that NO OTHER LAXATIVE HAS. But once you try Ex-Lax, you'll know what we mean, and nothing else will ever do for YOU.

Ex-Lax comes in 10c and 25c boxes . . . at any drug store. Look for the exact spelling, E-X-L-A-X ...and don't experiment with substitutes.

COLD WAVE HERE . . . and we mean colds. Sneezing, sniffling, coughing, misery-creating colds. Guard against them this way: Get enough sleep, eat sensibly, dress warmly, keep out of drafts, keep your feet dry, and KEEP REGULAR . . . with Ex-Lax, the delicious chocolated laxative.

When Nature forgets—remember

THE CHOCOLATED LAXATIVE

MAFFITT BATES GIVES VIEWS ON CITY QUESTIONS

Republican Nominee for President of Aldermen Favors Unified Transportation System.

All public transportation, including service cars and taxicabs as well as busses and trolleys, should be operated by a single company under supervision of a local commission, William Maffitt Bates, Republican nominee for president of the Board of Aldermen, told the Post-Dispatch today in discussing his stand on public questions.

This, he said, would be the best means of accomplishing rapid transit. He argued against supervision by the State Public Service Commission, as now required by law. The transportation company should not be given a franchise for a term of years, but should operate under a contract with the city, which would be effective as long as the company complied with the terms, Bates asserted. He did not go into details of the possible nature of such a contract.

The Public Service Co., operating the trolleys and busses, is under former Mayor Kiel, a trustee appointed by Federal Court.

On Smoke Abatement.

Urging smoke abatement, Bates deplored the fact that the Laclede Gas Light Co. was controlled by an out-of-town holding company and "maintains the price of gas at such a high point that its use as a fuel is denied the average citizen." He added: "I believe that, if necessary, drastic measures should be used to remedy this condition." Asked what sort of measures he had in mind, he said he did not care to elaborate on the statement.

However, Bates, called attention to the fact that a large part of the St. Louis trade territory, in southern Illinois, was engaged in coal mining. He continued: "If we destroy the market, we destroy one of our best customers. Illinois soft coal, if properly used, can be burned so as to cause little or no smoke."

Central steam plants might be built in certain congested districts to supply heat for consumers, Bates suggested. If it was not practicable to build them by private contract, he thought the city might undertake the construction as a relief activity and then operate the stations itself. Another item of public works he recommended as a relief job was a street car tunnel downtown between, say, Twelfth boulevard and Third street.

He believes it is a function of the Government to provide employment for all those needing it and unable to obtain it privately, but at a lower wage than industry would offer. The city should always have public works under way to furnish this type of employment, the nominee added.

Other Things He Urges.

Other things Bates advocated included: Rehabilitation of the blighted districts, making them desirable for residential purposes, by establishment of small parks and playgrounds; improvement of the central river front; support for the principles of zoning, with more rigid requirements for changing of zones; elimination of special benefit taxes for improvements of city-wide benefit and of the practice of increasing property assessments because of supposed increment of value from street improvements charged to the property; restoration of full street illumination to prevent traffic accidents and fatalities; elimination of "fixing" of Police Court summonses in serious traffic offenses; creation of outer parks and extension and improvement of the park and playground system.

"I do not unrestrainedly condemn all the acts of the Democratic city administration in the last two years," said Bates, "because I don't believe all of its acts deserve condemnation, but failures of the administration outnumber and outweigh its achievements. I don - lieve the administration has practiced proper economy. I am opposed to increasing taxes and pledge myself to a greater degree of economy. Grants from the Federal Government must eventually be paid for by St. Louisans, and, in fact, the people here will eventually be compelled to pay a far greater sum in taxes to the Federal and State governments than they will ever receive from either."

Mason Delays Statement.

William L. Mason, Democratic nominee for aldermanic president, did not wish to discuss his views prior to adoption of a platform by all the aldermanic candidates of his party. A committee of the candidates, of which he is chairman, met yesterday to discuss the platform. Other members are L. E. Couplin, Charles O'Connor and Walter W. Ziegenbalg. The candidates will meet at 4 p. m., tomorrow, at campaign headquarters in the Majestic Hotel. The Republican candidates will have a similar platform meeting at the Republican City Committee office tonight.

It was learned that the Democrats would base their campaign declaration on the record of Mayor Dickmann's administration and would express their ideas on smoke abatement, transportation, taxation, river front improvement and other subjects.

24 HURT BY BOMBS AS TROOPS INVOKE HAVANA CURFEW

Explosions Greet 9 P. M. Edict, but Later Are Stopped by Soldiers and Police.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

HAVANA, March 13.—Enforcement of a drastic curfew law after an outbreak of violence in which 24 were injured has restored a degree of calm to Havana's citizens.

Normal activities were gradually being resumed and the Government expressed confidence today would see the final collapse of the strike movement against President Carlos Mendieta's administration. The railroads and mail service were expected to be in operation again by nightfall.

Police and soldiers arrested and jailed Treasury Department employes today. Under threats of arrest, many Government employes who had been on strike, returned to work and street car and bus traffic increased. Government officials said they believed the strike was broken.

Col. Jose Pedraza, military governor of Havana Province, invoked the 9 p. m. curfew law yesterday to check the tide of terrorism. Announcement of the edict was followed by shootings and bombings. Then followed hours of silence during which not more than 100 of the city's 600,000 residents appeared on the streets.

The early evening terrorism started with the explosion of a bomb in a telephone manhole. The explosion injured a policeman. Another explosion in a street car injured one of the two army operators. Twenty-two other persons were wounded by explosions in various sections of the city.

The body of an unidentified man, with eight bullet wounds was found in the suburbs. This sent the three days' death total from violence attending the anti-Government agitation to 13.

Soldiers and police sped about the city with sub-machine guns, rifles and pistols as they strove to make the curfew order effective. A group of youths standing in front of the Associated Press office was compelled to withdraw from the street by a squad of policemen armed with pistols and whips.

Streets were deserted except for soldiers, sailors and police. Houses were shuttered and only a few were lighted. Not a street car nor a bus was to be seen throughout the city. The cafes were closed and deserted, the theaters dark. Nowhere was there the faintest reminder of Havana's usual night-time gaiety.

At dawn hundreds of striking workers returned to their jobs, among them numerous Government employes who had been threatened with imprisonment if convicted of joining the strike. Commercial enterprises resumed operations, although with curtailed staffs.

SIR JOHN SIMON SETS NEW DATE FOR TRIP TO BERLIN

Hitler Agrees to Conference With Briton on March 25 and 26.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 13. — Official quarters said today that Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, and Capt. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, will leave for Berlin by aifplane March 24, to hold their postponed conversations with Reichsfuehrer Hitler. They will talk to Hitler March 25 and 26. It was understood that Hitler himself had agreed to those dates for the important Anglo-German talks concerning European security resulting from the recent Anglo-French agreements.

Ministers of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia called at the Foreign Office this afternoon to assure Sir John that those three republics were in full accord with the Anglo-French proposals for the safeguarding of the peace of Europe.

THREE COUNTY JUDGES FAVOR BILL PROVIDING FOR BUDGET

Presiding Judge Thomas H. Thatcher of the St. Louis County Court said yesterday that he and the other two members of the court were in favor of the county budget bill pending in the Legislature and had asked State Senator Shotwell of Ballwin to approve the measure.

Under the bill the County Court would be enabled to obtain issuance of revenue bonds bearing 3 or 3½ per cent interest, Judge Thatcher pointed out, and so do away with the present system of issuing tax anticipation warrants, bearing 5 per cent interest. He said the change would result in a substantial saving to the county. The other two members of the County Court are Eugene G. Tighe and Emil Wohlschlager.

The bill would place County Courts in financial control of counties having a population of more than 50,000, authorizing the presiding judge as budget officer to estimate the budget and fix the number and salaries of employes, except elective officers, in each department.

The County Court could, under the proposed law, present a statement of the county's indebtedness to the Circuit Court and apply for authority to issue bonds for payment of debts. The bonds would be limited to 75 per cent of anticipated revenue for any one year and would be retired over a period of 10 years.

TWO TAXI FIRMS ATTACK LEGALITY OF CITY ORDINANCE

Posting of Surety Bonds and Insurance Provision Called Unreasonable in Petition.

A suit to enjoin the city from enforcing an ordinance providing for the licensing and regulation of taxicabs was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by the Black and White Cabs ond hte Terminal Taxicab Co. of St. Louis.

The ordinance requires taxicab owners to post surety bonds or take insurance as protection for persons who might be injured as a result of negligence on the part of taxi drivers. It was passed Dec. 6 as an amendment to a similar ordinance adopted in June, 1933.

According to the petition the terms are unreasonable and arbitrary and premiums required for the insurance are so excessive they cannot be met under present conditions by plaintiffs, nor can bonds be arranged. Enforcement of the measure would deprive the owners of the use of their cabs, or, on the other hand, result in an increase of taxi fares, to the detriment of the public, it was alleged.

The suit was refrerred to Judge Baron, who directed counsel to file briefs in the matter. E. H. Wayman, Associate City Counselor, is handling the case for the city. The law firm of Mohr & Butler represents petitioners.

RFC EXERCISING LENDER'S POWER OVER UTILITIES

If Subsidiaries of Harley Clarke Fail to Pay Loan, Control of Their Boards Too, Will Be Taken Over

SIGNIFICANT STEP IN ST. LOUIS' MOVE

Purchase of Laclede Gas Co. by City Would Then Be Through Government Agency.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Harley L. Clarke, president of Utilities Power & Light Corporation, said today the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Government's huge lending agency, had assured him it had no intention of taking charge of Utilities Power & Light and its subsidiary operating companies, including Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis.

He made the statement in discussing with the correspondent the possible effect of the RFC's action in taking control of the board of directors of Public Securities Corporation, super-holding company at the top of the Utilities Power & Light system. Clarke admitted, however, that the RFC was in position to exercise control.

As was told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, the RFC dictated the election of a majority of directors of Public Utilities Securities Corporation by virtue of holding the common stock of that company as part of the collateral for the $90,000,000 loan that it made in 1932 to the Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago. Clarke was left off the board.

Clarke, who has just returned from England, asserted the RFC action will not affect Laclede Gas Light Co., or other operating subsidiaries.

Lively Interest Over "Pusco."

The fate of "Pusco," the bankers' name for Public Utilities Securities Corporation, is plainly a matter of lively interest in Chicago's LaSalle street financial district. This superholding company is described as a financing company and it controls, through stock ownership, the Utilities Power & Light Corporation, which in turn owns a majority of the stock of Laclede Gas Light Co.

In taking control of "Pusco," the Government's lending corporation is merely exercising the traditional power of the lender over the borrower, a power widely exercised by banks. In explaining the situation, RFC representatives said it was routine for the protection of the loan.

The original Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. loan has been reduced to approximately $57,791,000. After the loan was made the name of the bank was changed to Central Republic Trust Co., and last November the Illinois State Department of Finance appointed a receiver to take charge of the bank and liquidate it.

John L. Hopkins, an RFC attorney, and one of the new directors of "Pusco," said in a statement to the Associated Press that unless the remainder of the loan due the Government is repaid, the RFC presumably would place its representatives on boards of the subsidiary corporations controlled by "Pusco."

Utility Meeting April 24.

"The RFC holds voting control of the parent company," Hopkins said, "through stock put up as collateral by the Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago for a $90,000,000 loan, and the RFC directors were placed on the board to protect that loan. The annual meeting of the Utilities Power & Light Corporation wil be held April 24 at Richmond, Va. I presume that if the loan is still unpaid at that time the RFC will place its representatives on the board of that company."

Of Interest to City.

These developments are of particular interest to the Board of Aldermen and city officials of St. Louis who have been trying to get natural gas at low rates.

In connection with the rate matter, Mayor Dickmann and City Counselor Hay have publicly discussed the possibility of municipal ownership of the gas distributing system, and the City Counselor has rendered an opinion that the city could acquire the Laclede company by condemnation.

In view of this, RFC officials were asked through what avenue the city might approach the RFC in the event that the Government corporation should take over control of the gas company. They said that in a matter of that magnitude the approach would have to be through the RFC headquarters at Washington.

Illinois Senate Against Relief Change.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 13.—The State Senate refused yesterday to advance a bill to abolish the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. The vote was 19 to 11 against sending to third reading the bill by Senator Simon E. Lantz (Rep.), which would turn over relief administration to the State Public Welfare Department.

$50,000 TO BE PAID ON DISPUTED ROAD CLAIM

Highway Commission Reverses Self Over $88,446 Bill of Contractor.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 13.—The State Highway Commission yesterday agreed to pay the Boyle & Pryor Construction Co. of Kansas City $50,055 on its claim for a balance of $88,446 on two highway construction projects in Southwestern Missouri, which the commission previously had denied in 1933 after an investigation of alleged irregularities in the award of the contract and alleged excessive contracts.

The company presented a demand for $88,446 as the balance on the construction projects, in Barry and McDonald counties, and for $10,613 in interest from July 1, 1933. The commission refused to allow any interest but held the company was entitled to $50,055 of the principal claim.

A request by the company, previously submitted to the commission, for appointment of a board of arbitrators to pass on the claim, was denied by the commission. The company proposed that the commission pick one arbitrator, the company one, and that these select a third.

Representatives of the company indicated it would accept the payment offered by the commission.

Commission Reverses Self.

In approving part of the claim, the commission directly reversed a former rejection of it in September, 1933, when the commission, as then constituted, voted to make no payment, and announced the action was final.

Since that time half of the personnel of the commission has changed. The investigation of the contract was made in 1933 on the demand of William Phares, Republican, of Maryville, and R. S. Brownlee, Democrat, of Brookfield. Since the commission first rejected the claim in September, 1933, after its inquiry, Phares has resigned and Brownlee was not reappointed by Gov. Park when his term expired in December, 1933.

Gov. Park appointed H. B. Pyle, Republican, of St. Joseph, to succeed Phares, and appointed Dulaney Mahan, Democrat, of Hannibal to succeed Brownlee. The other two members are Chairman Scott Wilson, Democrat, of St. Louis, and A. T. Nelson, Republican, of Lebanon.

Chairman Wilson said the board voted unanimously to make the offer of $50,055 in settlement of the claim, after a careful inquiry into facts submitted by the company. He said the decision was based on reports received from neutral engineers engaged by the commission to check the two contracts, the mtaerials and the work done and based on information received from other reliable sources.

No Advertising for Bids.

The claim involved resurfacing work done on United States Highway No. 17 in McDonald County, and on Highway No. 37 in Barry County. Contracts for the two projects were let to the company without advertisng for bids, contrary to requirements of the law.

Subsequently the legal division of the Highway Department refused to approve the contracts and ruled they were illegal. Work was started, however, under an order by Chief Highway Engineer T. H. Cutler. Later the construction division of the Highway Department refused to approve payment for the work because the legal division had held the contracts were illegal. Chief Cutler, with the sanction of the commission, ordered payment of 75 per cent of the original contract price of $269,871 for the two projects.

The company's claim for the remaining 25 per cent was increased to $88,446 by claims for extra work said to have been done through additions by the department to the contract requirements.

Soviet Holds Crown Jewels Valued at $70,000,000

Royal Headdress, Scepter and Ball Are Last of Romanoff Collection Remaining in Russia.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 13.—When London jewelers bought 2000 jeweled pieces from the Soviet recently—diamond-encrusted Easter eggs, gold ikons and other glittering relics——it was said that at last the treasures of the Czars had all been disposed of. But the prize of the collection—the crown itself, the scepter and ball—remain in Soviet hands. They are, as Dr. Armand Hammer of the Hammer Galleries said today, quite unmarketable. They are too costly.

These jewels, Dr. Hammer said, serve as a ready security for the Soviet. They are worth at least $70,000,000.

A great many of the Romanoff jewels are in the United States. Private collections hold some, smart jewelry shops have others. While some remained cherished possessions of impoverished white Russian emigres.

Two Galleries in New York.

New York has two galleries stocked exclusively with the sacred and frivolous jewels of the unhappy royal family deposed and killed by the Bolsheviks. Both are headed by Dr. Hammer, whose firm also has a third exhibit in Florida.

Dr. Hammer was present in Moscow in 1922 when the Soviet put the jewels on sale. Farberge, court jeweler to the Czar, was summoned from Paris to inventory the collection.

He was the absolute authority, and his invoice governs the genuineness of Russia's crown jewels. Since his death the Soviet Government's word must be accepted as final.

Dr. Hammer purchased heavily of the treasures. Of the 30 jewel-covered platinum and gold Easter eggs in the invoice, he bought 10, of which he still has eight.

10 to Queen of England.

Another 10 went to the Queen of England, who subsequently has made many other purchases. The eggs, of exquisite workmanship often requiring six years, were the work of Farberge, who also was occasional jeweler to King Edward VII.

"For that reason," said Dr. Hammer, "England is a good market for the Russian crown jewels. However, I don't think the jewels of the recent sale there were important. They were probably collected from museums of various cities, unavailable when Farberge made his inventory.

"It might be, however, that the remaining 10 Easter eggs were in the group. I have never been able to account for them."

One of Dr. Hammer's acquisitions was the spinach jade Easter egg, the Czar's present to his mother in 1899, of platinum and gold and covered with 500 diamonds. It encloses a jewel-inlaid easel bearing a medallion with 11 miniatures of members of the royal family. Its workmanship alone cost $50,000, he said.

Crown Worth $50,000,000

The crown, valued at $50,000,000, contains 3000 carats of diamonds and the world's largest ruby. Designed for Catherine the Great, it is not a "practical" crown, Dr. Hammer said. Only Paul, the mad Czar, could support its weight, the others being content to let two strong men hold it above their heads.

The ball, six inches in diameter, is covered with diamonds and sapphires. It, like the scepter, is valued at $10,000,000. The scepter, 59 centimeters of massive gold. is notable in that it contains the Orloff diamond, Count Orloff's birthday present to Catherine the Great that won him reinstatement.

Dr. Hammer thinks the Russian jewels, though limited in supply, will long be a strong commodity. Apart from their historical significance, they have a definite intrinsic worth, he said.

Since the days of Ivan the Terrible, he explained, the imperial court was served with the world's most expert goldsmiths and jewelers.

'GREAT IMPROVEMENT' NOTED IN AUTO LABOR RELATIONS

"Real Progress Is Near," Says Michigan U. Professor Making Survey.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, March 13.—Prof. Z. Clark Dickinson, University of Michigan labor economist, said yesterday there had been "great improvement" in industrial relations in the automobile field under the Automobile Labor Board.

Prof. Dickinson is conducting a survey here for the board. For more than a month he has been studying complaints of automobile workers.

"The companies seem to be doing their part and real progress is near," said Prof. Dickinson in discussing his findings. He said, further, that "it seems certain that higher managements will have less opportunity than they previously had to combat legitimate labor organization."

MAN WITH STRANGE AILMENT LOSES 4 INCHES IN HEIGHT

California Patient's Head Becoming Larger; Physician Seeks Cause in Tests.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—Dr. Frank G. Nolan of Hollywood has begun a study of the case of George Bocklet, 49-year-old commercial artist, whose body is shrinking and whose head is enlarging. Bocklet, who was brought to a sanitarium here from his home at Azusa, Cal., has lost four inches in height and his hat size had increased from 6⅞ to 8¼ in the last year.

Dr. Nolan will make metabolism tests today and tomorrow he will inoculate guinea pigs and rabbits with samples of Bocklet's blood. He hopes to learn from these tests the reason for the patient's condition, which physicians say may cause death within two years.

Dr. Nolan said Bocklet might be the victim of oesteomalachia, or "melting of the bones"; osteitis deformans, enlargment of the bones, in this case the bones of the head; of both diseases, or of pituitiary gland disease.

MOSCOW'S NEW SUBWAY BUILT BY MASS EFFORT

Nearly Million Helped With Ditches and Tunnels—First Line to Be Opened This Month.

'SIGHTSEEING' TRIPS ALREADY STARTED

Seven of 50-Mile System Completed — Escalators Serve Stations Which Vary in Style.

(Copyright, 1935.)

MOSCOW, March 13.—The first line of the new Moscow subway system which will be open for traffic late this month has become the Soviet capital's principal "sightseeing" attraction for both Muscovite and provincial delegates to the Moscow conventions. Though the foreign correspondents are still denied an opportunity to view the only underground transit line east of Berlin and west of Tokio, more than 20,000 Soviet officials, factory workers and collective farmers have been permitted free rides on the subway and a chance to see the marble walls of the stations.

In the building of the line by mass effort, something in the manner of the erection of the thirteenth century cathedrals of France, nearly a million of Moscow's 3,500,000 population turned out at one time or another to labor in the ditches and tunnels.

On their free days men and women alike come from factory and office in organized groups. Their work was far from efficient, but they did move dirt with pick and shovel and they caught the spirit epitomized in the phrase, "This is our subway."

Work by Volunteers.

Besides these unpaid workers there was a staff of nearly 70,000 full-time workers, a large portion of them volunteers from the Young Communist League. Under the leadership of Lazarus M. Kaganovich, then chief of the Moscow Communist party organization and now Commissar of Rail Transport, the work was pushed forward as if it were a question of building emergency fortifications to defend the city. Streets were torn up, buildings were demolished, and at intervals along the route conspicuous shaftheads were erected.

Work was more difficult than elsewhere, since the Moscow soil proved treacherous. Buildings along the route cracked and there were occasional accidents, but the work went forward steadily. The main line and one short spur, which will soon be opened, are together just over seven miles in length. There are 13 stations, four of which will be served by escalators.

In contrast with the arrangement of most subways, the entrances to the Moscow line are isolated structures situated conspicuously at convenient street intersections or squares. These surface stations vary in style. Several are attractive and harmonize well with the surroundings while others suffer from immature efforts at originality on the part of the young architects.

Fifty Miles of Track by 1940.

The plans call for the completion by 1940 of a subway network totaling 50 miles of trackage. Though the line shortly to be put in operation will run only local trains—it is a double-track tunnel—the completed network will include tracks for express trains.

The subway is an integral part of a comprehensive plan for the reconstruction of Moscow. Already, through the demolition of old structures, the widening of streets, the construction of new buildings, the appearance of the center of the city has been radically changed. The Moscow Volga Canal, which is now under construction, will raise the level of the Moscow River, which runs through the city, nearly 10 feet and will open up this waterway for navigation. The city plans call for a complete reconstruction of the river's embankments.

LACLEDE GAS DISPUTES LABOR BOARD'S POWER

Not Bound by NRA, Company Contends at Hearing on Collective Bargaining Order.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—In opposing the efforts of the National Labor Relations Board to enforce collective bargaining with a union of mechanical department employes, attorneys for the Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis announced at a hearing here yesterday that the company had surrendered its Blue Eagle some time ago and does not consider itself bound by the President's re-employment agreement.

The company was summoned before the board to show cause why an order of the St. Louis Regional Labor Board should not be made final. The regional board, following a hearing last December, in which the Laclede company refused to participate, found that the company had discharged a worker because of union activity in violation of Section 7A of the NIRA, had fostered a company union and had refused to bargain with the employes' union. The regional board recommended reinstatement of the discharged employe, dissolution of the company union and recognition of Gas House Workers' Union No. 18,799.

Charles A. Wood, counsel for the National Labor Relations Board, stated that the company had signed the President's re-employment agreement and used the Blue Eagle as a symbol of compliance. In answer to this Fred M. Switzer Jr., appearing for Laclede, said the company had surrendered its Blue Eagle and that inasmuch as no formal notice of the extension of President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement had ever been received the latter was not regarded as binding.

For the most part Switzer did not challenge the facts of the dispute as presented by Munro Roberts, union attorney. Switzer contended that the distribution of gas within a community was not interstate commerce and therefore the National Labor Relations Board had no jurisdiction in the dispute. Because the question of jurisdiction is a constitutional one, the board is expected shortly to rule on the dispute on the basis of the facts presented.

BOARD NAMED TO ADVISE NAVY ON DIRIGIBLE POLICY IN FUTURE

Eight Scientists and Engineers Selected to Study Lighter-Than-Air Craft.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The future of lighter-than-air craft for both military and civil transport in the United States will be decided largely by eight scientists and engineering experts who have been appointed by Dr. Carl T. Compton, chairman of the Navy's Science Advisory Board.

The appointments were announced today by Secretary of the Navy Swanson, who said the study would include the design and construction of dirigibles for both commercial and military purposes.

Dr. Compton, who is president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, appointed the following: William F. Durand, professor emeritus of mechanical engineering, Stanford University; Theodor von Karman, professor of aeronautics and director of Daniel Guggenheim Laboratory, California Institute of Technology; William Hovgaard, professor of naval design, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Stephen Timoshenko, professor of engineering mechanics, University of Michigan; Alfred V. de Forest, associate professor of mechanical engineering, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; R. A. Millikan, director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics and chairman of the Executive Council, California Institute of Technology; Frank B. Jewett, president of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc.; Charles F. Kettering, president of General Motors Research Corporation.

MRS. ROOSEVELT GIVES DEFINITION OF A LADY

Disputes Statement of Vassar College Head, Who Said There Were No More of Species.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today gave her press conference her idea on what constitutes a lady, in "disagreeing violently" with Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of Vassar College, who recently said there were no more of that species.

The President's wife interpreted Dr. McCracken's meaning there were no "ladies of the old school," while "gentlemen" of the old school still exist. She said it all depended on the definition of a lady. Hers was "naturalness and kindliness of spirit first."

"In essentials a lady remains exactly what she always was," said Mrs. Roosevelt. "But, as customs and times change, the superficialties change. The essentials are kindliness of spirit and the kind of naturalness which is not dependent on birth or circumstances surrounding the person, but is dependent on inner assurance that if you are doing the right and kind thing it must be the right way to act. Therefore, you do not worry about what people may think or whether what you do seems to them right or wrong."

To drive home her point, the nation's first lady then read from Stephen Vincent Benet's description of a lady, "Mistress Mary Lou," in his poem, "John Brown's Body."

HAUPTMANN TELLS HIS PASTOR HE HAS NOTHING TO CONFESS

Also Says Execution of Three Death House Mates This Week Will Not Affect Him.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., March 13.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann told his spiritual adviser yesterday he had "nothing to confess" about the Lindbergh baby murder. The Rev. D. G. Werner of New York City, whom Hauptmann selected, asked Hauptmann to confess if he were guilty of the crime.

"'I have nothing to confess,'" he quoted Hauptmann as saying. "'If I had anything to confess I would have done it long ago in order not to go through these long trials.'"

The Rev. Mr. Werner's visit with Hauptmann at the death house in the state prison was his fourth. He said he found Hauptmann "full of courage," hoping for another trial.

The clergyman said he told Hauptmann three of his six death house mates would go to the chair late this week, and he asked Hauptmann if that would unnerve him.

"'It will make no impression on me,'" he said Hauptmann replied.

MASS COMPLIANCE SYSTEM UNDER NRA FOR MISSOURI

New Plan Will Be Put Into Operation, C. L. Hodge, State Director, Announces.

Compliance activities of NRA in Missouri after April 1 will be conducted through a mass system based on group surveys of individual industries, replacing the complaint system in present use, Charles L. Hodge, State Compliance Director, said yesterday.

NRA has been contemplating such a change since last summer, and Missouri had made some experimental tests with it, Hodge said. Under John Swope, recently appointed director of the mass compliance division at Washington, all states will eventually adopt the change.

"Mass compliance is a more efficient and equitable way of administering the codes," Hodge said. "All competitors in a given industry can now be sure that their businesses will be inspected simultaneously. Specific complaints will continue to receive our attention but will not be the sole basis for our work.

Restitutions of back wages aggregating $39,000 were obtained by the local office between Nov. 1 and March 1, Hodge reported. Since Feb. 18 restitutions of $9868 have been made.

HEARINGS FOR ACCUSED PHILADELPHIA LAWYERS

Two Deny Unethical Practices Charges; Three More Summoned Before Judges.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—Three more lawyers were to appear before the Board of Judges of Common Pleas Court today as a result of the Philadelphia Bar Association's campaign against "unprofessional practices."

Fred C. Gartner, former State Representative and former Civil Service Commissioner; his former partner, I. J. Brad Brodsky, and another associate, Bernard L. Lemisch, were summoned to show cause why they should not be disciplined.

At hearings yesterday, Arthur Werblun and his former law partner, Charles J. Green, denied unethical connections, particularly with the "numbers racket."

Werblun admitted he had been paid about $100 a week by "Mickey" Duffy, gang leader, who was killed, and sometimes larger lump amounts covering a period of weeks. The payments, he testified, were "not to care for underlings" but were made by Duffy to avoid being "mulcted" by "a lot of people."

Searchers Find Boys on Mountain.

By the Associated Press.

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., March 13.—Two Denver boys who sought adventure in the mountains near here and spent a night in a road culvert during a blizzard, were found by a searching party in a deserted cabin yesterday. The boys, Thomas P. Wilcox Jr., 12 years old, and Samuel Roberts Jr., said they were tired of school.

TWO CHAMPIONS RETAIN TITLES IN OZARK BOXING MEET

Randazzo, Graduate of Post-Dispatch School, Gains Welter Honors

By W. J. McGoogan.

Two boxing champions retained their titles and six new ones were crowned in nearly eight hours of battling in the annual tournament of the Ozark A. A. U. at the Coliseum yesterday afternoon and last night.

Irwin Striebel, heavyweight, South Broadway A. C. and Bill Beauhuld of the same club were those successful in the defense of their titles.

Among the new champions were three boys from the Sherman A. C. —Louis Wallach, bantamweight; Paul Spica, featherweight, and John Randazzo, welterweight, a graduate of the Post-Dispatch boxing school.

Another South Broadway entrant who was victorious was Bill Schreiber in the middleweight division, who scored the biggest upset of the tournament in defeating Jimmy Webb, Sherman A. C., in the semifinals. He scored a technical knockout over Orville Buff, unattached, in the first round of the championship bout.

Bill Beardsley, Little Rock, Ark., captured the flyweight title. He was the one boy out of a strong team of six to come through.

West Takes It Easy.

Herman West, Buckner, Ill., was the only other successful out-of-town candidate, in addition to Beardsley. West had one fight as there were but two entries in the 175-pound class, and he clowned his way to an easy verdict over Fred Sterzik, Kimmswick, Mo. West was a vastly superior boxer and took the three rounds in stride, scoring one knockdown to make matters certain.

Randazzo's road to the 147-pound title was no easy one. John, a product of the Community Center boxing school, won a surprise verdict over Harold Smercina, clever Sherman A. C. boxer, in the preliminary round, defeated George Mruzik, also of Sherman, on a technical knockout in the second round of their semifinal match, then outpointed Art Pierson, Cherokee Community Center, a really clever boy, in a hard-fought final.

RESULTS OF FINALS

FLYWEIGHT — Bill Beardsley, Little Rock, defeated Charley Tucker, Perryville, Mo., three rounds, judges' decision.

BANTAMWEIGHT—Louis Wallach, St. Louis, defeated Billy Born, Belleville, three rounds, judges' decision.

FEATHERWEIGHT — Paul Spica, St. Louis, defeated Sam Marino, St. Louis, three rounds, judges' decision.

LIGHTWEIGHT — Billy Beauhuld, St. Louis, defeated Snider Parham, Little Rock, three rounds, judges' decision.

WELTERWEIGHT—John Randazzo, St. Louis, defeated Art Pierson, St. Louis, three rounds, judges' decision.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Bill Schreiber, St. Louis, defeated Orville Buff, St. Louis, one round, technical knockout.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT — Herman West, Buckner, Ill., defeated Fred Sterzik, Kimmswick, Mo., three rounds, judges' decision.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Irwin Streibel, St. Louis, defeated Dallas Long, Little Rock, technical knockout, second round.

Randazzo had Smercina on the floor twice for counts, then was behind on points in his match with Mruzik when he hit George with a crushing right-hand punch which floored Mruzik for a count and injured his eye so badly that Referee Harry Kessler deemed it necessary to stop the contest.

Wallach Defeats Brothers.

Wallach was a Community Center boxer last year, but did not reach the semifinal round of the 1934 tournament. But he liked boxing, remained in the game and has shown continued improvement until now he is a district champion.

He, like Randazzo, had tough sailing to his title. He won a close hard-fought decision from Eric Koberg, Belleville, in the preliminaries, had his hands full with Ronald Born, another Belleville boy, in the semifinal, and then captured a verdict over Ronald's brother, Billy, in the final contest.

Two Decisions of Officials Prove Unpopular; Schreiber Surprise Victor

Lou Wallach's decision over Billy Born was not overly popular with the crowd, many of whom thought Born had won.

Spica's victory over Sam Marino, South Broadway A. C., in the 126-pound final, was another decision which was not popular. Marino, decidedly the underdog in the battle, put up a courageous fight and extended the rugged and clever Spica all the way. It was a hairline decision.

Striebel had little difficulty in winning the heavyweight title. He had but one opponent, Dallas Long, Little Rock. Long, a splendid physical specimen, was 37 pounds lighter than Striebel. He was fullback on the Centre College football team for three years, but no match for Irwin in boxing skill. Striebel's shrt, hard punches put Long on the floor three times before the bout was stopped.

Beauhuld Is Easy Winner.

Beauhuld, stepping into the ring with large strips of adhesive plaster over his eyes to close and conceal an injury he suffered to one optic recently, won a one-round technical knockout over Willard Robertson, Ellsinore, Mo., in his preliminary contest, won a technical knockout over Rayburn Medlock, Little Rock, in the semifinals, then scored a decisive victory over another Arkansas boy, Snider Parham, in the final.

Rayburn Medlock had a disheartening experience. His left eye was badly cut in his preliminary match with George Langler, Belleville, Ill., despite the fact that he won easily and the cut was reopened in his match with Beauhuld. He bled so badly that the bout was stopped and Beauhuld was given a technical knockout.

Schreiber, who takes his boxing rather casually, didn't work very hard for the tournament. And in addition he suffered a painfully bruised rib in a recent workout.

It seemed a forlorn hope when he faced Webb in the semifinals and Jimmy plastered him right merrily in the first round. But Schreiber has plenty of nerve and he fought back hard, finding the range with his right hand in the last two rounds to gain a close verdict which pleased the fans highly.

Beardsley had a spirited battle with Frank Ritchie, another Community Center boxing school product, in the semifinal, but coasted to a victory over Charley Tucker, Perryville, Mo., in the final.

Hitch-Hiked to Tourney.

Tucker, a lad just 16 years of age, hitch-hiked his way to St. Louis for the tournament a few days ago. He lived with friends and worked out under Joe Weber at the South Broadway A. C.

Yesterday morning, at the weighing-in ceremonies, there was some discussion about dropping one flyweight and Weber, with all good intentions, suggested that Tucker be dropped.

"Benny, the boy can't hold his hands up," Weber told Benny Kessler, who managed the tournament. But when Tucker heard about it he actually cried.

"I have trained every day for three months for this tournament," he said, red-eyed.

So when the doctor pronounced him physically fit Kessler permitted his entry to stand.

And he won a decision over Bobby Christopher of Sullivan, Mo., in the semifinal, but he did not have the boxing knowledge or experience to cope with Beardsley.

Semifinal Results.

FLYWEIGHT—Charley Tucker, Perryville, Mo., defeated Bobby Christopher, Sullivan, Mo., three rounds, judges' decision. Bill Beardsley, Little Rock, defeated Frank Ritchie, St. Louis, three rounds, judges' decision.

BANTAMWEIGHT — Billy Born, Belleville, defeated Ralph Puhse, Madison, Ill., three rounds, judges' decision. Louis Wallach, St. Louis, defeated Ronald Born, Belleville, three rounds, judges' decision.

FEATHERWEIGHT — Paul Spica, St. Louis, defeated Raymond Medlock, Little Rock, three rounds, judges' decision. Sam Marino drew a bye.

LIGHTWEIGHT — Snider Parham, Little Rock, defeated Tony Moretta, St. Louis, three rounds, judges' decision. Billy Beauhuld, St. Louis, defeated Rayburn Medlock, technical knockout, second round.

WELTERWEIGHT—John Randazzo, St. Louis, defeated George Mruzik, St. Louis, technical knockout, second round. Art Pierson, St. Louis, defeated Barney McDuffee, Flora, Ill., three rounds, judges' decision.

MIDDLEWEIGHT — Bill Schreiber, St. Louis, defeated Jimmy Webb, St. Louis, three rounds, judges' decision. Orville Buff drew a bye.

There were only two entries in each of the light-heavyweight and heavyweight divisions.

BASKETBALL FIVES IN SECOND TITLE GAME

The second of the three-game series between Bakes Shoes and the U. S. Engineers, for the championship of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball League, will be played tonight at the Armory, Grand and Market, beginning at 8:45 p. m. Getting off to a bad start in their first game against Baker two weeks ago, the Engineers lost by a lop-sided score of 43 to 7. Since that time they have been working out regularly on offensive plays, as well as defensive for Baker style, and are determined to put up a stiff battle in the second contest.

In a preliminary game, at 7:30 p. m., Purina Mills will play the Hi-Pointe Cleaners.

Notes of the Tournament

Weighing of the boys started at 11 a. m. yesterday, after which the pairings were made and the actual boxing started at 2 p. m. There were 14 preliminary contests in the afternoon with semifinals starting at 8 p. m. and the finals being completed at 11:30 p. m.

The crowd numbered 1760. Receipts, $1112.75; Federal Tax, $94.75; State, $52.74; city, $52.74.

A few hundred fans took advantage of the chance to attend both in the afternoon and the evening for one price.

Profits will be used in the promotion of the National A. A. U. championships to be held at the Arena April 10-11-12. Ozark champions will be given first consideration in the makeup of the St. Louis team.

Bobby Hand's defeat by Ronald Born in the first round was something of an upset. Hand won the bantamweight title here in 1932.

Boxing in the afternoon provided an unusual spectacle at the Coliseum. Ring lights were not used and it was harder for the handful of spectators to distinguish the action than at night.

Little Rock boys wore deep purple trunks with a white shield with the initials of the Little Rock Boys' Club on them.

Randazzo, who won the Community Center welterweight champion, scored his most impressive victory when he triumphed over Harold Smercina. Smercina, a clever puncher, was knocked to the floor for an eight count in the second, again for no count and again in the third.

Al Neist, the referee, wanted to stop the Rayburn Medlock-George Langler contest in the third when Langler was clearly outclassed, but the boy wanted to continue and was permitted to do so to the finish.

Paul French was on his feet when Neist stopped his contest with Barney McDuffee in the third. He had been on the floor for nine in the second and seemed to be dazed when Neist raised McDuffee's hand.

Heisinger Signed by Cards.

Charley Barrett, scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, signed Charley Heisinger, left fielder of the Vess Beverage Club of the Trolley League last year, for the Bloomington Club of the Three-I League, a Cardinal farm. Heisinger played eight games with the Vess nine, batting .214 and fielding 1.000.

Intercity Athletic Contests For High Schools Sanctioned By Board of Education

All bans on the limited area in which Public High School League teams may play were lifted at the meeting of the St. Louis Board of Education last night. The resolution was passed by the Board after approval was given by Henry J. Gerling, Superintedent of Instruction.

Prior to the board's action there was a ruling in existence which stipulated that schools could not participate in athletic contests outside St. Louis and St. Louis County. This rule was amended in 1926 to permit championship teams to play out of town games. However, during the last few years teams have been traveling to other cities for practice games.

The action taken by the board follows:

X. PARTICIPATION OF HIGH SCHOOL ORGANIZATIONS IN OUT-OF-TOWN EVENTS.

The Board of Education on different occasions has taken action regulating the participation of high school organizations in out-of-town interscholastic games and meets. (See Pr. Pr. Vol XVI, page 1007; Vol. XXXII, page 355; Vol. XXXIII, page 579.) The actions needs unification and expansion. It is accordingly now recommended that all previous action on this subject be rescinded and that the following regulations be approved:

1. That the high schools be permitted to take part in athletic and other organized activities with schools of the St. Louis Metropolitan District, with the restriction that, in all such cases, the St. Louis High School teams shall be under the direction and control of public high school teachers assigned by the principal to this responsibility.

2. That the high schools be permitted to take part in athletic and other organized activities with schools beyond the St. Louis Metropolitan District, upon request of the high school principal, with the approval of the Superintendent of Instruction.

3. That the authorization for the high schools to participate with schools outside of the St. Louis Metropolitan District be restricted to one such participation per activity season for each school.

4. That the schools participate in athletic games and in meets as provided for above under such regulations as may be made by the Superintendent of Instruction.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY J. GERLING,
Superintendent of Instruction.

TEXAS WRESTLER DIES AFTER 20-MINUTE BOUT

DENVER, Colo., March 13.—A widow and two small children today mourned the death of their husband and father, Tex Wright, Dallas (Tex.) wrestler, who died in his dressing room after a 20-minute bout with Ali Yumid, the "Terrible Turk," in Greeley, Colo., Monday night.

County Coroner Richard M. Armstrong said death was due to a chronic heart ailment. The match was unusually clean and free from the usual "rough stuff," fans who attended it declared.

Wright's family has been living at a cottage camp here while he wrestled in nearby towns.

MATCH RACES WILL FEATURE PROGRAM OF MIDGET AUTO EVENTS

The plan of Earl Reflow to make this week's program of midget racing at the Arena tomorrow night the most important ever held in the Midwest has apparently reached its goal with the announcement of a star-filled entry list of 28, plus the added drama of a pair of match races which bring together the West's four most popular drivers.

Tony Willman, Marshall Lewis, Jimmy Snyder and Frank Brisko, whose names have become the most brilliant across the horizon of the new speed sport in the Midwest, have all entered and will present new cars, three of which will be raced for the first time. Not only will they enter the regular program races, however, but the four have been lined up for a pair of match races which pit Lewis against Willman and Snyder against Brisko.

At the end of the long trail eight teams were left to play in the quarter-final round tomorrow in connection with the third round of the singles championship.

The top-seeded team of Gregory S. Mangin and Berkeley Bell overpowered a pair of physicians, T. W. Webster and Robert Millen, both of Forest Hills, 6—2, 6—3, and then they put to an end the championship aspirations of a couple of youngsters, Frankie Rericha and Joey Abrams, 6—4, 6—0.

Making his first appearance in an indoor tournament of a year, Sidney B. Wood Jr., ranked No. 2 in the nation, combined with Dr. Eugene McCauliff of Yonkers to defeat Lieut. R. Morgan Watt and H. Irving Pratt, 7—5, 6—4, after receiving a first-round bye.

Granite City Five Places Two Players on All-Star Quintet; Tennis Is Dropped by Schools

Coaches and officials of the Madison-St. Clair High School Athletic Conference met last night, at Granite City, and selected the All-Star basketball team for the 1934-35 season. East St. Louis was officially awarded the wrestling championship, while Granite City was honored with the 1934-35 basketball championship. Tennis was dropped as a major sport and plans were made for the coming track season.

Granite City's quintet placed two athletes on the all-star five, as did Collinsville. Madison placed one. Claude Beeler, Granite City center, was outstanding in the selections as all coaches named him on their ballots. Coaches picking the team included: Charles Summers, Wood River; Jack Nolen, East St. Louis; Ray Jackson, Alton, Byron Bozarth, Granite City; Fritz Friedli, Belleville; Bill Larson, Collinsville, and Paul Pohe, Madison.

Willard Padgett, Granite City guard, was the other player from the 1934-35 champions to make the team, while LaVerne Pointer and Eddie Evers were Collinsville's two players. Pointer, selected as a forward, and Evers as a guard. Ray Cain, captain and center of Madison's team, was taken from his regular position at center and placed as a forward.

The second team had a total of seven athletes as four were placed at guard posts. Merrill of Collinsville and Clark of Wood River were the forwards, while Counsil, Wood River, was given the center assignment. Freiberg and Gerding, Collinsville, were two guards, while Harrison, Alton, and Dameron, Granite City, completed the second team roster. Walter Padgett and Parker, Granite City, along with Larsh, East St. Louis, rated honorable mention.

TRADE RUMORED AFTER HORNSBY'S MEETING WITH MANAGER CRONIN

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MIAMI, Fla., March 13.—That a deal between the Browns and the Boston Red Sox is on the fire was the inference to be drawn from the fact that Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Browns, and Joe Cronin, $250,000 leader of the Bostonians, held a long conference here last night, following the arrival of the Red Sox for a game today with the Giants.

Hornsby did not return to West Palm Beach with the remainder of the team, but after the conference rode home with L. C. McEvoy, who likewise remained over until 9:30 p. m.

Both McEvoy and Hornsby declined to state the nature of the conference but it is known that if a deal is arranged Melillo will be the trading material for the Browns. Melillo in practice here has shown all his old-time brilliancy.

Burnett, obtained from Cleveland, has bolstered up the infield considerably while the improvement in Hornsby's play makes it certain he will do considerable active work.

OLSEN'S SWEDES AND HARLEMITE FIVE PLAY AT COLISEUM TONIGHT

Olsen's Terrible Swedes and the New York Harlemites will meet tonight in a basketball game at the Coliseum. The Maplewood Wolfs and the Argus Bulldogs of the Pine Street Y. M. C. A. will play a preliminary contest beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

The Harlemites have five St. Louis players on their squad and they are rated as among the best Negro athletes produced in this city.

The Swedes' chief claim to distinction in addition to their record of beating many college fives and the New York Celtics, is their height. "Big Boy" Stoelting, center, is 6 feet 10 inches tall, while a forward, George Campbell, is 6 feet 8 inches.

Terry Moore Stars In Victory Over Phils

Frankie Frisch has said that it is a good idea for a baseball club in the spring to form the habit of victory. But it might have done the Cardinals more good yesterday to lose than it did them to win. They defeated the Phillies of Jimmy Wilson, 9 to 6, but there were many features of the game that took away any pleasure that Fordham Frankie might have taken in the triumph.

Several of the Redbirds nonchalanted. There wasn't much of a batting punch, and some of the boys seemed to remember too well that they had won the world championship last October in combat with the Detroit Tigers. However, the ball player with a swelled head is a rare bird and the slight swelling here and there is likely to subside under Manager Frisch's attack before the training season is much older.

On the bright side of the picture was the work of Terry Moore, the Irish-mugged young man who is slated to play center field for the 1935 Redbirds. Terry contributed a triple and two singles to the Cardinal attack, drove in four runs, stole a base and showed speed and wide ranging ability in the outfield.

In the very first inning with runners on second and third and one out, Manager Wilson of the Phillies ordered Joe Bowman to walk Bill DeLancey to get at Terry. The young man met this strategy by whacking a triple to left center, driving three runs over the plate.

Don Gutteridge replaced Martin at third, and Charley Wilson took Frisch's place after five innings. DeLancey caught five innings and Davis four.

The Phillies came to Bradenton after only five days of spring training and plainly were not in condition.

Jimmy Wilson said he was set in the outfield and in the infield except at third base. Johnny Moore, George Watkins and Ethan Allen will be the regular fly-chasers, with Camilli at first base, Chiozza at second and Blondy Ryan at short. Johnny Vergez and Bucky Walters will compete for the third-base job.

"We'll be better than last year," was Wilson's only comment, explaining that he might have more to say after his team had had more work.

The game attracted 1651 cash customers, probably the largest crowd ever to witness an exhibition game in Bradenton.

Ward uses a straight overhand delivery and throws a fiery fast ball.

TAYLOR IS NAMED TO LEAD READING CLUB

ORLANDO, Fla., March 13.—Bob Quinn, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, yesterday announced appointment of James W. (Zach) Taylor as manager of the Reading (Pa.) team of the New York and Pennsylvania League.

Taylor, although working out with the Dodgers here this spring, was not connected with the team until his appointment. Reading is a Dodger farm.

JOE MOORE, outfielder of the Giants, found George Blaeholder for a single to start the fourth inning of the exhibition game at Miami Beach, Fla., yesterday. He failed to score. The Giants won, 1 to 0, to even the series with Rogers Hornsby's club. Mickey Heath is catching, with Kober umpiring behind the plate.

Seven letters were awarded and of the regulars only Fash will return next year.

Letters were awarded to retiring Capt. Charles Dirksen, Bob Cochran, John Flanigan and Leonard Hoffman, regulars; Bob Bohn and Henry Krause in addition to Fash will return next season.

Figure Skaters In International Tourney Tonight

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Figure skaters will glide through their intricate maneuvers tonight, the shifting spotlights playing on colorful costumes, in the sixth international skating carnival.

The event at Madison Square Garden, held for the benefit of the Bellevue Hospital Social Relief Service, has come to be regarded as one of the winter's most gorgeous spectacles and plans are under way already to have it repeated March 27 for the benefit of latecomers who found the sell-out sign above the box office window.

All reserve seats were disposed of a week ago and a crowd of 16,000 is expected.

Sonja Henie, perennial world's champion from Norway, will not take part in the carnival for the first time since its inauguration, but Europe will be well represented by Maxi Herber and Ernst Baier, national champions of Germany; Viv-Ann Hulten, holder of the Swedish title since 1927, and Idi Papez and Karl Zwack of Austria.

Hornsby Devotes Day To Drilling Players In Base Running Art

By John E. Wray.
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 13.—Rogers Hornsby, who knows a thing or two about it, devoted today's workout of his Browns to base running. And, in the best Gravois avenue tradition, Clarence "Heinie" Mueller was out by a mile at second base.

Hornsby had four men start from first base at a time. He used Dick Coffman, Buck Newsom, Fay Thomas, Jack Knott, Bob Weiland and Jack Dean as the pitchers. It was a three-cornered practice with the Rajah giving advice to pitchers, base runners and catchers.

Payton Looks Like a Comer.

Grover Hartley started out behind the bat, then surrendered the mitt to young Bus Payton who got the ball down to second base like a bullet. Payton, a youngster, is slated to go back to Hank Severeid at San Antonio this year, but he has all the earmarks of a major-leaguer. Bus has lots of time, however, since he's not yet a voter.

Hornsby gave a lot of attention to his pitchers today, schooling them particularly in picking men off second base. Jack Knott, who had the best record in that department last year, was up to form. There were only one or two who got there before his throw.

Burnett Practices at Short.

Prior to the base-running, there was a stiff batting practice with Charley O'Leary keeping the infielders busy with his fungo between base hits. Hornsby had Jack Burnett at short today and backed him up personally. He took the glove away from Jack on one occasion to demonstrate a point. It's no secret that Rogers likes Al Strange at short, but if Burnett continues to belt the ball, he'll have to have some job in that infield.

It was another good day for training purposes. There was a warm sun and practically no breeze. As a result, the athletes went to the showers several pounds lighter.

"More and better hitting is what we want on this ball club," was Rogers Honsby's comment after the second game of the series had been lost to the Giants by a score of 1 to 0. "We won the first game on three hits, with good pitching. We let three second-string opposing pitchers beat us in the second game, because we could only make six hits, so scattered that they did us no good.

"We had plenty of chances to make more than one run, but we just were not there when the hits were needed. From now on batting is going to be the keynote with this club."

The pitching? Nothing wrong with that to Mr. Hornsby. The pitchers showed him they will be okay when they get going in full stride.

Hornsby Takes the Blame.

"I let Blaeholder stay in there too long, asking him to go five innings. He had them eating out of his hand for four innings, but he tired," Hornsby commented. "I sent Newsom into a tough spot with the bases full and only one out,

The Eagles closed their National League hockey season in St. Louis in a most fitting manner by defeating the Detroit Red Wings, 3 to 2, last night at the Arena. The estimated attendance was put at 8000. It was victory No. 11 for the Eagles.

Showing promise that they may be one of the clubs to be in the play-offs next year, which this year they were not, the Eagles came from behind to score twice in the final period and to swing the tide of the battle in their favor.

In spite of some great defense work by Vernon Ayres, the Wings had the lead for the greater part of the game. Starting with a goal early in the first period by John Sorrell, Detroit was out in front. Then St. Louis tied it up past the half-way mark on a goal from Ossie Asmundson. Some clever dribbling on the part of Joe Lamb and Frank Jerwa paved the way for the tying score.

Then in the second period Detroit again took the lead when Herb Lewis was parked all alone in front of the Eagles' goal. Lewis took a pass from Harry Aurie and banged the puck past Goaler Bill Beveridge.

Things went along in that manner until there was less than six minutes left in the contest. Following a skirmish in front of Detroit's goal, Frank Jerwa came in possession of the puck and slapped it in for the second Eagles' goal. Assists were given to Joe Lamb and Ossie Asmundson, and the time was 14 minutes and 50 seconds. When Jerwa scored, he was to the right of the Detroit goal and rather well out.

Just three seconds later the Eagles put on another storm that culminated in the winning goal. Lamb took a relay from Jerwa and Asmundson and shot it past Goaler John Ross Roach for the goal that sent the spectators home happy.

CHURCH QUINTET PLAYS QUARTER WITH FOUR MEN BUT UPSETS FAVORITE

The Zukid David team eliminated last year's runner-up squad, St. Francis Xavier, in an upset game, in which the Zukid David team played with only four men during the second quarter and managed to keep the lead during that time. St. Francis Xavier took the lead in the third quarter, and in a rousing finale, Frank Gold dropped a long shot through the hoop to give the Davids a 29-28 victory in the last 25 seconds.

The game was a first round contest in the inermediate division of the city-wide church basketball tournament. Second round games start tomorrow night, with all squads idle tonight.

Other games last night saw the P. A. C. team eliminate Bethlehem, 26-19; Shaare-Zedek turn back Our Lady of Lourdes, 58-11, in the other contests at McBride High School gymnasium, and at Bethany gymnasium, the Shirah Thilem five trounced Rosati (Spanish), 45-15; St. Paul defeated Hyde Park Baptist, 43-23; and Our Redeemer beat St. James (Catholic), 32-12.

BEAUMONT HIGH AND SOLDAN WILL LEAVE FOR STATE TOURNEY

St. Louis' two representatives in the Missouri State high school basketball tournament will leave tomorrow for Columbia. Soldan will depart at about 8 o'clock in the morning with the eight players and Coach Harry White going in two cars and Beaumont will leave in the afternoon.

Soldan is scheduled to meet Wheatland, which boasts a winning streak of 23 consecutive games, tomorrow night, while Beaumont will play Cabool Friday morning. The tournament will come to a close Saturday night.

The Soldan players making the trip are Ben Kleg, captain; Ray January, James Dowdy, John Stacey, Elmer Brown, Carl Steimnitz, Ben Kleyman and Sanford Werner. Although 10 players are allowed to take part in the State meet, the funds provided by the St. Louis district association were not enough to enable Soldan to send more than eight boys.

Including Coach Raymond G. Polster, a squad of 11 will comprise the Beaumont outfit. The players are Bob Gerst, Herb Kamper, Reid Wedler, Bill Nesley, Lester Benner, Bob Marting, Wilson Schwenk, Homer Knox, Art Kerls and Herman Wagner.

Permission of Lewis Carroll.

Uncle Billy Hooper stands on his head at the age of 86.—Believe it or not.

"YOU are old, Uncle Billy," the young man said,
"In fact you have turned 86;
And yet you incessantly stand on your head,
Is that one of your favorite tricks?"

"For my age," said the sage, "I am nothing the worse,
And I'm feeling quite frisky of late;
But believe it or not, when I go in reverse,
My age it is just 98."

"You are old, Uncle Billy," insisted the youth,
"And to chide you, far be it from me;
But your posture appears to be very uncouth,
With your head where your heels ought to be."

"The years are as nothing," the old man said,
"For a man is as old as he feels;
And to prove it I show I can stand on my head
As well as I stand on my heels."

If Ernie Orsatti doesn't split the breeze for Florida pretty soon, it looks that if Terry Moore will be doubling for the man who doubled for Buster Keaton.

But no matter which way the cat jumps, the Cards are going to have a ball hawk out there in center field. They always do.

In Terry Moore the Cardinals think they have another Joe Moore. And furthermore, they have Gene Moore. And when more and better Moores are developed the Redbirds will do it.

Bucky says Heine Manush is the only outfielder sure of his job, which seems to mean that Fred Schulte will beat Heine back to the Browns.

That quaint old custom of commuting between Washington and St. Louis almost makes it imperative for a ball player to maintain a hook in both cities on which to hang his hat. They comes and they goes.

TWO GAMES TODAY IN PARISH BASKET MEET

St. Adalbert (East St. Louis) basketball team, twice victor in the Junior Billiken parochial school tournament, will play its first contest in this year's meet today at 5 o'clock, meeting the Immaculate Conception five in a second round game. In another second round match, the St. Mark and St. Vincent teams play at 4 o'clock.

Yesterday one-sided scores prevailed, with second round games being played. St. Ann eliminated St. Elizabeth of East St. Louis, 19-12, and St. Edward defeated St. Thomas Aquinas, 20-5, in the afternoon games. In the evening, St. Alphonsus trounced St. James, 16-6, and Our Lady of Lourdes ran up a 38-2 score against the St. Philip Neri team.

"All Browns Need Is Punch," Manager Hornsby Asserts

but he showed good control and got the next two out of the way fine. Knott looked good, too.

"Nothing to complain of yet. If I can get a punch into this club the rest will take care of itself."

Hornsby, asked his opinion of the Giants on their showing in the two games, expressed the view that they looked good, but also were not hitting when hits counted.

About the three young pitchers who beat him? Well, any pitcher looks good against a team that can't bat.

And that was that. Blaeholder evidently tired in the fifth frame of yesterday's game. The Giants made hits off his delivery in three of the first four frames he pitched, two in the fourth; but when he put the pressure on the Giants couldn't budge him.

But in the fifth he collapsed. Mancuso singled, but Blaeholder fanned the pitcher. Then came the deluge. Critz singled. Bartell bunted and Blaeholder ran himself ragged, but the ball rolled safe. With the bases full, Moore bunted down right-field foul line and again Blaeholder ran over to retrieve it. He picked it up, turned to the plate to throw, but saw he had no chance; he turned to throw to first and Moore was just pulling into that spot ahead of schedule. One run, bases still full, one out.

At this point Hornsby decided to see of what stuff Buck Newsom was made. He sent him to the hill with a week's less preparation than all the other hurlers have had. And he had to face Mel Ott, the most dangerous punch on the Giants' ball club.

Newsom burned them across and the mighty swinger struck out. Malay, subbing for Terry, hit a fly and the day was saved from a rout.

Knott looked very good in pitching two innings against the Giants, who made all of their nine hits except one off of Blaeholder.

But the Browns' batting was really pitiful. They had men on base in six of the nine innings. Twice the first man up singled. As late as the eighth inning, they had a chance to win the old ball game, when a base on balls and Bell's single put two men on base with two down. But Burns couldn't deliver.

The "old army game" which helped the Browns to victory in the first contest, twice failed in the pinch for Hornsby. In the second, Burns singled to start the inning. Melillo sacrificed him along, but the next two batters were looking out the window. In the fifth, Strange drew a walk and Blaeholder sacrificed him ahead, but Garms and Burnett failed.

That was plenty of evidence that Hornsby was right in saying that the team's batting must improve for the club to make a showing.

At neither of the Browns' games has attendance been more than casual. That's because the Giants have put prices on tickets to Miami Beach games higher than are charged for the major leagues.

To view Manager Terry's boys, the price is $2.20 for reserved seats, $1.65 for the unreserved seats in the grand stand and $1.10 for bleachers tickets. The bleachers at Miami Beach cost as much as the grand stand at major league games. The ticket schedule is causing quite a frost around the Giants' park. President Harridge, of the American League, who has viewed both games between the Browns and the New Yorkers, was surprised at the situation.

Call for Better Business Bureau.

The principal criticism is that while charging the prices mentioned above Terry insists on showing the public a lot of minor league rookies in at least half of every game.

"We don't get a run for our money," is the comment.

"At those prices they ought to give the fans a ball game," was the only expression President Harridge would make on the subject.

It's all a part of hard headed William's idea of getting baseball club in shape, and the club supports Terry in this position.

The Giants are showing some fair youngsters, but it will be up to all their regulars to do their stuff this year. No rookie is likely to break into the established lineup unless one of the old timers collapses.

BEAUMONT ONE OF FAVORITES IN STATE TOURNEY

B. the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 13.—Sixteen teams, winners of regional tournaments, tapered off training today in preparation for the opening of the annual Missouri State High School basketball tournament.

With Jackson, last year's champion, out of the picture, a wide open title race was assured.

The pre-tourney favorite appeared to be Kansas City's "flip of a coin" representatives, northeast. The Vikings have played in the tournament six times and emerged winner thrice.

Fruitland, runner-up last year, is the smallest school in the meet. It has 54 high school students.

Warrensburg, featuring George Golay, six-foot three-inch center, who has averaged 14 points a game this season, is another popular choice.

Beaumont, 1933 State champion, and winner over Soldan by a two-point margin in the St. Louis regional this year, is another strong entrant, as is Wheatland, a town of 300 persons. The Wheatland team boasts of 15 consecutive victories.

Other "marked" players in addition to Golay are Ray January of Soldan, whose season scoring average is 12 points, and Clay Cooper, Columbia, brother of Johnny Cooper, former University of Missouri star athlete.

Four first round games are scheduled tomorrow night. The remaining four initial tilts will be played Friday morning, with the quarterfinals on tap that night. The semifinals are programmed Saturday morning, with the finals and the consolation game for third place billed Saturday night.

All games will be played at Brewer Fieldhouse at the University of Missouri.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—With an eye on the Olympic games of next year, "Blazin' Ben" Eastman, Stanford's great runner, today was warming up for his 1935 campaign.

Eastman, now running under the colors of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, will make his season's debut Saturday at Berkeley when the Winged "O" team meets Brutus Hamilton's promising University of California outfit.

Charlie Hunter, Olympic Club coach, plans to run Eastman in only the 880-yard run against the Golden Bears. Eastman holds the world's record for this event as well as the 440-yard, 600-yard, 500 and 800-meter runs.

In addition to Eastman, Hunter has three new outstanding athletes on his squad. They are Walter Marty, formerly of Fresno State, holder of the world's record in the high jump; John Lyman, ex-Stanfordite, whose shotputting duels with Jack Torrence of Louisiana State, featured the 1934 season, and "Slinger" Dunn, another former Stanford star, who already has tossed the discus 161 feet 2½ inches this season.

Only $83,000 Is Wagered First Day At Bay Meadows

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BAY MEADOWS, Cal., March 13.

WILLIAM KYNE, manager of the Bay Meadows track, was far from pleased today at the exceptionally light betting that passed through the mutuel machines yesterday—the opening day of a 29 or more day spring meeting. The total mutuel take was $83,824.

In a certain measure, Kyne believed, the small play was due to no passes having been handed out to the public for the spring meeting.

The general manager and principal stock owner in the local track estimated the play would average $150,000 for the entire meet.

Odds on Carnera Drop to 2 to 1

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Primo Carnera, 260 pounds on the hoof, and Ray Impellittierre, 262, today prepared to ease up on their training for their 10-round fight in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Each predicted a knockout within six rounds. But Harry Lenny, Ray's manager, wanted to bet that Ray will stop Primo within one minute of the first round. "He can't miss hitting Primo's long jaw," said Harry.

The odds on Carnera have dropped from 4 to 1 to 2 to 1 on the strength of Ray's fine showing in workouts.

WORTH $100 EXTRA TO ME!

"I LOOKED AT ALL THREE lowest-priced trucks and listened to all the sales arguments. When your salesman showed me the amazing number of high-priced truck features built into the Dodge I could hardly believe that they are now priced right down with the lowest. I don't mind saying I am absolutely sold on Dodge. It is the only one of the three lowest-priced trucks that has hydraulic brakes and I figure this feature alone is worth $100 in economy, safety and all-around satisfaction."

(sig.) C. H. BOOKEDIS, Chicago, Ill.

THE big swing among leading automotive manufacturers in 1935 is toward hydraulic brakes. But of the three lowest-priced trucks, only Dodge gives them to you!

Save Money 3 Ways

Everyone knows that hydraulic brakes work quicker and smoother . . . tend to check skidding and swerving. But they do another important thing . . . they make your truck a lot more economical to run . . . and here's why — hydraulic brakes stay equalized! Braking pressure on all four wheels with Dodge perfected hydraulic brakes is always the same. This tends to distribute the wear evenly over all four tires and all four sets of brake linings, so they last much longer. Thus hydraulic brakes save you money on tires . . . save on brake relining . . . save on brake adjusting expense.

Hydraulic brakes are just one of the 18 outstanding, high-priced features Dodge gives you in trucks now priced with America's lowest. Only Dodge gives you an oil filter to save oil. Only Dodge gives you 4 piston rings to conserve power — the others give you 3 piston rings. Dodge gives you 4 main bearings to prolong engine life — the others give you 3 bearings. Dodge gives you a six-cylinder L-head engine for low-cost operation. Dodge pioneered such outstanding features as valve seat inserts to save gas and valve grinding . . . full-floating rear axle to save repair costs . . . and many more.

Ask for a "Show-Down"

Lots of truck buyers who check up on Dodge features when they go to buy a low-priced truck say, "It just doesn't belong in the lowest-priced field, but it is!" The extra value built into Dodge is surprising . . . literally amazing! See your Dodge dealer and ask for a "show-down" of this extra value . . . today!

Bowling Notes

The drive for entries for the city-wide class bowling tournament, to be rolled at Heidel's Recreation, is on and Frank Heidel, sponsor of the tourney, expects a record-breaking entry. In a recent tournament, held in Milwaukee, a similar meet drew 803 teams. There are three classes in each event, teams, doubles and singles and all entrants in each class will bowl from scratch. A penalty will be deducted from all scores compiled by Class A entrants over a limited league average. In the case of the Budweisers, who are entered, the team will deduct 60 pins per game, the remainder being considered as the team's tourney score. Entry blanks and full information can be had from Heidel, 3035 Park avenue, PRospect 8400.

The fifth annual mixed doubles handicap contest is scheduled at Heidel's March 23 and 24. Mr. and Mrs. William Sablatnik won the event last year and have entered this year's meet. Entries can be filed by calling Heidel.

Bill Elfert, secretary of the Newspaper League, was the best shooter in the league's doubleheader at Peterson's Monday, rolling 1242 for the six games. Elfert totaled 589 in the first three games and 653 in the final match. Clay Kerley was the only other bowler to average 200, rolling 1203. Ed Eickman turned in the best single game count of the evening when he scored 256 and helped the Wray's column team total 1047 and set a new league record for team high single. Monday's results: Apple Marys, 4—2; Stars, 4—2; Wray's, 3—3; Sport Salads, 3—3; Popeyes, 3—3; States, 1—5.

B. Heidenrich of the Angelicas scored a 663, which included a high count of 266, but his team dropped three games to the Hermanns in the "B" division of the Y. M. C. A. Handicap League. The Hermanns had a 2961 total, with a high game of 1023. Colonial Club won three from Harry's Specials and the Downtown "Y" two from the Sports Club. Thiemeyer scored 258 for the Colonials. In the "A" division, the Kuhs dropped two to the Simons, the Ivory Five three from the Spaeths, the Niehaus team three from the Paschedags and the Chipsos two from the Lavas. Graffigna won high three with 603, while Schmalstig and W. Wemhoener tied for high single with 223.

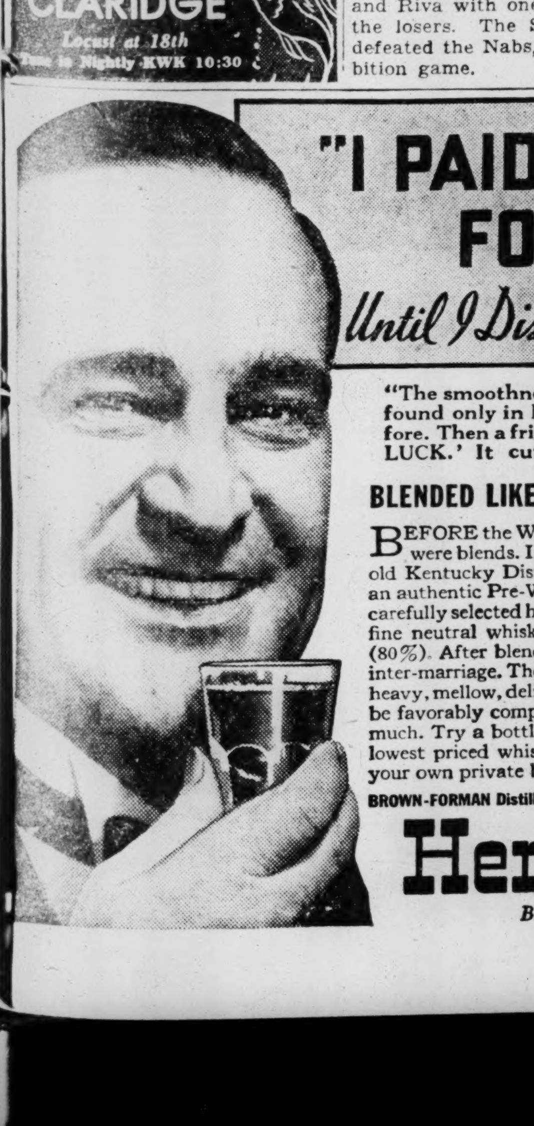
Irene Meinhardt topped the bowlers in the Southwest Women's League, rolling 605 for the Krieghausers, who took two games from the S-K team. The Gebkens won two from the Eddie Millers in the other match. L. Furer had 508, M. Bartling 467 and M. Sohnle 466.

Results in the Arway Women's Handicap League: Morning Blues 3, Lees 0; Zepf 2, Browns 1; Doerrs 1, Guese 2; Gertrude Dress 2, Meehans 1. Team leaders: N. Wettig 508, J. Raber 497, Johnston 487, M. Bartling 480, E. Doerr 479, W. Pfundt 471, C. Langmeier 467 and H. McLaughlin 467.

In the Commercial League at Rogers Recreation, all matches resulted in 2-1 counts, the Weidemanns winning from the Gateways, the Jacksons from the Third Floors, the Paramounts from the Eurekas and the Popeyes from the Boehms. Only two 600 totals were registered, Paul Schuster hitting 658 and R. Pollman 610. The Gateways are leading the league, one game in front of the Weidemanns and Jacksons. The Gateways hold high three with 2982 and the Jacksons high single with 1038. P. Buchheit tops high individual three and average with marks of 723 and 198, while Schuster's 258 is best in the single game department.

Oak Hill Wins at Volleyball.

The Oak Hill School Patrons' team advanced to the final of the St. Louis Public School Patrons' Volleyball League championships yesterday by defeating the Long School Patrons' squad, 15-10, 15-12, 15-12, for the Group A title. Oak Hill meets Mount Pleasant, Group B winners, for the title, March 20 at Roosevelt High School.



"I PAID HIGH PRICES FOR WHISKY... Until I Discovered Here's Luck"
"The smoothness, body and flavor I wanted, I found only in higher priced whiskies heretofore. Then a friend introduced me to 'HERE'S LUCK.' It cut my whisky bills in half!"
BLENDED LIKE OUR PRE-WAR WHISKIES
BEFORE the War most of the really good whiskies were blends. In "HERE'S LUCK," the 65-year-old Kentucky Distillery, Brown-Forman, has made an authentic Pre-War blend; first, a base (20%) of a carefully selected heavy, 5-year-old whisky; second, a fine neutral whisky, especially made for blending (80%). After blending they are stored for complete inter-marriage. The result in "HERE'S LUCK" is a heavy, mellow, delightfully flavored product that can be favorably compared to whiskies costing twice as much. Try a bottle. It costs so little more than the lowest priced whiskies you will want to keep it as your own private brand.

BENEFIT SKATE CARD TO BE HELD TONIGHT

In an effort to close their season with a clean record, the Arena amateur hockey team will take the ice tonight against the Missouri Skating Association sextet in the feature event of an ice skating program which will close ice activities at the Oakland avenue plant for the season.

The program will be in the nature of a benefit affair as half the proceeds will be turned over to Charles "Daddy" Power, veteran 70-year-old rink skating instructor, who is ill.

Figure skating by Oliver Haupt and Jeanne Schulte, national junior champions; Ruth English and Leonard Fogassey, Midwestern pairs champions, and Gladys Lamb and Norville Baptie is also included on the program.

It will be the fifth hockey game in six days for the Arena boys. Last Friday they defeated their rivals of tonight by a 3-2 score and, on Monday turned back the Winter Garden team, 1-0. In this latter game Dan Schlaffly of the winners received a severe cut on the head which will keep him out of tonight's game.

STATE SENATE VOTES FOR SUNDAY SALE OF 3.2 BEER

Casey Declares Action in Perfecting Bill 'Opens Door to Bootlegging and Lid Clubs.'

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 13.—The Senate, in perfecting the revised 3.2 per cent beer bill today, voted to permit the sale of such beer on Sunday by places which have only a 3.2 license.

The present law permits the sale of 3.2 beer on Sunday. In the bill under consideration, however, there was a clause prohibiting such sale. This was struck out by an 18-to-14 vote on an amendment offered by Senator Donnelly, president pro tem.

Donnelly was opposed by Senator Casey of Kansas City, who said: "I am opposed to the sale of any liquor on Sunday. This amendment will just open the door wide to bootlegging and lid clubs. We might just as well permit the sale of any liquor on Sunday.

Under the present law, many 3.2 beer places have been selling hard liquor on the side. Donnelly said that with the search and seizure and nuisance provisions in the liquor control bill, "the officers can stop bootlegging and enforce the law if they really want to." Under the liquor control bill as passed yesterday by the Senate, a holder of a hard liquor license can be found guilty of a felony if he sells 3.2 on Sunday.

Amendments Defeated.

An amendment offered by Senator Joffee to keep the license fee for manufacturing beer at $500 instead of reducing it to $250 was beaten, as was one by Senator Jones which would have permitted counties and cities to impose a license on manufacturers, brewers and wholesalers. Such a license can be imposed under the hard liquor law.

No opposition to the beer bill is expected when it comes up for final passage, so it is now in the shape in which it will go to the House. It accomplishes the one major request of Gov. Park and Supervisor of Liquor Control Becker, in that it transfers administration of 3.2 beer from the Food and Drug Department to the Liquor Control Department.

Wanted No Distinction.

Park and Becker had asked that all distinction between 3.2 beer and other beer be abolished and several Senators referred today to the "fiction that 3.2 beer is non-intoxicating." But rural Senators demanded the retention of 3.2 beer and its legal status as a non-intoxicating drink.

In the section pertaining to the opening and closing of saloons the beer bill conforms to the liquor bill, moving the closing hour up to 1:30 a. m. It makes it a misdemeanor for a holder of a 3.2 license to sell or have on his premises any hard liquor and a felony for him to sell any hard liquor on Sunday.

With passage of the liquor bill and perfection of the beer bill the Senate has completed work on its first important piece of legislation.

LOUIS ROTHGIESSER DIES; DRESS SUIT RENTAL MAN

He and Brother Operated Firm 30 Years, Charging Small Fee for Formal Attire.

Louis Rothgiesser, who, with his brother, the late Simon Rothgiesser, made it possible for a small rental fee for male St. Louisans with incomplete wardrobes to attend formal functions in correct attire for nearly 30 years, died at his home, 4447 McPherson avenue, last night from a stomach ailment after a month's illness. He was 65 years old.

The firm, known as Rothgiesser Brothers, which was at Broadway and Chestnut street, was liquidated three years ago after Simon's death. A similar firm using the Rothgiesser name still operates at that address. Mr. Rothgiesser had no active business connection lately, although he retained his post of 25 years' standing of vice-president of the Colonial and Aalco Laundries.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Fannie Epstein Rothgiesser; a daughter, Mrs. F. Bert Baer, and two sisters, Mrs. David Zepin and Mrs. Rosa Aronson. The funeral will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the Mayer Undertaking establishment at Mount Sinai Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF TABOR'S WIDOW

Old Friends Attend Services at Leadville, Colo.

LEADVILLE, Colo., March 13.—Miners and city folk who knew "Baby Doe" Tabor as the wife of H. A. W. Tabor and belle of the mining camps more than a half century ago, filled the little Church of the Annunciation today for her funeral.

The only relative at the funeral was Willard McCourt of Denver, a brother of Mrs. Tabor. He said the body will be placed in a vault in Denver and would remain there until the casket of H. A. W. Tabor could be exhumed in abandoned Calvary Cemetery. The bodies then will be buried side by side in Mount Olive Cemetery.

BONUS PAYMENT LEGISLATION DELAYED UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Result of Disagreement in Rules Committee on Letting House Choose Between Bills.

WASHINGTON, March 13. — A tangle over procedure resulted in a decision today to delay House consideration of bonus payment legislation until next week.

After his Rules Committee heard numerous pleas for and against permitting the House to choose directly between the Vinson and Patman bills, Chairman O'Connor (Dem.), New York, said on the floor that the situation would "prevent consideration of the bills before next week."

Earlier in the day, leaders had repeated their intention to bring the bills out on the floor for discussion tomorrow and for a final vote next week. The committee heard predictions that the President would approve neither the Vinson nor the Patman bills.

Representatives Andrews (Rep.), New York, and Cochran (Dem.), Missouri, predicted a veto. The latter remarked:

"I do not want to deceive the veterans. When either the Vinson bill or the Patman bill reaches the White House, the veterans will be disappointed. The veterans have been led to believe they are going to get their money. I do not think any kind of bill would become a law over the President's veto."

SECRETARY ICKES APPROVES ANOTHER HOMESTEAD PROJECT

Allots $245,000 for Community for 100 Negro Families at Newport News, Va.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The number of industrial families the Federal Government plans to set up in new country homes rose to more than 5500 today as Secretary of the Interior Ickes approved a subsistence homestead project at Newport News, Va.

Ickes allotted $245,000 for the community, the second to be set up for Negroes. One hundred families are to be accommodated.

Speaking of the projects in general officials said today that 223 homes had been completed, of which 211 were occupied, and that work on 1339 others either was under way or would begin this spring. Average cost of the houses, complete with electrical fixtures and small gardens, is set at about $3000. Average payments of about $150 a year ($50 for each $1000 of the purchase price) are to cover 3 per cent interest and amortize the loan after 30 years.

Rothenberg suffered internal injuries and a fractured leg. He was unmarried and resided at 2622 Lyndhurst avenue.

CONTEMPT CITATION AGAINST HEAD OF GRAVITY REALTY CO.

C. J. Zeitinger Refused to Turn Over Stock He Held as Trustee of Firm.

Preparation of a decree committing Christian J. Zeitinger, 70-year-old inventor and promoter, to jail for contempt of court in refusing to obey an order to surrender 472 shares of preferred stock in the old Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co. was authorized today by Circuit Judge O'Malley.

The Court directed J. Hugo Grimm, attorney for stockholders of the Gravity Realty Co., of which Zeitinger is president, to prepare the decree, but said it would not be enforced until Zeitinger has had opportunity to apply to the St. Louis Court of Appeals for a writ of habeas corpus.

The stock in question, the Court has found, was in the possession of Zeitinger as trustee for the Gravity Realty Co. and not as his personal property. Zeitinger informed the Court recently he had given the stock several years ago to friends who advanced him money for living expenses.

Trustees in charge of liquidation of the Hargadine-McKittrick Co., which failed 20 years ago, are preparing to make a payment in liquidation of $23 a share on the stock. Zeitinger was one of the original plaintiffs in the receivership suit filed against the company in 1915.

R. A. BAGNELL TO PAY $75 MORE A MONTH TO EX-WIFE

Judge Orders Increase to Provide for Support of 14-Year-Old Daughter.

Robert A. Bagnell of Ladue Village, secretary of the Mississippi Valley Iron Co., was ordered by Circuit Judge Hogan yesterday to pay an additional $75 a month for the support of his 14-year-old daughter, Lucy Joy Bagnell, in custody of his former wife, who is now Mrs. George M. Courts Jr. of Alexandria, Va.

Bagnell was married in January to Mrs. Eugenia Lenore Sullivan, daughter of Excise Commissioner Scullin.

At the time of his divorce in 1923, Bagnell established a $25,000 trust fund, the income to provide for the care and education of his daughter. The girl's mother lately informed the court that the income from the trust fund was now insufficient for the daughter's needs, and asked an additional $125 a month.

THREE INDICTED IN BROWN-OWEN CASE GIVE BONDS

Officers of Wholesale Liquor Firm Surrender on Federal Indictments — Gambler Not in Custody.

Details of a Federal indictment returned Friday against Beverly Brown, "Gully" Owen and William Molasky will be withheld until the fourth defendant, William S. Jacobs, Hot Springs (Ark.) gambler, is in custody or under bond, United States Attorney Blanton said today.

Brown, Owen and Molasky, respectively president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer of Brown-Owen, Inc., one of the largest wholesale liquor firms in St. Louis, surrendered on the indictment yesterday afternoon and were released on $5000 bonds by United States Commissioner Burke.

Felony Charge Reported.

The indictment followed an investigation by the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit of the books of the company. The report of the investigators, submitted to the grand jury, was understood to contain charges of failure to keep a complete and accurate set of records, and the shipping of liquor into dry territory.

The first offense charged is a felony under the Federal statutes, punishable by a maximum of three years in prison and a fine of $5000. The latter is a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum of six months in jail and a fine of $1000.

Commissioner Burke made the bonds of Brown, Owen and Molasky returnable before Judge Davis next Monday, the regular return day for the term. Since the spring docket of Federal Court already is complete it is probable the case will be set for trial next autumn.

Brennan Signs Bonds.

Bonds for the three defendants who surrendered yesterday were signed by William J. (Boots) Brennan, contractor and Democratic politician. It was incorrectly stated in late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch that John P. English, Recorder of Deeds, also signed the bonds. Brennan was the sole surety.

Illinois Manufacturers' Board Opposes Its "Revival."

CHICAGO, March 13.—The Illinois Manufacturers' Association, through its Board of Directors, declared yesterday against "revival of the National Industrial Recovery Act in any form."

A pamphlet signed by R. E. Wantz of Rockford, president of the association, said: "Higher prices due to NRA are retarding the sale of manufactured goods. Increased production has been retarded. This has interferred with re-employment of industrial workers. Widespread uncertainty and apprehension, including that due to the disturbance of employer-employe relationships, have impaired confidence in the manufacturing industry.

MACDONALD BEGINS DEFENSE OF ARMAMENTS PROGRAM

Prime Minister, Recovered from Cold, Says White Paper Is "Peace Document."

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 13.—Prime Minister James Ramsay MacDonald returned to work after a week's illness today and immediately began a vigorous defense of the Government's armaments program, calling the white paper in which the program was announced a "peace document."

MacDonald went to No. 10 Downing street and presided over a Cabinet session after a cold which not only prevented his appearance in the House of Commons during the debate on Monday but revived in most papers rumors that he would drop the reins of the head of the Government before the jubilee celebrations were over.

Summing up the defense of the white paper, he said: "Were it not a peace document I should never have agreed to its issue. Peace is written on its forehead; peace is its concluding thought; peace is its purpose throughout."

Anxiety has been felt by many of his friends as to his ability to continue with the heavy responsibilities during the jubilee period.

HOPKINS SEEKS $80,000,000 MORE FOR RELIEF FOR MARCH

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Harry L. Hopkins, Relief Administrator, today requested an additional $80,000,000 to $90,000,000 to supply relief needs for the remainder of March. Daniel Bell, acting budget director, said the money probably would be transferred from Public Works Administration funds.

Relief administration funds for the first 15 days of March had been obtained by an earlier transfer of $80,000,000 from PWA.

Relief administration officials today estimated average daily cost of March relief at $5,000,000. The largest previous monthly cost announced had been $157,000,000 for January.

Heartburn after eating, gas pains, and other distress is far more common than the knowledge of how to relieve it! There are still people who rely upon soda to relieve this condition. They ought to be told about Diapepsin, for this simple and agreeable remedy really relieves it.

You can carry these tablets in your pocket—always ready to quiet or comfort such discomfort. They relieve the pangs of acid indigestion like magic. Eat one or two—just as you would a mint or candy—and that's all there is to it. Try it! If you have distress after meals, any acid discomfort at all, your stomach is probably slow in emptying. If you relieve this condition with Pape's Diapepsin, you can eat with fewer restrictions.

Diapepsin, in tablets that are eaten just like candy, has brought happiness to thousands who thought that they had a "weak stomach." Remember the name—which is Pape's Diapepsin. Druggists are all familiar with it.

Dr Lee, I feel logy as a sack of meal—will the new XR Yeast bring back my energy?

DR. R. E. LEE'S REPLY—

Stronger new XR Yeast a boon to people suffering from lack of energy, constipation and upset stomach

OVER THE AIR one night, Dr. R. E. Lee, famous for his radio talks, invited people to write to him! The letter above is typical of hundreds he has received.

His reply is shown here in the hope that it will help you! For the new XR Yeast, as Dr. Lee says, has an amazing effect on energy.

Such eminent physicians as the great authority, Dr. Joseph Mouchotte, call it a "notable discovery." After testing the new yeast, Dr. Mouchotte reports: "It gave astounding results in run-down patients."

If you lack energy and ambition . . . if your digestion is poor . . . if you are constipated, won't you try this stronger new XR Yeast that has been discovered?

Just eat 3 cakes of Fleischmann's XR Yeast every day—preferably a half-hour before meals—plain, or dissolved in ⅓ glass of water. Get it at grocers, restaurants, soda fountains.

Each cake is rich in Vitamins A, B, D and G. It is as good as ever for baking, too. Won't you get some right now?

DR. R. E. LEE
DIRECTOR

March 6, 1935

Dear Mr. [redacted]:-

No doctor can prescribe for a patient until he has made an adequate examination. If your condition warrants, you should see your physician.

You will be interested to know, however, that one of the very first effects of the newly discovered XR Yeast—observed by doctors in hospital tests—has been a quick pickup in energy.

This energizing action is largely due to the fact that this stronger yeast speeds up digestive juices and muscles. As a result, your food is better digested so that you get more "good" out of it, and you will eliminate poisonous wastes far more easily. Thus two of the most common causes of lassitude are often avoided.

Very truly yours,

R E Lee

ROBBER GETS 15 YEARS AT HIS SECOND TRIAL

First Jury That Heard Case Gave Patrick Mosier, 35-Year Term.

Patrick Mosier, 28 years old, was found guilty yesterday of robbery with a deadly weapon by a jury in Circuit Judge Connor's court. Punishment was fixed at 15 years in the penitentiary.

At a previous trial on the same charge, brought when William J. Hufnagel, former Deputy United States Revenue Collector, identified him as one of three men who robbed him of his automobile in May, 1932, Mosier's punishment was fixed at 35 years.

Judge Baron, who presided at the first case, sustained defense contentions after the verdict, that Mosier had been forced to trial before his attorney had opportunity to prepare his case. His lawyer, Jack Moore, it will be recalled, telegraphed from Jefferson City on the day of trial, that he would be unable to appear. Judge Baron cited Moore for contempt, appointed counsel for Mosier, and ordered him to trial. Later Moore explained and was excused, and Judge Baron granted Mosier a new trial.

CITIZENS OF CHATTANOOGA VOTE TO USE TVA POWER

Want to Issue $8,000,000 in Bonds for Municipal Distribution System.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 13.—Citizens of Chattanooga expressed approval yesterday of a proposal to issue $8,000,000 in bonds for construction of a municipal electric system, which would distribute Tennessee Valley Authority power. The unofficial vote was 19,056 to 8096.

Federal District Judge W. I. Grubb at Birmingham, Ala., has held that the TVA has no authority to sell surplus power.

Jo C. Guild Jr., president of the Tennessee Electric Power Co., issued a statement saying the company "intends to continue to serve the city of Chattanooga in the same efficient way as it always has."

"We do not intend to sell out our business to the Tennessee Valley Authority, the city of Chattanooga or anyone else," he said.

MISSOURI'S SHARE IN PWA ESTIMATED AT $373,000,000

Communities Prepare Program in Event That $4,000,000,000 Bill Is Passed.

Missouri communities, in a survey conducted by the State Planning Board and the Public Works Administration, have indicated that they could spend $373,630,353 in useful public works which might be financed out of the $4,000,000,000 bill pending before Congress.

William M. Spann, State PWA engineer, said the survey brought forth 884 specific projects which might be undertaken. He thought it likely Missouri's allotment from the fund would be about $100,000,000.

The survey classified the work that might be done under 12 headings, including waterworks, sewers, streets and highways, heavy engineering, school buildings, other buildings, power, airports, grade crossings, recreation facilities, drainage and miscellaneous.

St. Louis indicated it could spend $150,198,000, including $35,000,000 for smoke abatement, $300,000,000 for the river front memorial, $22,650,000 for improvement of the northern riverfront, and $20,000,000 for slum clearance.

Hang-Over No. 6— Under Drinking

A man can go without eating 30 days or more. Three days is the limit if he goes without water. To lose 5% body water brings hang-overs, makes one irritable and grouchy. To lose 20% is fatal. So drink more and more water. The CO² in 7-Up helps purify the body linings and the copious water sluices away the waste. The distress after eating will vanish. You need plenty of good pure water like you have in 7-Up.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS FOREST UNITS TO HAVE NINE LAKES

Creeks May Also Be Stocked With Beaver, Recreation Engineer Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HARRISBURG, Ill., March 13.—Nine lakes of from five to 20 acres each will be constructed in the two forest units in Southern Illinois by late fall, L. H. Smith, recreation engineer in the U. S. Forest Service, told members of the Izaak Walton League Saturday. Pot holes will also be made at Lusk and Bay Creeks, he said, and beaver may be placed on the creeks.

The stocking of Hungarian quail, which are larger than the American Bob White, was discussed by James Clark, secretary of the Harrisburg League.

Walter Wheatley, member of the Conservation Committee, went to Springfield last week to meet with a commission of the State Legislature to suggest needed changes in game and fish laws of this State.

CITY TO STATE ITS STAND ON BRIDGE APPROACHES

Terminal Association Asked to Call Special Directors' Meeting to Consider Matter.

A statement of the city's position, in the matter of completion of the Municipal Bridge approaches, will be prepared and submitted to the Terminal Association within a few days, Mayor Dickmann announced today. He said Henry Miller, president of the Terminal Association, would be asked to call the Terminal's board of directors together before their next scheduled meeting, which is April 12, to consider the bridge matter.

Miller and Thomas M. Pierce, counsel for the Terminal, submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday a plan for completing the approaches most immediately needed for use of the bridge by Eastern railroads, the cost, about $700,000, to be met, and all labor and equipment provided, by the Terminal, without Government or private loan. The proposal said nothing about guaranteeing tolls to the city after the bridge is placed in use.

The Board of Estimate stated that it would not consider Miller's proposal "unless and until he is in a position to say to the board that when this work is completed, the Terminal will make a minimum payment of $500,000 a year for use of the bridge, as originally agreed upon." Miller said he could not give such assurance without approval of the Terminal's directors.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN ON STAND IN INDIANA WILL CONTEST

Testifies Claimant Is Son of Wealthy Vincennes Man Who Died Last Year.

By the Associated Press.

VINCENNES, Ind., March 13.—Mrs. Eliza Manning Huff of 3509 North Ninth street, St. Louis, testifying today at the trial of the suit to set aside the will of Lawrence A. Ebner, identified Elmer Manning as one of the two children born to Ebner and Mary Alice Baker before their marriage.

The suit to set aside the will and to obtain a share in the Ebner estate was filed by Manning, a former resident of Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. Marie Curtis. Manning and Mrs. Curtis allege they are the son and daughter of Ebner, a wealthy manufacturer and business man of Vincennes who died in January, 1934.

Mrs. Huff testified Manning was placed in her care soon after his birth and was taken to Little Rock and reared there. It is alleged Ebner was of unsound mind when he made his will and that undue influence was brought by those named as beneficiaries.

CRITICISES FARM MORATORIUM AMENDMENT BUT UPHOLDS IT

Federal Judge Otis Says Parts of Act Are Unwise, Others "Almost Incomprehensible."

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 13.—Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis today upheld constitutionality of the Frazier-Lemke amendment to the Federal Bankruptcy Act, providing a five-year moratorium on farm debts.

While expressing an opinion that the act is "unwise in many of its provisions and almost incomprehensible in others," Judge Otis held Congress had power to legislate to accomplish the results intended.

The amendment previously had been upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit.

The ruling today was in the case of Harry G. Jones, a farmer near St. Joseph, who had filed a petition seeking relief from debts.

SYLVAN BEACH OPERATORS SUE IN LAND RENT DISPUTE

Say Owners Agreed to Year's Moratorium but Tried to Force Payment.

The management of Sylvan Beach, St. Louis County resort at United States, Highway No. 66 and the Meramec River, filed a petition in Federal Court today for a restraining order, to keep owners of the land from terminating the 99-year-lease on the premises, for non-payment of rent. L. W. Peters is president of the operating company, and Frank and Ethel Wiemeyer are named as owners of the land. The rental is $5000 a year, payable in quarterly installments.

Since the lease was executed in 1932, the petition says, the management has put more than $50,000 into improvement of the property. Last June the restaurant-tavern building burned, and the petition states the owners agreed to a year's moratorium on the rent, but that lately the owners brought suit in Clayton Circuit Court for $3400 rent. Judge Davis set the case for Friday and asked that the owners of the land appear in his court tomorrow morning.

COMPROMISE ENDS STRIKE OF PACKING HOUSE MEN

30 to Be Fired at Sioux Falls, S. D., but May Appeal to Regional Labor Board.

By the Associated Press.

SIOUX FALLS, S D.., March 13.—The packing house strike which has kept nearly 1500 men idle since Saturday, ended today in a compromise agreement reached at a conference called by a representative of Gov. Tom Berry.

John Morrell Co. officers and union men approved the agreement this morning. George Philip, personal representative of the Governor, had called the opposing factions into conference shortly before midnight.

The settlement will mean the discharge of 30 men, supposedly union leaders, but they will have the right to appeal to the Regional Labor Relations Board at Minneapolis which may order their reinstatement.

Seniority rights, disagreement over which precipitated the trouble, will be established by a vote of the entire personnel of the plant within 60 days.

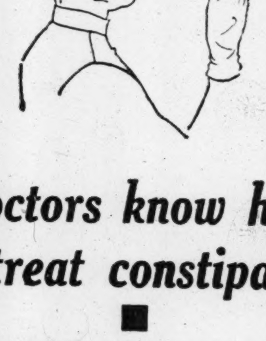
"Leave the rest to nature"



Do what a Doctor would do!

Doctors know how to treat constipation
And they use a liquid laxative

WHY do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you any treatment for constipation? Here is the reason:

Doctors and hospitals have always used liquid laxatives. So would you, if you knew how well they do their work and how much better they are for you.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all. When you have once tried this kind of comfort for yourself, you will never return to any form of help which cannot be regulated!

The liquid laxative generally relied on is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara; these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. It's the ideal family laxative because it's a family doctor's prescription.

Try Syrup Pepsin. Give regulated doses until Nature restores regularity. Those who have made the "liquid test" know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

All druggists have it

UNDERTAKER AWARDED BODY BUT CAN'T FIND IT

Rival Embalmer Also Missing in Dispute Over Burial of John Maguire.

The body of John Maguire, Negro odd-jobs man who slept in the Municipal Courts Building and who died Friday, was being sought today by the Sheriff's office, which also was looking for Mrs. Emmett Toney, Negro undertaker who last had possession of it.

Mrs. Toney failed to appear before Circuit Judge Baron today on a contempt citation for failure to obey a ruling of the court Monday that the undertaking establishment of Charles J. Gates, Negro, was entitled to the body.

An attorney for Mrs. Mattie Davis, cousin of the dead man, who authorized Gates to conduct the funeral, told the court that both the body and Mrs. Toney were missing from the Toney undertaking establishment, 3436 Lawton boulevard, when a deputy sheriff called with a copy of the court order, and the deputy has been unable to find either since.

Judge Baron continued the citation hearing until next Wednesday.

Mrs. Davis and Gates first obtained possession of the body on a replevin issued against City Hospital No. 2, where Maguire died, by Justice of the Peace Turpin. The next day Emmett J. Canty, chief parole officer of the City Courts, obtained a replevin from Justice of the Peace Walker against Gates and the Toney undertaking establishment took charge of the body. Canty said he acted for a Kirkwood woman who had employed Maguire's mother, and had promised to see that he got a proper funeral.

The case was taken before Judge Baron, who ruled that Justice Walker had acted without legal authority.

MYSTERY PLANE IS EXPECTED TO MAKE FLIGHT TO HONOLULU

Department of Commerce Continues Experiments on New Aerial Navigation Aids.

By the Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 13.—After another short test flight today by the Department of Commerce airplane trying out new aerial navigation aids, Director Eugene Vidal of the department's bureau of air commerce said the ultimate test probably would be a flight to Honolulu.

Vidal issued a statement saying the department was experimenting with flights over the Pacific Ocean with the purpose of assisting in trans-ocean aerial navigation projects—a reference to the plans of the Pan-American Airways for a regular service between here and Manila.

Two test flights have been made by the department's "mystery plane," one for four hours Monday night and the other for a little more than three hours this morning.

MAN ON TRIAL AT UNION, MO., FOR KILLING ST. LOUISAN

Walter Brandenberger Accused of Shooting Edmund E. Jobs at Meramec River Clubhouse.

By the Associated Press.

UNION, Mo., March 13.—A jury was completed this afternoon to try Walter Brandenberger, Edwardsville, Ill., charged with murdering Edmund E. Jobs, 22 years old, St. Louis, at a week-end party at a Meramec River clubhouse last fall. Prosecuting Attorneys, in opening statements, did not indicate whether the death sentence would be asked.

G. B. Hukriede, Franklin County Prosecutor, disqualified as the case was called, explaining he had been a defense attorney prior to his election. Leo A. Politte, former Prosecutor, and L. H. Breuer of Rolla were in charge of the prosecution. Sigmund Bass, St. Louis, headed the defense.

Jobs' body was found on a cottage porch near St. Clair, Mo., the night of last Aug. 4 by other members of his party, and Brandenberger had disappeared. Guests, including Mrs. Brandenberger, Edwardsville, Ill., and Miss Johanna Schalk, Miss Emma Bierber and R. W. Williams, all of St. Louis, told officers they had heard a shot a short time before the body was found.

On Aug. 11, a week after the shooting, Brandenberger surrendered to Franklin County officers, who said he admitted the shooting but insisted the shot had struck Jobs accidentally. They quoted him as saying the two had been hunting owls near the clubhouse. He explained his disappearance by saying he was in a daze after the shooting. During his absence, he said, he went to Wyoming and Colorado, but decided to return and stand trial.

Invitations to join in the movement, he said, had been sent to the Socialist party, Progressive Republicans, New Deal Dissenters, Technocrats and the EPIC party. The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Senator Huey Long, Gov. Olson of Minnesota, Upton Sinclair and Senator Nye have been invited to speak. No acceptances have been received.

U. S. STANDS FIRM ON PLANES

Insists on Free Exportation of Commercial Ships.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, March 13.—Hugh Wilson, United States Minister to Switzerland, made a determined stand at the Arms Traffic Conference yesterday to preserve the freedom of exportation for American commercial airplanes.

A British delegate formally demanded that they be treated the same as military aircraft, which means that they could be sold only to Governments. This was unsatisfactory to the American delegation. A subcommittee was appointed to seek a compromise which would meet the views of the Americans.

BOONE DESCENDANT IS 105 BUT STILL ALERT AND ACTIVE

Lives on Missouri Farm, Reads Without Glasses and Recalls Eventful Life.

By the Associated Press.

MOUND CITY, Mo., March 13.—Life can be both exciting and long when the blood of Daniel Boone stock courses the veins. Meet Hiram Boone, grandnephew of the great Scout, and claimant of 105 years. He reads without glasses, walks about the farm when the weather permits, is mentally alert (especially for good jokes) and is a proud great-great-great-grandfather.

And here are just a few things he has done since his birth near Frankfort, Ky.:

Made a four months' journey by ox-team at 19 from the site of Monmouth, Ill., to California in search of gold, fighting Indians on the way.

Returned by ship around Cape Horn to New York and by rail and stage to Illinois.

Went back to California again in 1854, was captured by Indians but slipped away although his companions were believed scalped.

Reached Monmouth at the outbreak of the Civil War, served with the First Illinois Cavalry, then the 102nd Illinois Infantry, and his clothing was bullet-pierced at Gettysburg.

Saw Lincoln in camp one day and has shaken the hands of Generals Grant and Sherman.

His grandmother lived to be 102 and his mother was 98 when she was killed in a runaway. Longevity also is upheld by his five surviving children: Mrs. Ida Carter, 83, Dawson, Neb.; Mrs. Emma Mesmore, 78, Hiawatha, Kan.; Arthur Boone, 70, who lives in Canada; E. H. Boone, 65, Mound City, and Frank Boone (he's called "the baby") who lives at Strahan, Ia., and is only 61.

ILLINOIS LEGIONNAIRES PLAN FOR ST. LOUIS CONVENTION

15,000 From "Little Egypt" Alone Expected to March in Big Parade in September.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENTON, Ill., March 13.—Plans are being worked out to assure an army of 15,000 American Legion men of "Little Egypt" to march upon St. Louis for the national convention to be held there in September.

This "Egyptian" army is expected to make up a noticeable part of the Illinois division in the big parade which is to precede the convention proper. The 15,000 will have the Sphinx for their insignia. This division has been welded into a compact organization known as the "Egyptian '35 Corporation."

The corporation has already arranged with the national convention offiicals for space for an elaborate exposition of Southern Illinois products in the St. Louis auditorium. This Fifth Division includes 115 posts in the 32 counties of the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth congressional districts. There are 25 musical organizations in the division. A musical festival will be held in July for the purpose of raising money. An "Egyptian Queen" and maids will be chosen at this gathering to accompany the delegation to St. Louis.

A. M. Carter of Murphysboro is chairman of the corporation. Other officers are: Harry Mahoney, Alton, vice-chairman; Harry D. Tindall, Murphysboro, secretary, and Ivan A. Elliott, Mount Carmel, treasurer.

TREASURER EXPECTS DROP IN SCHOOL FUNDS

4-Month Income Put at $668,000—$975,000 for Previous Period.

Income of the Board of Education for the last four months of the current fiscal year, March to June, inclusive, was estimated at $668,844 in a report to the Board last night by Secretary-Treasurer Hickey. This was slightly larger than the minimum estimate in an article on the board's finances in yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

Hickey anticipated that receipts of the four months would be divided as follows: 1934 taxes, $325,000; taxes for 1933 and earlier, $100,000; State funds, $173,844; merchants' and manufacturers' taxes, $5000; all other sources, $65,000. In contrast, income of the last four months of the preceding fiscal year was $975,222.

The cash balance at the end of the current fiscal year will be $2,900,000, Hickey estimated. This will be needed for expenses until the main volume of taxes may be collected in December. Ben Weidle, a board member, said he thought the balance might be $3,000,000. Another member has estimated it as high as $3,500,000. Hickey's statement was made to stress a desire for conservative estimates of income and the responsibility of the secretary-treasurer in calculating probable receipts.

The board approved contracts for $30,210 in equipment for new school facilities under the 1934 bond and PWA program.

Supply Commissioner Barr reported an estimate that supplies of all kinds for the next fiscal year would cost $558,700.

Termination of the services of Ernst Strehle as superintendent of landscape division Feb. 28 and of the services of 155 building maintenance workers, gardeners and others Feb. 16 was reported by Building Commissioner Sanger. The maintenance and garden force was laid off because the appropriation for that work for the year had been exhausted. Strehle, formerly city park superintendent, had been with the board since 1929.

In response to a petition from the 1910 class at Yeatman High School to restore the name of that school, the board said the name had not been officially dropped. Since 1927 Central High School has been "temporarily" at the Yeatman building, but the board pointed out that it was on record for transfer of Central to a new building when one was available. The board may award a contract this month for a new high school at Kingshighway and Arsenal street.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—With only two votes against it, the House passed yesterday the measure which provides an additional $1,750,000,000 for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

Only eight amendments were accepted. One of the last adopted raised from $25,000 to $50,000 the limit on loans—insured up to 20 per cent by the Federal Housing Administration—made by private lending agencies for repair and improvement of commercial structures.

STOCKS SHOW FAIRLY FIRM TONE IN THE LATE TRADE

Market Gives Evidence of Having Worked Itself Into an Oversold Position —Isolated Soft Spots.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 13.—A limping recovery developed in the stock market today, after scattered selling had uncovered several weak spots.

Small net gains predominated in leading issues at the finish, although some stocks were still down a point or more. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Stocks were helped by a substantial rally in cotton and a better tone in grains, but corporate bonds remained soggy, with some of the public utility holding company issues and rails notably weak. United States Governments, however, were higher. The pound sterling showed renewed stability.

News that domestic copper sales the past day or two had been the highest in months failed to help red metal shares appreciably. Despite the drop in steel ingot production, trade circles doubted that consumption had get turned down.

American Can pushed up two points and Bethlehem Steel, Sears, Deere, Case, Chrysler, Loew's, McIntyre and a few others around a point. American Telephone, Goodyear and United Fruit lost about one. Despite heaviness of rail bonds, rail shares rallied, Santa Fe getting up more than a point.

Sterling Steady Late.

Cotton scored its best recovery since Monday's break, closing with gains of $1.05@1.55 a bale. At Chicago, wheat closed ¼@1 cent a bushel higher and corn up ⅜@⅞c. Among the smaller commodity markets in New York, higher prices developed in rubber, hides, silk, copper, tin and several others.

In foreign exchanges the pound sterling was the steadiest it has been in some time, ruling in the late dealings $4.74½, up ¼ of a cent. Sterling bloc currencies generally were steady and Far Eastern silvers were higher. Gold currencies weakened, however, with the French franc slipping to a slight discount at 6.63 cents.

Weekly Trade Summaries.

Stock market circles found a few favorable items in the news as trading was resumed today, including:

The estimate of the "American Machinist" that machine orders in the first quarter of 1935 promise to be the best since 1930;

Announcement by General Motors that its foreign business in the first two months of 1935 was nearly double that period of 1934;

And the Phillips Petroleum statement for 1935 showing net of $1.38 a share against only 36 cents a share for the previous year.

On the other hand:

Electric power production was estimated at slightly below the previous week, although holding 4.7 per cent over the same week of 1934;

"Iron Age" reported a slight decline in steel production and in steel scrap prices, and said it was becoming clear that automotive demand for steel was no longer urgent.

And despite a substantial increase in gross in 1934, Borden Co. reported net of $1.02 a share, or slightly under $1.05 a share for the previous year.

AMERICAN SUGAR 1934 NET REPORTED AT $4,752,353

Company Makes Plea for Protection for Domestic Sugar Refiners.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Protection by the Government for domestic sugar refiners against Cuban, Puerto Rican and Philippine competition was asked today by the American Sugar Refining Co. in its annual report.

"It is earnestly hoped that our Government will afford early relief to domestic cane refiners," the report stated, "so that this essential American industry will not be crippled irreparably."

The report pointed out that refiners asked for relief to regain their volume and not for higher prices.

"Refined sugar prices in this country are determined by domestic competition, which is always severe," it said. "If tropical refined sugar were excluded, domestic refiners' volume would increase and their unit costs would go down.

"Restoring domestic refiners' volume would increase employment for American labor.

"This would reverse the present situation, where, with millions of Americans out of work, and billions of dollars being appropriated to provide relief for them at the expense of the Amerfican taxpayers, including the domestic sugar refiners, the United States in effect subsidizes Cuban, Puerto Rican and Philippine refiners, and permits their tropical labor to take away the jobs of American citizens heretofore normally employed in sugar refiners in this country."

The company said the Cuban refiner sends his refined sugar into the United States at a duty of .954 cents a pound while the domestic refiner pays .963 cents duty on enough Cuban raw sugar to make a pound of refined sugar in the United States.

The report shows a net profit for the American Sugar Refining Co. in 1934 of $4,752,353 against a net in 1933 of $4,801,574.

It was stated that income from all sources amounted to $6,656,175.80, equal, after interest and charges on bonds, preferred dividends and depreciation, to $3.56 a share on the common stock compared with $3.67 in 1933. Increased costs of labor and supplies, due principally to NRA and AAA, amounted to over $3 per share of common stock, it was shown.

On Jan. 1, 1935, after the close of the fiscal year, the company redeemed $1,515,000 of its bonds due in 1937, thus completing redemption of $30,000,000 in bonds issued in 1922 after war-time sugar control. In addition to the regular $7 dividend on preferred stock, dividends were paid on the common stock of $2 a share, as against the annual average of about $7 a share since the company was organized in 1891.

WHEAT AND CORN HIGHER, RYE LOWER AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Despite an abrupt weakening of the rye market, grain prices taken as a whole ruled higher today.

Prevalent belief that liberal arrivals of foreign rye would continue in the United States had much to do with weakness of the rye market. Other grain markets than rye were strengthened by reports that Argentine corn offerings were dearer, with offerings extremely light.

Wheat closed firm, ¼ to 1 cent over yesterday's finish, May 93¾@⅞c; corn ⅜@⅞c up, May 79⅞@80c; rye, ⅜ to ½c down; oats at ⅛c decline to ⅜c advance, and provisions showing 10 to 20 cents setback.

Helped by firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool, grain values in Chicago tended upward early today.

Wheat traders noted that the market here had failed to break far yesterday, and had shown power to recover from price dips. Opening unchanged to ⅝ higher, May 93½@⅝c, Chicago wheat futures showed a general upturn later. Corn started at ¼@⅝ advance, May 79½@¾, and subsequently held near this range.

A strengthening factor as to grain markets was an early rise of cotton prices. In addition, cables said the Liverpool wheat market was advancing because of larger demand for wheat in Great Britain and the Orient. There were also advices that unless the United States spring crop area northwest was favored by heavy and continuous spring rains, this year would be a repetition of the adverse crop experience of 1934.

An air pocket, however, which developed in the rye market tumbled May rye to a new low price record for the season, and caused wheat, corn and oats to drop to below yesterday's finish. Rye weakness was attributed to liquidating sales on a market nearly bare of buying orders. Contributing to general bearish sentiment was attention given assertion Canada might later on adopt an aggressive selling policy implying large wheat imports into the United States.

Provisions went lower with hogs.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 16,251,000 bushels; corn, 9,098,000. Ope ninterest in wheat was 93,084,000 bu. Open interest in wheat was 93,084,000 bu.

STEEL PRODUCTION IS DOWN, 'IRON AGE' SAYS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 13.—"Resuming the decline interrupted a week ago, steel ingot output has receded from 48½ to 47 per cent of capacity," says the "Iron Age." Light flat rolled steel production is holding at a high rate, with tin plate sheet mill operations averaging 75 per cent of capacity, but it is becoming in- creasingly evident that the needs of the automotive industry, so conspicuous a few weeks ago, are no longer urgent. Makers of full-finished sheets are booked full for the remainder of this month and some of have made commitments for April, but some producers have accumulated tonnage to forestall a material let-down in their backlogs with the passing of the first quarter shipping dead- line, March 31.

Scrap, though lethargic in most mar- kets, has lost further ground at Pittsburgh and the "Iron Age" scrap composite has receded from $11.50 to $11.42. Weakness is attributable to uncertainty as to the course of steel output, pending increases in the ore rates, the opening of lake navi- gation, the expanding output of in- dustrial material in the face of lagging consumption.

Pittsburgh off 4 points to 51 per cent, Chicago 2 points to 34 per cent in the Chicago district, and 2 points to in the Cleveland-Lorain area. up 1 point to 51 per cent in 5 points to 85 per cent in

The "Iron Age" composites for pig iron and finished steel are unchanged at $17.90 respectively. Rivet have been reaffirmed for the second quarter.

BOND LIST IS LOWER EXCEPT ON U. S. ISSUES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 13.—While U. S. Government issues were staging a moderate rally today the domestic corporate sections of the bond market continued to sag under liquidation and slack support.

In the rail group, final prices were generally above the lows, though down considerably from the previous close. Utilities were under steady pressure, and some of the lower priced loans broke sharply. At the finish Treasury loans were up 4-32nds to 14-32nds. Gains were somewhat smaller in the Liberty and guaranteed issues.

High grade issues in the industrial category did not entirely escape the selling as evidenced by fairly large losses in such issues as American Smelting 5s and Santa Fe 4s.

A decline of more than 4 points carried Columbia Gas & Electric Co. 5s down to 70½ at the close. North American 5s yielded 1½ and Detroit Edison 4½s showed a smaller loss. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s finished ¾ lower at 41½, Northern Pacific 4s down 1 at 102½ and Pennsylvania General 4½s down ¾ at 105¾.

In the Federals the most important improvement featured Treasury 3⅜s, at 107.2, up 14-32nds of a point.

The foreign list mas mixed.

DELAY ON ASSESSMENT IN COUNTY REQUESTED

Board of Equalization Rushes Petition to State Tax Commission.

The State Tax Commission was urged to defer action relative to modification of the aggregate property assessment of St. Louis County, in a resolution adopted today by the County Board of Equalization.

The board's action followed an announcement by County Counselor Mooney that he was "reliably informed" that County Assessor Neaf, accompanied by members of the County Real Estate Board, had gone to Jefferson City to request a 10 per cent cut in the aggregate property assessment of St. Louis County.

Presiding Judge Thatcher and Associate Judge Wohlschlager of the County Court, who also are members of the Board of Equalization, announced they would leave for Jefferson City immediately to present the resolution.

The board also decided to defer action on individual appeals of taxpayers for reduction of their assessments pending outcome of the matter before the State Tax Commission.

The resolution asked that the commission delay action until the county board has completed hearings of appeals by taxpayers, adding that "a large number of appeals are pending and this board believes, due to changes invoked for the first time, there are a great many inequalities in tax assessments before the board for consideration."

Mooney said that if the aggregate 1935 assessment, which is $208,459,570, were cut 10 per cent, the new assessment would be $187,613,613, or slightly lower than the 1934 figure. Since the Board of Equlization is prohibited by law from reducing the aggregate assessment below that of the previous year, he went on, the board would then be powerless to reduce any individual assessments without increasing others.

Board Not Notified.

"If the assessor is going up there to seek a blanket 10 per cent reduction," he continued, "it strikes me as fair that he should have notified this board of his intention. He has a right to be there, of course, but it would have been proper to notify us. I believe this board should be represented at the hearing."

Mooney said he had learned from the Tax Commission office that an afternoon hearing was scheduled on St. Louis County assessment matters.

Assessor Neaf, who supervised a complete reassessment of improvements on county real estate last year, resulting in an increase of more than $20,000,000 in the aggregate assessment, has been at odds with the Board of Equalization over method of procedure in hearing appeals of taxpayers, of which 723 have been filed.

HAZARD, Ky., March 13.—Two brothers, John C. and Andrew Gamble, were convicted by a jury yesterday of the murder of Joe Walker and Richmond Combs, the verdict carrying the death penalty. The prosecution charged robbery was the motive, but the brothers insisted the killing was in self-defense. It was the first death verdict in Perry County since 1912.

FEDERAL PRISON POPULATION INCREASES DESPITE REPEAL

Total Rises From 11,000 in 1934 to 14,000, Near All Time Maximum.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The Federal prison population is on the increase notwithstanding the repeal of prohibition.

Sanford Bates, director of the Bureau of Prisons, cited this situation at a recent hearing of the House Appropriations Committee, in explaining why the bureau could not give up an annex to Fort Leavenworth (Kan.), penitentiary where 1695 prisoners are housed. The annex is War Department property.

Bates said the New Orleans Federal jail recently reported it "had never had as many arrests for illegal liquor as it had that month."

The all-time maximum Federal prison population was 14,314 in June, 1932, before repeal. The total fell to 11,030 in March, 1934. The most recent check, on Feb. 22, showed 14,010 with gains each week of from 50 to 100.

WARNER BROS. ARRAIGNMENT AND TRIAL NEXT APRIL 2

Lawyers Agree Not to Offer Any Dilatory Motions When Case Is Called.

Attorneys for the defendants in the Government's anti-trust action against Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., and other motion picture companies and their executives filed a stipulation in Federal Court yesterday agreeing not to offer any dilatory motions when the case is called for trial April 2, and with that understanding the defendants will not be arraigned until the date of the trial. Arraignment had been set for next Saturday.

The stipulation set out that the attorneys were in some doubt as to the exact name of one of the corporate defendants and have been informed that this corporation does not exist. There was a reservation in the stipulation that should this be the case proper motions might be filed.

The indictment returned last January named 10 companies and six of their executives as defendants. It charged a conspiracy to violate the Sherman law by refusing to furnish films for exhibition at the Ambasador, Missouri and Grand Central theaters.

SENATE BARS MILITARY USE OF WORKS FUND

Adopts Borah Amendment Forbidding Outlay of Any of This Money for Army or Navy.

PERMITS REPAIRS AT POSTS, HOWEVER

Thomas, Utah, Obtains This Modification—Fight to Lop Off Three Billions Goes on.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Marc 13.—The Senate today amended the $4,880,000,000 works relief bill to forbid the use of money from this fund for military or naval purposes after providing that some of it could be used for repair work at military or naval posts.

Senator Huey P. Long's filibuster to delay a vote on the bill, received unexpected, and inadvertent, assistance when this new element of controversy was injected into the debate.

As the Senate resumed consideration of the measure, Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, offered an amendment prohibiting the use of any of the funds for military or naval purposes. If additional funds are to be given the army and navy, they should be provided in the army and navy appropriation bills, he said.

Clark Backs Borah Proposal.

Clark (Dem.), Missouri, warmly supported the proposal. He said it had been shown that the $250,000,000 allotted to the navy from the previous public works bill produced few new jobs, and that navy officers had acknowledged that their first object in expending the money was not to increase employment, but to strengthen the national defense.

"It is true," he said, "that funds could very well be used for certain military purposes. For example, the quarters of non-commissioned officers at Jefferson Barracks, in St. Louis, are a disgrace to the Government. But we have no assurance that these funds would be used for such a purpose. The way to provide for such improvements is to appropriate expressly for them."

Senator Thomas (Dem.), Utah, offered a substitute under which the fund could be expended for physical improvements at army posts and navy yards, but could not be used for the purchase of war materials or the construction of fighting equipment. Borah refused to accept the substitute, and demanded a rollcall.

Permits Repairs at Posts.

Adams (Dem.), Colorado, intervened to ask sarcastically: "Am I right in supposing that we passed an army appropriation bill last week providing over $400,000,000?"

"The Senator is correct," replied Chairman Glass of the Appropriations Committee.

"Then when do we take up the work-relief bill?" Adams asked.

"Oh, next week, I suppose," was the disgusted reply.

"Something has been said here about improving or expanding cemeteries," remarked Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York. "I would merely like to suggest unless we act on this bill soon the cemeteries will need expanding to take care of those who will starve to death while we are debating it."

"Well, the Senator (Copeland is a doctor) is more familiar with cemeteries than I am," retorted Ashurst, and the galleries laughed.

After more wrangling, Thomas agreed to modify his amendment so that relief funds could be used to repair army posts and military and naval reservations, but not to pay for new construction. Borah accepted that, and it was adopted.

Long Still Works for Delay.

Debate over this issue consumed an hour and a half, and Long sat quietly smiling to himself. He had not uttered a word. Earlier he had repeated to the writer his determination to postpone a vote on the McCarran amendment to the work-relief bill. This is the amendment providing for the "prevailing rate" of wages instead of the $50-a-month "security wage" desired by President Roosevelt.

In the hope of defeating the amendment, administration leaders resorted to the unusual action of refusing to make pairs for Senators Overton (Dem.), Louisiana, and Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, who are for the McCarran amendment and who are absent because of illness. Angered by this move, Long said he would "keep this thing going until pairs were granted.

Later he told the Senate that the refusal was a violation of senatorial courtesy, and "an attempt to deprive states of their representation in this body."

Resents Denial of Pairs.

"The time may come," Long said, "when some of those who are now able-bodied may become ill, and will want to be paired. As a matter of fact, I think I can speak here until some of you become ill. If this is to degenerate into an endurance contest, I imagine I will be one of the last ones left.

"Time and again these two Senators have accommodated their colleagues who could not be present, by accepting pairs with them. Senators are present now who have asked and received that courtesy from Senators Overton and Caraway.

"Who sent out the signal that there must be no pairs with supporters of the McCarran amendment? I can't find out, but I appeal to Senators not to persist in this discourtesy."

Renews College Proposal.

Long then offered an amendment providing that the $600,000,000 appropriation provided in the measure for CCC camps be cut one-half, and that $300,000,000 be used to send occupants of the camps to college. It was a modification of his proposal, previously rejected.

"Let me go into one of these camps and take a vote of the boys," Long said. "Let me ask them whether they would rather be on a college campus or out in the woods among the red bugs, the ticks and mosquitoes. I bet you 95 per cent will vote for college.

"This is also an economy measure. Which would you rather do, pay $50 a month to put a sapling into a young man's hand, or pay $15 a month to put a book in his hand? Oh, it's hard to get politicians to give money for education—there's no votes in it. Of course," he added sardonically, "by politicians, I mean men outside the Senate.

"Why just think of taking boys from Boston, Mass., or Bangor, Me., and sending them down to Louisiana to plant pine saplings. They wouldn't know the difference between a pine and a sycamore, to say nothing of a post oak, a white oak, a pin oak and a red oak. Why not enable them to stay at home among their folks and get an education instead?"

Administration forces in the Senate lined up today against an attempt to cut the approriation in the bill to $1,880,000,000.

Demands for such a reduction were backed by Democrats from both agricultural and industrial states. They began their fight late yesterday after Senator Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, had made public a report from the Treasury that $1,500,000,000 of the $3,300,000,000 appropriated for public works two years ago still is unexpended.

"We are not going to buy our way to prosperity," said Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, in urging that the new appropriation be held to $1,880,000,000. "We are going to buy our way to poverty."

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, and Senator Connally (Dem.), Texas, defended the bill against contentions that millions to be spent on Western power, irrigation and soil erosion projects would not help destitute persons in populous centers.

ANOTHER U. S. COURT HOLDS NRA NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

Judge Fake at Newark, N. J., Says It Is Unlawful Delegation of Legislative Authority and Can't Touch Intrastate Business.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., March 13.—United States District Judge Guy L. Fake gave a decision today in which he declared the National Industrial Recovery Act unconstitutional as "an unlawful delegation of legislative authority." He held further that manufacturing was not interstate commerce and that Congress had no constitutional power to regulate local businesses not in interstate commerce.

He granted Acme, Inc., of Jersey City, an injunction restraining the Government from enforcing the fabricated metal code regulating hours of labor and wages and the payment of code assessments. He also enjoined the Government from indicting or prosecuting the company for failure to comply with the code.

United States District Attorney Harlan Besson indicated he would recommend an immediate appeal.

"Codes Without Sanction."

Judge Fake in his decision said: "We can arrive at no other conclusion than that the Recovery Act is unconstitutional because it attempts an unlawful delegation of legislative authority." "The Recovery Act," he added, "and the incidental codes insofar as they attempt to regulate the hours of labor, the fixing of wages or the furnishing of so-called confidential reports thereon are without sanction under the Constitution and, therefore, are void."

Judge Fake upheld the company in its contention that it could not be compelled to furnish the code authority with certified copies of its payroll.

He referred to a similar decision given recently by United States District Judge Nields in the Weirton Steel Co. case.

"Judge Nields' ruling in the Weirton case," Judge Fake said, "has greatly simplified our work and made it unnecessary to hand down our practically completed opinion."

Power of the Courts.

Commenting on the NIRA, he said that "whenever the issue is raised as to the constitutionality of an act of Congress, the trial court is called upon to exercise tremendous power. Whether the conclusion of the Court be in the negative or the affirmative, forces are at once put into motion which may have a far-reaching and all-important effect upon the maintenance of constitutional government. Such power must of necessity exert a sobering influence on the mind and conscience of the Court."

Judge Fake said:

"We have labored in vain to conclude that it was the intent of the Constitution to pass to Congress the regulatory authority over the local, intimate and close relationships of persons and property which arise in the process of manufacture, even though they may in the broader sense affect interstate commerce.

"If they exist at all, the powers and authority attempted under the Recovery Act in relation to contracts of employment in manufacture come within the police power of the several states. As such, they are expressly reserved to the state . . . unless, and until perchance an amendment may revolutionize the relation which the Federal Government now bears to the several states."

MISSOURI HOUSE VOTES, 74-71, FOR 2 PCT. SALES TAX

Administration Victory — Yesterday Poll Was 75 to 61 to Reconsider Approval of Amendment.

TWO REPUBLICANS HELP PUT IT OVER

Still of Kirksville and Maples of Christian County —Rollcall Climaxes Two-Hour Debate.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 13.—The House adopted late today the amendment to the sales tax bill, fixing the rate at 2 per cent, by a vote of 74 to 71. It was a victory for administration leaders after their reversal yesterday when the members voted 75 to 61 for reconsideration of the vote by which the amendment was first adopted last Wednesday.

Gov. Park and administration leaders in the House, notwithstanding two reverses yesterday, conferred last light on methods of gaining additional support for the 2 per cent rate. Those attending were Democratic Floor Leader Roy Hamlin of Marion County and Representatives V. E. Phillips of Kansas City and Robert M. Talbert of Cape Girardeau. Hamlin and Phillips have been handling the bill on the floor of the House with indifferent success so far.

Prior to the afternoon session today, the Democratic majority held another caucus on the sales tax question. Most of the group opposed to a 2 per cent rate declined to participate.

Statement by Park.

Following last night's conference the Governor said he still thought the House would eventually pass a bill with the 2 per cent rate. He said he believed some of the members who voted for a reconsideration of the vote by which the 2 per cent amendment was first adopted, would finally vote for a 2 per cent rate. Some of them, he said, were not satisfied with the amounts apportioned to school funds in the pending amendments but he thought amendments could be revised to conform with their wishes.

The amendment distributing the funds, as originally prepared, provided that 30 per cent should go for relief, 10 per cent each for old age pensions and care of the insane poor and 50 per cent for schools, of which half would go to the general school fund for distribution among the various districts and the other to a special fund to enable various municipalities to apply for relief and reduce local school taxes.

Willing to Give Schools More.

The Governor said he thought the amounts alloted to the school funds might have to be increased somewhat. With this change, he was confident that the 2 per cent rate would eventually pass.

A sales tax bill with a 2 per cent rate is pending in the Senate. Indications are that the bill finally agreed on will be the Senate bill, with some amendments. The Senate bill was introduced by 14 of the 34 Senators and thus needs only four more votes for a majority, although some of the Senators opposed to a 2 per cent rate may have taken heart as a result of the setback this rate received in the House yesterday.

The first jolt to administration leaders in the House was administered when the House, by a vote of 75 to 61, reconsidered its action of a week ago in adopting a 2 per cent rate, and thereby reopened the question of the rate. The second one was delivered when about 25 members of the Democratic majority, led by Representative John D.

PROTEST BY AUSTRIA ON HITLER'S REMARK

He Is Said to Have Pointed Lesson in Events in the Saar.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, March 13.—The Austrian Government has protested to Germany against a statement which Adolf Hitler is reported to have made concerning Austria.

Characterizing the remark as "interference," the protest referred to a conversation between Hitler and Major Arthur Hennessey, head of the Saar Civil Police, in which the former was quoted as saying: "What happened in the Saar is significant for Austria."

Stefan Tauschitz, Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs in the Austrian Government and former Austrian Minister to Germany, called at the Berlin Foreign Office with the protest.

The German Foreign Office said Hitler's statements were only private. The Austrian Government, it was learned, maintains that the German Press Bureau issued the statement on the order of Hitler.

The German Press Bureau defended the Hitler statement on the ground that Hitler had not mentioned Austria specifically, but merely had emphasized the consequences of the oppressive policy of certain countries, as illustrated in the Saar.

Hitler is also reported to have complained bitterly that some of his relatives were imprisoned in Austria.

Tauschitz said Hitler's idea regarding his relatives was "greatly exaggerated" and that only two of them had ever been arrested, even on suspicion.

FEDERAL 'POLICE FORCE' HAS GROWN TO 40,000

Largest Units Include Coast Guard, Special Agents; Eight Protect Paper in U. S. Securities.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The "police" forces of the Federal Government, a survey of the current budget disclosed today, have increased until now 40,000 are employed.

Eight men are employed to guard "the distinctive paper for U. S. securities."

Sixty-one are on duty at the National Capitol.

The largest units include the Coast Guard, the Department of Justice's special agents, the immigration border patrol, the metropolitan police force of the District of Columbia, the national forest patrol, the steamboat inspection service, the division of meat inspection and the bureau of customs inspection.

Then there are 963 United States marshals and 970 district attorneys and employes.

The Canal Zone is policed by 192 special officers; the Treasury by 87 guards; the Bureau of Printing and Engraving by 84; the Mint and Assay offices by 55.

On the Government payroll, there are 190 Indian police and 1415 to man the Government penitentiaries and jails; there are 14 guards stationed at St. Elizabeth's Hospital to guard the insane charged to the care of the Federal Government.

TABLETS ASCRIBED TO BIBLICAL TIMES FOUND IN PALESTINE

Writings List Famous Israelites of Period of Kingdom of Judah.

By the Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, March 13 (Palcor Agency)—What possibly is an important corroboration of the Bible during the period of the Kingdom of Judah was made known here today with the discovery at Tel Adduweir, midway between Beersheba and Gaza, of archives with Hebrew inscriptions which give the names of the most famous Israelites mentioned during that period in the Scriptures.

The discovery was made by a British archeological expedition headed by J. L. Starkey. Hitherto, discovery of written documents of the Biblical period has been rare and pottery usually has been the only available witness of the Bible stories. The archeology of the period of the Kings has disclosed only two or three inscriptions.

The British expedition has been seeking light on Biblical history at Tel Adduweir, known in ancient times as Lachish, for some time.

The remains of the Kingdom of Judah period date back to between 900 and 600, B. C. The outstanding discoveries are the archives with Hebrew inscriptions, apparently belonging to the leading Prince of Judah, which were engraved on porcelain in the ancient Hebrew script in choice Biblical language and of a date prior to the First Temple Era.

Part of these inscriptions appears to be an exchange of correspondence between the Viceroy of Lachish and the King of Jerusalem, as the names of famous Israelites of that period who are mentioned in the Scriptures also occur in the tablets.

The find is regarded by Palestinian archeologists as one of the most valuable ever made in this country.

MISSOURI HOUSE PASSES BILL BASED ON COUNTY BOMBINGS

Measure Would Make Possession "With Intent to Use Unlawfully" a Felony.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 13.—The House unanimously passed a bill today making it a felony to possess a bomb "with intent to use it unlawfully against the person or property of another." The penalty would be a penitentiary sentence of two to 10 years.

The measure was sponsored by Representative Crain of St. Louis County who said he introduced it in view of the series of bombings of partly constructed buildings in St. Louis County recently.

ROOSEVELT UNCERTAIN OF NEXT STEP ON GOLD

Still Studying Supreme Court Decision; Many Conferences With Advisers.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Roosevelt said today he was still studying the Supreme Court's gold clause decision with reference to what action the Government may take as a result of that decision.

The President indicated that he has been having numerous conferences with aids in the Department of Justice and the Treasury. The issue raised by the Supreme Court, which held the gold clause valid and put it up to the "conscience of the sovereign," was brought more sharply before the Government by the suit filed in the Court of Claims on Monday by Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati. Taft, a son of the late Chief Justice Taft, questions the authority of the Treasury to call gold clause obligations for redemption prior to maturity unless prepared to pay in gold of the value at the date the security was issued.

Asked specifically at his press conference whether he had decided to seek a substantive law preventing suits on the gold clause in the Court of Claims, President Roosevelt said he had not yet come to a decision. With his advisers he is exploring the various legal ramifications of the gold clause question he said.

He intimated that it might be some time before the Government would decide what steps it would take to meet the problem that the court raised.

Those recently in conference at the White House on the gold clause problem were Attorney-General Cummings, Secretaries Morgenthau and Hull, Herman Oliphant, general counsel of the Treasury; Undersecretary of the Treasury Coolidge, Stanley Reed, general counsel for the RFC, and Angus McLean, Assistant Solicitor-General. Both McLean and Reed argued the gold clause cases before the Supreme Court.

URUGUAY PROTESTS TO LEAGUE

Refuses to Enforce Arms Embargo Against Paraguay.

GENEVA, March 13.—Uruguay notified the League of Nations today that it did not intend to impose the League's arms embargo against Paraguay unless neighboring South American nations enforced a similar embargo against Bolivia.

A League committee appointed to study of the war in the Chaco between Paraguay and Bolivia decided in January to lift the embargo against Bolivia but to maintain it against Paraguay on the ground that Paraguay had not fulfilled its League obligations.

Successors of Jay Gould.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

YOUR editorial about Mr. Kurn and the Frisco system was just in time, while we were reading on your front page what the bankers of Wall Street had done to the Frisco.

This is not news to anyone of the older generation. It has been going on since 1879, when Jay Gould and his band of hijackers plundered everything they laid their hands on. The set of bankers having to do with the railroads at present are proceeding along the same lines. The only difference is that today there is far more wealth to be obtained by the hijackers than there was in Gould's day. These men will continue their tactics as long as the law of the land permits them to do so.

Mr. Kurn knows all this; so does every railroad official in the land. As Mr. Kurn so clearly shows, after getting rid of banker control, then and only then will the roads pay. When the railroads were the only means of transportation, they made plenty of money. Yet the bankers thought nothing of wrecking them. Don't think for a second these men have reformed; they are on the inside and they always get away with their ill-gotten gains.

As to the condition of the roadbeds: most of them must be rebuilt. They are unsafe in their present state. The bankers are only waiting for Uncle Sam to take them over; then these gentry will continue their shell game in other fields.

OLD TELEGRAPHER.

What Was Done With the Money?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE recent agitation relative to the smoke problem recalls to my mind that some years ago there was a rather substantial sum of money raised by popular subscription for the elimination of the smoke evil.

If I am correct about this, I think the amount raised was approximately $250,000 and I think I was one of the subscribers. At any rate, I am curious to know who got the money and what was done with it, if anything.

CURIOUS.

What Justice Holmes Did.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOW that the share-the-wealth movement occupies public attention, it might not be amiss to consider the significant fact that one of the noblest of all Americans, Justice Holmes, left half of his estate to his country.

OBSERVER.

Departure of the "Cape."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHEN the steamer Cape Girardeau departs for the Ohio River late this month, St. Louis will have lost one of the greatest boats that ever made this city her home port. For 10 years the "Cape" has made herself famous, and has kept St. Louis' river reputation alive. Now she is lost to this city because we haven't realized the pleasures of river vacations, because we haven't sufficiently advertised the beauty of the upper river, which is comparable with the loveliest scenery in the world.

Unending praise should go to Capts. Henry and William Leyhe, who have kept their boats running through the lean depression years, and we hope the loss of the "Cape" will merely bring about plans for a finer and faster boat, equipped with every device developed in recent years to increase speed and comfort.

St. Louis is coming out of the depression. A beautiful new waterfront and sufficient publicity should bring adequate patronage to make upper river trips profitable. The Eagle Packet Co. is old and famous in tradition. We sincerely hope the gold ball will keep rolling on the Mississippi forever, as it should so rightly.

JAMES V. SWIFT.

Addendum.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

FORCING their way through funeral processions is of too frequent occurrence by some automobile drivers, despite a prohibitive ordinance. Add this to the reasons "Why Death Fails to Take a Holiday in St. Louis' Streets."

HARRY S. SHARPE.

Another Postoffice Casualty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE shades of Burleson and Selph seem still to hover over the postoffice. Another sub, after six years of faithful service, is "charged" with slouching at his work, etc. Significantly, he was a union leader who asked for decent working conditions. In my 30-odd years of service, I worked for good postmasters and bad. I admire the courage of these young men who stand against a system which makes their country's most serviceable institution a political football—a reward for political campaign managers. But, alas, young men, one by one you will be charged with "inefficiency" and "insubordination"—and fired. Perhaps in the end you will be forgotten martyrs to a new and better postal administration, wherein postmasters and Postmasters-General must also have some real qualifications for their jobs.

RETIRED.

AN AMAZING DEVELOPMENT.

The story of how Uncle Sam, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has become the controlling factor in the St. Louis gas situation, was told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

It reads like a fairy story. The RFC lent $90,000,000 to the Central Republic Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago, of which Charles G. Dawes, former Vice-President of the United States, was the head. Dawes had shortly before resigned as chairman of the RFC.

The Harley Clarke interests, which controlled the gas utility in St. Louis, superimposed three other corporations upon the operating company. The topmost of these, the Webster Corporation, had previously borrowed $2,000,000 from the Dawes bank. The Webster Corporation posted as collateral with the bank stocks in its subsidiaries, including a majority of the stock of the holding company for Laclede Gas Light Co. When the bank failed to repay its loan, the RFC placed its own people in charge of it. They, in turn, became the controlling factor in the management of the corporations whose stock secured the $2,000,000 loan.

Thus Uncle Sam became the gas man in St. Louis. He got here by a way as devious as anything in the Arabian Nights. Truth is stranger than fiction, and this story proves it. Nothing was farther from the thought of the Government when it went to the relief of faltering corporations in the United States than that it should go into the railroad business, as it did when it took over the Moffatt road, or that it should go into the gas business in St. Louis when it lent money to a bank in Chicago. Yet this is what happened.

The question is how this situation will affect the fuel condition in St. Louis. In all the discussions of natural gas, the insuperable barrier has been Laclede. Laclede has a valuation for rate-making purposes of $39,000,000. It has an extensive artificial gas plant. It has a distributing system. When Charles Munroe came to St. Louis to exploit the property, Laclede was not over-capitalized. Munroe and Harley Clarke watered the corporation twice. Together, they increased the securities of the corporation 98 per cent. Munroe took out $14,000,000. But it appears that bigger financial fish than Clarke took him for a trimming, as they say in Wall Street.

Now both are out. The Post-Dispatch, which has been aware of this impossible situation, has urged the municipality to buy Laclede's property and pay the corporation a fair price for it. It has given this advice because the gas-distributing system owned by Laclede is indispensable to cheap gas in the city. No pipe line company is going to bring natural gas into the city while Laclede owns the distributing system. This was proved by the testimony of the Mississippi Fuel Corporation. It sells natural gas to Laclede for 22.9 cents a thousand cubic feet. Laclede mixes it with artificial gas and sells it to the consumer for more than $1 a thousand cubic feet.

The RFC does not want to go into the gas business in St. Louis. It desires only to recover the money it has put into Laclede through the various holding and financing corporations superimposed upon the operating company. There are other investors whose interest is far greater than that of the Government. The time is opportune for the city to enter into negotiations for the property. Once the Laclede distributing plant is in its hands, the city will be free to deal with the various corporations which would like to sell natural gas to St. Louis. Its freedom will be the beginning of a solution to the smoke problem. So long as the city is bound, and the gas distributing system is in the hands of others, even the RFC, there can be no such beginning. It is time to buy.

Meanwhile, meet Uncle Sam, the new St. Louis gas man.

106 TO 7.

State Representative Brinkman's joint resolution to amend the Missouri Constitution to permit the establishment of mutual savings banks and savings bank life insurance has passed the House by the overwhelming vote of 106 to 7. It is to be hoped that the Senate will speedily concur. As we have pointed out, adoption of the resolution by the Legislature would do no more than submit the question to the voters at the next general election. The fine record of mutual savings banks in 18 states commends this type of banking to the consideration of Missouri.

TWO DANGEROUS BILLS.

Senators Frost and Quinn have introduced two bills concerning the administration of estates in Missouri, which have in them very dangerous possibilities. The bills—Senate bills No. 137 and 138—are being held in the Senate Committee on Wills and Probate Law.

Senate bill No. 137 provides that, in all cases where a will is contested, the estate shall be administered by the Public Administrator during the period of such contest, and that the Public Administrator shall be entitled to reasonable compensation and expenses, as well as compensation for his attorney. Under the bill, the only limit to what the Public Administrator might charge the estates so administered is the vague one of "reasonableness."

To gain a proper understanding of this bill, it should be recalled that, prior to 1925, it was mandatory upon the Probate Judge to appoint administrators pending will contests, a condition that gave rise to many abuses. The law was changed in that year to provide for the appointment of administrators pending will contests only in cases where the executor had an interest in the estate adverse to a contestant, thus safeguarding most contested estates from large and unnecessary fees.

The administration of an estate pending a will contest consists largely in acting as custodian of assets and as a collection agency. It does not involve the problems of real administration which arise after the litigation is ended. It is, for the most part, a taskless job.

If Senate bill No. 137 would constitute a plum tree for Public Administrators, its companion, No. 138, was designed to make the tree even fruitier. Under the bill as introduced, a Public Administrator, regardless of the size of the estate, would give a general bond of not more than $200,000. Yet he would be permitted to charge an estate the amount of premium on the bond which would have been required if he had not given the general bond. Thus, on an estate of $5,000,000, the general bond would provide protection only up to $200,000, while the administrator could charge the estate a premium on a mythical bond of $10,000,000, twice the entire value of the estate. The Senate committee has amended No. 138 to leave the Court free to provide adequate coverage.

These bills would not deserve serious consideration were it not for the fact that often, in the absence of public vigilance, vicious laws slip through legislatures. In this instance, fortunately, the Legislature is on guard.

THE HOLDING COMPANY MESSAGE.

It was expected that President Roosevelt would go to the defense of the bill to regulate public utility holding companies, since resistance to the measure had become so powerful that only the prestige of the White House could hope to save it.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement to Congress is eminently fair. He makes a distinction between useful holding companies which integrate some of the utilities over vast geographical areas, and those which merely serve the purpose of financial control. He also points out that in the five-year trial period proposed by the bill, all the holding companies will have ample time in which to justify themselves, if they can do so.

The President charges the opponents of the bill with making propaganda "to exploit the most far-fetched and fallacious fears," and he says of the funds used to fight the bill that "I have watched the use of investors' money to make the investor believe that the efforts of the Government to protect him are designed to defraud him." Congressman Rayburn, sponsor of the bill, recently expressed surprise that any utility investor should be opposed to it. He insists that it is in defense of the investor, who has been the worst sufferer from pyramiding abuse.

Will the holding company measure destroy legitimate business or wholesome and productive investment? The President says No. Neither will it destroy "any actual value of those operating properties which holding companies now control and which holding company securities represent, in so far as they have any value." He insists that the measure will surround the necessary reorganization of the holding company with safeguards which will in fact protect the investor. He does not think the holding company should be permitted to "establish a sphere of influence from which independent engineering, construction and other private enterprise is excluded by a none too benevolent private paternalism." Finally, he says:

> I am against private socialism of concentrated private power as thoroughly as I am against governmental socialism. The one is equally as dangerous as the other; and destruction of private socialism is utterly essential to avoid governmental socialism.

Whether we like it or not, it was inevitable that the nation should come to grips with so great an evil as that which grew up in holding company practices. The President calls it "one of the laxities in our corporate law which have brought us to our present disgraceful condition of competitive charter-mongering between our states."

So it is. It is as essential to public decency that something should be done about it as it was that something should be done to separate legitimate securities from cats and dogs.

DEATH IN THE STREETS.

Director McDevitt of the Department of Streets and Sewers has prepared a documented analysis of traffic accidents in St. Louis during 1934 which ought to be read by the members of the Missouri Legislature, by the city administration and by everybody that drives an automobile.

Death takes no holiday in the streets of St. Louis. Instead, it is more grimly energetic.

The figures, as set forth in the magazine section of the Post-Dispatch last Sunday, tell the story with terrifying eloquence.

There were 9572 automobile accidents in St. Louis last year, 1729 more than in 1933. There were 1072 more automobile injuries and 1228 more City Hospital traffic cases than in 1933.

There were 170 deaths from automobile accidents, 10 more than in 1933. There were 819 apprehensions of drinking drivers, 170 more than the year before, and 311 acutely drunk offenders, or 86 more.

Drivers fled the scene in 412 accidents, in 39 instances after hitting pedestrians.

In the face of such appalling evidence, it is impossible to understand how any man in official position would hesitate to approve any remedial measure competently proposed.

Mr. McDevitt's recommendations must, in the circumstances, be regarded as challenging consideration. His report suggests a drivers' license law. Can the Legislature decline to act on that suggestion?

The practice of "fixing," which, the Mayor recently declared, with emphasis, must stop, is something that can and surely ought to be stopped. In every case of "fixing," political influence is necessarily involved. It may be argued that, on many occasions, the waiver of a summons, or a compromised settlement, is simply a personal favor free of any sinister quality, in no wise adverse to public policy.

That viewpoint is fallacious, and that reasoning is intrinsically vicious. If "fixing" is tolerated at all, there is practically no end to it. It is a special privilege which public opinion should unqualifiedly condemn, which no individual citizen should acquiesce in, a crime for which any implicated public servant, whatever his office, should be summarily removed.

Returning to Mr. McDevitt's report, the Legislature knows that the 412 drivers who fled the scene of accident last year ought not to be permitted to drive automobiles. An examination for a driver's license might not determine that fact, but the penalty of forfeiture of the right to drive a car would get rid of many of them.

We have with us, too, the drinking and the drunken driver—819 of the former, 311 of the latter. What are we to do with the drinking driver? Prohibition is no answer. He was here under prohibition, but he is more numerous now, a significance not to be lightly dismissed. But the drunken driver cannot be patiently discussed. He is quite beyond the pale. The only way to deal with him is to deny him the legal permission to drive an automobile.

Legislature, City Hall, courts, Police Department, public opinion, individual self-respect—to those agencies must we look to curb, in some measure, the dreadful slaughter of the streets.

UNCLE SAM GOT HOLD OF SOMETHING.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

Huey Long's Economic Scheme

SENATOR HUEY LONG'S radio speech exploited two themes which have a powerful popular appeal. First, he attacked the New Deal where it is most vulnerable: that is, for its centralization of power in Washington and for its measures to limit the production of wealth. "Everything from a peanut stand to a power house," he said, "had to have a separate book of rules and laws to regulate what they did."

Along with this regulation, he denounced the measures for "plowing up cotton, corn and wheat and for pouring milk in the river and for destroying and burying the hogs and cattle by the million while the people starve to death and go naked."

This first part of the speech contained no criticism of the administration which has not been made in essence by countless others. While the Senator's language was more picturesque and his statements of fact more reckless than that of other critics, the worst that can be said of it is that it was a demagogic presentation of ideas that are held by Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mills, Senator Borah and Senator Glass, and, if the truth were told, by many who are high in the councils of the administration.

Some defense can be made for the extension of the Federal power in certain cases and some defense can be made for the limitation of certain crops, but that the centralization of power and the limitation of production were carried to unreasonable lengths cannot, I believe, be disputed.

The Senator's other theme was an exposition of his plan to "share our wealth." Here the Senator made a mistake. He described his plan. He not only described it in general terms, but got down to specific cases. I quote from his speech:

"Let's say that Mr. Henry Ford should show that he owned all the stock of the Ford Motor Co. and that it is worth two billion dollars, we will say. He could claim, say, $4,000,000 of the Ford stock, but $1,996,000,000 would go to the United States."

Let us look at this proposal, passing over the question whether the Ford Motor stock is "worth" what he says it is. If Senator Long's plan were put into effect, the United States would find itself the owner of 99.8 per cent of the stock of the Ford company. The Senator then proposes to use that "wealth" to give everyone a homestead free of debt, a college education, a good income and an old-age pension. With what? With the stock of the Ford company.

Now this stock is the ownership of an automobile plant, and the problem for Senator Long is to show how a two-billion-dollar automobile plant can be transformed into 400,000 "homesteads." How does he do that? How is he going to make a factory that produces cars produce houses? It must be plain to anyone that if the Ford company is "worth" two billion dollars, it cannot be used to produce two billion dollars' worth of homesteads.

The only part of the Ford wealth that could be used for homesteads are the profits. They cannot be more than a trifling fraction of Huey Long's two billions, and so, when he promises the people nearly two billions of homesteads, college education and old-age pensions from sharing Mr. Ford's wealth, he may be deceiving himself, and he is certainly deceiving the people.

However, let us suppose that the Government under Huey Long's plan did own 99.8 per cent of the Ford company and was therefore entitled to 99.8 per cent of Mr. Ford's profits. What would happen then? Would Mr. Ford and his son go on running the Ford plant and producing the profits? The Senator ought to ask Mr. Ford. I suspect that Mr. Ford would say to the Government: "Well, now you own all but two-tenths of 1 per cent of my business. You run it and see how much profit you can make. I'll retire on the $4,000,000 which the Senator says I may keep."

Now suppose that not only Mr. Ford did this but that it was done also by General Motors and every other motor car company and by all the thousands of other companies doing business in the country. The United States would be owning and operating every kind of business imaginable. For the practically 99 per cent of the stock of all the corporations owned by the United States, the Government would have to take the responsibility of operating what it owned.

Now there are people who believe that the United States ought to operate practically all business. They are Communists. They believe in dictatorship and they believe in regimentation, but Huey Long, in the first part of his speech, denounced the New Dealers because "they started the dictatorship to regiment business and labor much more than any known in Germany and Italy."

He denounced the "rule books" which take "40 lawyers to tell a shoe shiner merchant how to operate and be sure he didn't go to jail." He cried out against "the Farleys and Johnsons," who "comb the land with agents, inspectors, supervisors, detectives, secretaries, assistants and so forth."

And yet here is Huey Long proposing to have the United States own 99.8 per cent of the stock of all, even moderately big corporations, and therefore to take on the job of seeing that they run successfully. How many agents, inspectors, supervisors, secretaries and assistants does he think it would take to do that?

The Senator says that his heart is touched by the suffering of the poor. If that is what moves him, then is it decent, is it human, to go to the poor and promise them things that are absolutely and utterly impossible under the plan proposed by the Senator? This is not bread for the hungry but a stone. This is not water for the thirsty but a mirage. This is not rest for the weary but disappointment.

It is cruel to deceive the people, and whether the deception be sincere or insincere, inspired by an honest desire to help the people or by a lust for personal power, it is no less a fraud and a fake.

However, if only the Senator will continue to explain his plan, he will do himself what Dr. Townsend did when he came down from the clouds and tried to explain his plan. My suggestion, therefore, is that the Senator be asked to draw a bill to carry out his scheme, and that he be given a hearing and invited, and, in fact, forced, to explain it. For the more he explains it, the more quickly he will explode it.

His radio speech was a very good beginning and fully justifies those who have decided that the best way to put Huey Long on the spot is to put the spotlight right on him.

Pass the Code Reform Bills!

From St. Louis Chamber of Commerce News.

THE action of the House of Representatives in voting last week to place on the calendar seven of the criminal law reform measures proposed by the Missouri Bar Association was one of the most heartening developments during this session of the State Legislature. All eight of the bills now are on the calendar, as one of them, No. 267, authorizing the fingerprinting of any person charged or suspected of committing a felony and sending of the fingerprints to the Bureau of Identification in Washington—had previously been reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee, with three amendments.

While there is no assurance that any of the bills will be passed, there is encouragement in the fact that the House voted unanimously to restore six of the bills to the calendar. Gov. Park, speaking Friday night at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed the opinion that the measures would be enacted into law. Support for the bills that has come from numerous quarters includes the sweeping approval given them three weeks ago by the chamber's Executive Committee, which considered them necessary to improve criminal procedure and trial.

Briefly stated, the essential purposes of these measures are to give the public an equal footing with criminals in the legal warfare against crime, which is admittedly one of the most serious problems that the country is compelled to deal with at present. Enactment of these bills into law would tend toward reducing the deadly toll of crime, and also the cost of criminal trials. They would plug up loopholes that have heretofore given criminals an advantage over officers of the law and the courts.

Three of the measures—House bills 262, 263 and 264—are designed to eliminate obvious weaknesses from the present bail-bond system of Missouri. Four of the remaining measures—House bills 265, 266, 268 and 269—would, if passed, effect other important changes in the criminal law.

Courts would be empowered to decide whether separate trials should be granted in joint indictments. The prosecutor would be permitted to comment on the failure of wife or husband to testify. Defense of insanity would have to be specified in writing at least 10 days before trial. In a case where an alibi defense was to be presented, the defendant, within 10 days after a statement by the prosecuting attorney setting forth the precise time and place of the alleged felony, would be required to file a statement giving his alibi.

These proposed changes in the criminal law would not jeopardize any honest or legitimate defense. They would not prevent a fair trial for any defendant. They would, however, give the public greater protection against crime. All eight of the measures should be enacted into law.

IN THE NAME OF DEFENSE.

From the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier-Express.

ALL that Japan has done has been in the name of defense. Stalin increases Russia's army to nearly 1,000,000 men and is developing one of the world's greatest air armies, all for defense. France and Italy go armed to the teeth for purposes of defense. Germany trains its citizens in ways of war for purposes of defense. The United States spends more millions today than it ever did in times of peace on preparations for war, but only for purposes of defense. Sabers rattle everywhere in the name of defense. No one wants war, and yet if a chip is not on every shoulder, one is within easy reach.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, March 13.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT had a surprise up his sleeve for "The Man" Bilbo.

The little, red necktie-wearing Mississippian was officially let in on the secret today.

There was virtual certainty that Bilbo was not going to be pleased with the surprise.

The surprise package is the news that the President has named former Senator Hubert D. Stephens to one of the two long-pending vacancies on the RFC board.

Bilbo defeated Stephens last year after a bitter fight.

One of the high-lights of the contest was Bilbo's promise to his fellow Mississippians that if elected he would "run every Stephens' appointee out of Washington."

Now to have his foe himself appointed to one of the choicest jobs in the New Deal is going to be gall and wormwood to Bilbo.

Hopkins Relief.

AMONG persons urgently in need of relief these days are Harry Hopkins and his staff.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration is tired of marking time. For weeks its personnel has been trying to spread three hours' work over a whole day, much as their "cases" try to make one square meal do for a day.

They have spent their spare time reading newspapers, writing poetry or talking about the McCorran amendments, wondering when the Senate finally would pass the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill so they can get busy.

Strange Allies.

COTTON share-croppers of Arkansas, many of them ousted from their tenant farms under conditions of extreme hardship, have found an unexpected ally in one of the most powerful insurance companies in the United States—Metropolitan Life.

Furthermore, Metropolitan Life is particularly siding with the Negro share-croppers.

Reason is the fact that Metropolitan owns large areas of Arkansas cotton land, taken over as a result of defaulted mortgages. On this land it has established Negro farmers, helped them with tools and seed to raise cotton.

Now the cotton curtailment program of the AAA has hit them hard. What has been particularly galling is alleged discrimination on the part of white planters against Metropolitan and its Negro tenants.

Whenever possible, it is claimed, acreage reduction is worked out at the expense of Metropolitan's land.

Tenant Riots.

MEANWHILE, reports of threats by dispossessed cotton tenants cause more and more alarm to AAA officials.

The Southern Tenant Farmer Association has been aggressively organizing. Ward Rogers, one of its leaders, has been convicted of [illegible]. A stringent sedition bill has passed the Arkansas Legislature and is pending in the Senate.

Observers recently returned from Arkansas have informed New Deal officials that the calling out of troops would not surprise them.

Note: Huey Long, during his attack on Senator Robinson, was urged by some of his friends to use the plight of the Arkansas cotton croppers as ammunition against the Senator from Arkansas. Huey, however, shied away. He has similar potential trouble in Louisiana.

Campaign Manager.

EMERGING from the Senate chamber after his bitter encounter with Floor Leader Joe Robinson, Huey Long was stopped by an excited woman.

"Senator," she demanded, "is it true that you plan to go into Arkansas next year and oppose the re-election of Senator Robinson?"

The Kingfish looked his interrogator over blandly, replied:

"Madam, I make a business of being a political manager. As such I have taken over the management of Senator Robinson's campaign and I am in a position to inform you that he will not run for re-election next year."

Same Old Bird.

THAT double-barrel shotgun Don Richberg was supposed to be going to use on the Blue Eagle when he appeared before the Senate Finance Committee turned out to be nothing more than a pea-shooter.

There was a lot of noise but nothing really happened.

Curbing of price-fixing practices, increased Government control over code authorities, clarification of Section 7A, anti-monopoly safeguards and other widely demanded changes in the law were all side-stepped by the "Assistant President."

His chief proposal—the much ballyhooed discarding of "service trade" codes—actually is old stuff. Gen. Johnson junked these codes a year ago.

All Richberg proposed was that the Government remove claim of legal jurisdiction over these trades—hotels, taxis, beauty parlors, barber shops, etc.

And in doing this the Administration merely is trying to beat the gun on a practically certain legal rebuff.

These trades fall in the category of intra-state commerce.

Government lawyers are agreed that the Supreme Court would hold that Federal law has no authority over such business and that the codes are unconstitutional.

One thing, however, Richberg did not tell the committee, though the fact is known to several of its members. This is the fact that the Administration—secretly desirous of having the NIRA renewed for another two years in substantially its present form—has prepared a bill to accomplish this and will spring it on the committee as its hearings near a close.

Merry-Go-Round.

SECRETARY SWANSON prides himself on pronouncing Honolulu with the first syllable sounded Hone instead of Hon. . . . Visiting the Senate galleries, Mrs. Meredith Nicholson, wife of the Hoosier author and diplomat, came away saying she thought it is a disgrace that anyone should laugh at the antics of Huey Long, that to do so merely "flattered the vanity of the clown." . . . Senate page boys get their schooling either by attending night school or by working with a tutor. . . . The White House recently received a letter from someone who apparently was steeped in history. It was addressed: "The President, Mount Vernon." . . . The FERA has received a letter addressed to "General Hopkins, Dictator, Washington, D. C." . . . Dr. Townsend has received a letter supporting his pension plan and asking for consideration for the writer: "I am a niece of Abraham Lincoln, and also a great-granddaughter of his stepmother, Sarah Bush Lincoln, born in the log cabin built by Thomas Lincoln and his son, Abraham Lincoln, in 1931 on Goose Nest Prairie." . . . When spring hit town one day last week, the President opened his press conference with the announcement that he had seen a robin and a crocus. . . . On the same day Secretary Wallace wanted to play hookey for the afternoon, leave his press conference to his Nordic publicity expert, Al Stedman. . . . No Senator ever says to a colleague, "Let's go down to the refectory," but that is the original designation of the Senate Restaurant. . . . The word still stands inscribed on a golden scroll over the door. . . . The salary paid to each of the members of the Board of Commissioners who govern the District of Columbia is $9000.

BOARD PRAISES TEACHER WHO SERVED 51 YEARS

Record of Mrs. Mary P. Miller Termed "Experience Almost Unique in System's Annals.

Mrs. Mary P. Miller, 5952 Pershing avenue, who resigned as a school teacher Jan. 28 after 51 years of service, was congratulated on her good record by the Board of Education last night. She became a teacher at the Blair School, 2707 Rauschenbach avenue, on Lincoln's birthday, 1884, and had been at the same school ever since, except for two months in 1888. The original portion of this school was erected two years before she was employed and since then five additions have been built.

"This experience of 51 years in one school," the board said of Mrs. Miller, "is almost unique in the annals of the system. Not often does any one have so rare an opportunity. Through this long period Mrs. Miller faithfully impressed the influence of her teaching upon the minds and hearts of hundreds of children, many of whom are now the school's patrons. That she utilized her opportunity with much success is indicated by the great esteem in which the Blair School community holds her and by the deep appreciation which her colleagues feel for her."

Honorable Bernard F. Dickmann,
Mayor, City of St. Louis.

This organization has a membership of 12,000 persons, corporations and commercial business organizations, all located in the Southern part of Illinois, and all tributary to and a part of the best trade area of which St. Louis is possessed.

Members of this organization who are connected with the coal business directly or indirectly, have called to our attention the fact that your Smoke Elimination Committee is soliciting funds of St. Louis business houses for the publication of advertisements on the Smoke Plague.

Our attention has been particularly directed to the last sentence in your Committee's Report wherein it is recommended that every means of eliminating smoke in St. Louis be investigated by a proposed commission excepting that no consideration shall be given soft coal as a fuel.

This organization is as anxious as you are to promote smoke elimination in St. Louis, but this organization will fight as hard as it can for the same measure of consideration and investigation of smokeless burning of soft coal as is devoted to gas, whether natural or artificial, oil, or any other fuel.

This organization, for its membership, believes it can properly resent the solicitation of funds or public coupon endorsement of such a one-sided unfair program as has been proposed. Responsible stoker manufacturers, coal organizations, coal mine labor and coal operators have a right to be just as seriously considered by you as the natural gas fields of the Texas Panhandle or any other fuels.

By what right or reason does your committee presume to consider plans which deprive 100,000 persons (or any part of them) of a living here and across the river, plans which destroy millions in investments in your best trade area—and deny them even due investigation and consideration.

Very respectfully yours,

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS RECIPROCAL TRADE ASSOCIATION

(Southern Illinois Reciprocal Trade Association is a voluntary organization of individuals, clubs and corporations dedicated to the furtherance of reciprocal business relations between St. Louis and Southern Illinois.)

MISSOURI HOUSE VOTES, 74-71, FOR 2 PCT. SALES TAX

Taylor of Chariton County, bitter opponent of the proposed rate increase, refused to participate in a Democratic majority caucus which was hastily called by administration leaders in an effort to check defections and to try to bind the Democratic majority of 102 members to support the 2 per cent bill and pending amendments to regulate distribution of the funds.

Caucus Takes Recess.

Balked by the bolt of the insurgent opponents of a 2 per cent rate, the Democratic caucus accomplished nothing after nearly two hours of wordy debate and recessed until today. Meanwhile the insurgents patrolled the corridors outside the House chamber or gathered in a nearby committee room and issued statements at intervals that they would not submit to a caucus rule and would fight the 2 per cent rate to the last ditch.

Calling of the majority caucus and the resultant bolt by enough Democrats to defeat passage of the 2 per cent rate followed a day of debate and parliamentary maneuvers by administration leaders and those opposed to the higher rate.

The rebellion in Democratic ranks was disclosed when Republican Floor Leader Presley of Dallas County, interrogating Representative Phillips, attempted to bring out Gov. Parks' stand on the 2 per cent rate.

Presley pointed out that the Governor had said he would not oppose a rate provided the State assumed the entire State relief burden of $12,000,000 a year. The present bill provides for a contribution of $6,000,000 a year.

Taylor's Retort to Phillips.

When Phillips replied that Presley was trying to inject politics into the sales tax question, Taylor leaped to his feet and said that Phillips had been first to raise the political issue by referring to the fact that Republicans had voted almost solidly against the 2 per cent rate and that Democrats who were opposing it were simply trying to "harass the Governor."

When Presley had concluded his interrogation, Representative Lafferty of Kansas City, member of the Pendergast faction and caucus chairman, called the Democrats into caucus. Taylor immediately objected.

"The gentleman from Jackson County (Lafferty) is resorting to the most cowardly method I can think of in an effort to pass this rate," shouted Taylor heatedly. "Call your caucus and be damned! I do not intend to be downed by any caucus action in this matter."

The morning session consisted of a two-and-a-half-hour debate on the 2 per cent rate, after which the House voted to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was adopted last Wednesday. The vote last Wednesday was 69 to 68 in favor of the 2 per cent rate. However, several members went home last week-end and discovered that their constituents were strongly opposed to the higher rate.

Representative Roberts of Newton County made the motion to reconsider. He voted for the 2 per cent rate last week and as a member of the side which prevailed had the right to make such a motion.

Arguments for and against the 2 per cent rate were virtually the same as when the question was first up for consideration. Proponents said there was no other way to raise the funds required for relief, old age pensions, care of the insane poor and schools, while opponents contested the one-half-of-one per cent rate would raise sufficient funds to meet all emergencies.

PEERS BACK DEFENSE POLICY

Upper House Joins Commons in Supporting Prime Minister.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 13.—The House of Lords joined the Commons today in supporting the Government's defense policy, the peers turning down a motion of censure offered by Lord Ponsonby without even the formality of a vote.

The Government's white paper on armament increases, which was defended by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in a newsletter as one of the greatest efforts to "save peace," was attacked by Lord Ponsonby, who described it as "driving the last nail into the disarmament conference. The recent presentation of the white paper was followed by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's postponement of conversations with Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, on questions of European peace.

Receiver for Realty Firm Quits.

Former Sheriff George W. Strodtman, who is now a member of the Permanent Condemnation Commission, resigned today as a receiver of the E. Davis Realty and Mortgage Co. and its eight allied firms. He was allowed a final fee of $750 for his services by Circuit Judge Baron. A similar award was made to John B. Edwards, co-receiver, who will continue in charge. The Court also allowed Frank E. Williams and Harry S. Gleick, attorneys for the receivers, $500 each for their services last year. The receivership was appointed four years ago. Everett Davis was president of the companies, which promoted realty subdivisions.

The Air Fleet Controls.
24 Billion a Year
Teething Quintuplets.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1935.)

SAN SIMEON, Cal., March 13.

THANKS to airplanes, the Greek rebellion is crushed. The old Greek patriot, Venizelos, leading the revolt at the age of 72, fled yesterday from his home on the Island of Crete across the Aegean Sea to an Italian island for refuge.

Weeping, the old man vowed that he would never again set foot on Greek soil. A rebel cruiser took Venizelos to the protection of the Italian flag. Then, last of the fleet that had rebelled, the cruiser Averoff surrendered to the Government.

Interesting old names come in reports of events in Greece—Chios, and Samos, where the "tyrant's" cook found inside a fish the valuable ring the King had dropped in the sea, and Mytilene—all three islands that the rebel fleet captured at the beginning of the Civil War.

The collapse of this rebellion by some of the most powerful men in Greece, accompanid by the seizure of the Greek fleet, shows that whoever controls the air fleet can control the country.

The California Assembly votes, 58 to 17, in favor of the Townsend plan. The State Senate revolted and defeated the resolution calling on Congress to enact the old age pension bill.

It is not possible for the United States to pay $24,000,000,000 every year, the total cost of giving $200 per month to every man past 60.

It does not cost the Assemblymen anything to vote for the impossible, and it makes him feel politically safe.

Mr. Weber said to Mr. Fields, "Why did you offer that man the $500 for his dog? You ain't got $500."

Mr. Weber replied, "I know it, but ain't it a good offer?"

The United States should establish old age pensions sufficient to insure freedom from anxiety in old age. It is a pity to delude the aged with promises that cannot be kept and may prevent any old age pension.

Germany's body of highly trained air pilots, members of the Civilian "Air Sport" Association, have all been placed under the orders of the regular army, and will become a valuable part of Germany's defensive force.

Germany is told by indignant French newspapers, "that is a violation of the Versailles Treaty," but without agitating Mr. Hitler.

The Versailles Treaty is disintegrating like our own NRA, a venerable bird that is moulting, losing its beautiful feathers prematurely.

Some think that after June 1 this country will say of the NRA bird, what the poem says of Sir John Moore: "His breast but once heaved, and forever grew still."

Labor and political troubles continue in Cuba, where Government decrees "death for terrorism," which means armed attack on the Government and sabotage.

Strikers have been thwarted in the attempt to cut off light, power and food supplies. School teachers on strike are warned to return in 72 hours or lose their jobs.

Less serious news, but interesting to millions, is the fact that Annette, one of the Dionne quintuplets, cut her first tooth yesterday. The other four are all teething. Annette is first with a real tooth, right in front, where every smile shows it.

TEXAS SENATE VOTES STATE PROHIBITION REFERENDUM

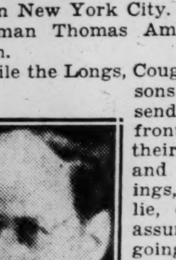
AS THE CROW FLIES

By E. L. Meyer

A YOUNG man who will bear watching spent the past week in New York City. He is Congressman Thomas Amlie of Wisconsin.

While the Longs, Coughlins, Johnsons and Townsends hog the front pages with their medicines and trumpetings, Tom Amlie, quietly, unassumingly, is going forward with the farmer-labor third party movement in the Midwest.



E. L. MEYER.

As a matter of record, Amlie was the mainspring in the Wisconsin third party organization, though the orchids went with little justification to Phil La Follette, who was swept last year to an amazing victory as gubernatorial candidate on the new party ticket.

The La Follettes up to 1934 had been wary of dropping the word "Republican" from their Progressive Republican tag. As compared with the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover outfit, they were, of course, no more Republican than Communists or Confucians. The theory was that the appellation of "Republican" would snare into their tent considerable thousands of voters who blindly and faithfully would follow the "Republican" banner through hell and high water.

Then the Upset

The Democratic landslide in 1932 changed all that. Wisconsin elected as Democratic Governor a decent and colorless ex-dry goods merchant and sent into the State Legislature an astounding collection of unclassifiable riffraff, all hoisted to high office by the magic Democratic bootstrap.

Then Tom Amlie got busy. The fakery of "Progressive Republican" must go. He set about his agitation for a new political alignment, a clean severance from both old parties, which would be honest even thought it might mean political hari-kiri.

It was dogged, uphill work. He got little support from the La Follettes and the Progressive Republican wheelhorses or from the Progressive Republican organ, the Capital Times of Madison, Wis.

No one knows this better than I, for I was wire editor of that organ at the time, and the news reports of Tom Amlie's agitation were quietly buried on the inside pages next to the market quotations on Packard Motors and packing sows.

The movement, however, grew, due to the valiant efforts of Amlie and a half dozen aids. So amazingly strong did it grow that the La Follettes and the wheelhorses in the end capitulated, lopped the "Republican" off their ticket and emerged as a third party.

Triumph followed for Gov. Phil, for Senator Bob, for Congressman Tom Amlie and others—a triumph so unexpected that the Wisconsin Progressives are still blowing the foam off the cup of victory.

Which is a grand thing, for the La Follettes are grand folks. But what amazes me is that in all the hullabaloo Tom Amlie has been forgotten. In two long articles on the Wisconsin upheaval by Louis Adamic in the New York Nation, Tom is not mentioned. "Phil," writes Adamic, "had more to do with the initial work of whipping the new party into shape than Bob."

Coming Man

The initial work was the work largely of that self-effacing, earnest, intelligent Congressman named Tom Amlie of Elkhorn, Wis.

Not that Tom Amlie is sulking in his tent. He will probably be sore as hops about this belated accolade. I write it merely to pay tribute to a good man, who will bear watching.

Amlie steers a course between the all-is-well of the conservatives and the all-is-hell of the reds.

"The Communists," says he, "sounds like thunder in New York, but like the huffle of a snail in the Midwest. If I am not mistaken, they polled 126 votes in my entire congressional district.

The trouble is mostly with their dialect and their imported philosophy. Why not make the philosophy of revolt an American one? We have precedents rooted in our own soil. We have the Declaration of Independence, the idealism of Jefferson and Paine and the economic shrewdness not of Marx but of Veblen. We have, instead of the flag of the sickle, the American flag of revolt with the coiled snake, 'Don't Step on Me.' The Midwestern farmer, when you talk of the proletariat or the class struggle looks at you cockeyed. We must refashion the Marxian ideology, not because it is foolish, but because it is foreign."

Tom Amlie is a coming man. Unless I am mistaken, he will survive and do constructive work long after the thunders of a Kingfish have been muted in the corridors of that great deflationist—Time.

A Lawyer Who Turned Actor

Scion of Noted Lodge Family Likes the Films

JOHN DAVIS LODGE

NEW YORK, March 12.

JOHN DAVIS LODGE, whose most recent role is that of Shirley Temple's father in "The Little Colonel," has returned to Hollywood after a vacation in New York and Boston. An item of this kind could be written daily about any one of the myriad band of film players who pass their leisure here between pictures, but rarely would it be so significant.

That significance lies in the fact that the grandson of the late Henry Cabot Lodge, for many years Senator from Massachusetts, has decided to continue permanently in the profession he loves above all others, including the law, for which he was trained—namely, the profession of acting.

It is not as if he hadn't exposed himself to the traditional profession of his family, fully and with an open mind. For, after his graduation from Harvard Law School, armed with all the necessary degrees, he came to New York to take a position with a large law firm. After two years he went into practice for himself. That was in 1931. A year later, in the fall of 1932, he was on his way to Hollywood with a contract to act.

Sitting across from him in the small office of his agent it was easy to imagine why acting attracted him. Yet, as one listened to his lucid, rational comments, catching at times the lawyer-like turn of his mind, it was almost as if one were talking to two men. First, to the actor whose soft voice and grace of manner was so captivating, second, to a ghostly New Englander, wise and sincere.

"It takes training and experience to be a lawyer or a politician, and I don't see why the same thing should not hold true for acting," he said defensively. "Of course, in acting there's an indefinable quality which sometimes defies experience. Shirley Temple is an example.

"It's difficult to rationalize these things, and when I first went out to California it worried me a lot, particularly when they decided to put me, right at the start, in a starring role opposite Mae West in "She Done Him Wrong.'

"Up to that time I had acted in the Hasty Pudding Club shows at Harvard. In 1924 ('25 was Mr. Lodge's year) we took it to Washington, where my grandfather saw it. I remember telling him I wanted to be an actor, and he answered: 'If you can become a good one, it will be all right with me; which struck me as sensible. . . . I'm still trying to follow this advice. But there I was pitched into a Hollywood studio with the problem not only of competing with professionals, but taking as my first assignment a starring role.

"After I thought it over, it seemed to me neither sensible nor wise to attempt it, and I told the executives so, asking them to let me have a little training first. It wasn't a question of intelligence, but rather of actual training, to go before the cameras in complete ignorance. They agreed, and I studied for two months, going over scrips with directors on various sets, studying technical angles and watching scenes being taken.

"My first part was a small one in 'The Woman Accused.' After that I played the villain in 'Murders in the Zoo,' in which I was killed. My mother had the strange experience of seeing my corpse on the screen—she didn't enjoy that."

Then, he said, Paramount didn't exercise the option on his contract.

"So I thought, 'I am through,'" he reminisced. "I hadn't established myself in any way and it looked as if I'd have to go back to the law, I didn't want to because I don't like to give up a thing until I have proved that I'm a failure at it. Besides, I had gone into pictures for very personal reasons? Because I loved acting, had all my life been attracted to it and wanted to find out whether I could do it as a means of livelihood.

"I was about to get on a train East when RKO offered me a part in 'Little Women.' I jumped at it and it proved a fine experience to work with George Cukor. After it was finished Paramount recognized me for a lead in 'The Scarlet Empress,' starring Marlene Dietrich, and this was my first real opportunity. It turned out to be a controversial failure. The critics here didn't care for it, but it had rather a curious fate. In Germany it has been the most successful box-office picture Von Sternberg ever made."

Lodge came East for a vacation, still under contract to Paramount. After he returned he did not act for three months, and this, he insists, was upsetting. "Getting a salary for idleness (it was the New Englander speaking) does nobody any good."

Eventually Paramount put him in "Menace," and then Max Reinhardt engaged him for the part of Theseus in his stage production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" in the Hollywood Bowl. At present he is under contract to Fox.

Lodge says he would like to play on the Broadway stage for the experience and what it could do for him in pictures.

"Would you care to return to law practice?" he was asked.

"I think not," he replied. "I like acting because of its detachment, and for its impressionistic quality. Practicing law, you are hemmed in by walls of fact and grave opinions. Later I'd like to get into the production end of pictures, after I know more about them, for that would be a field where I could make use of my law training and experience. But my immediate ambition is to be a good actor."

Lodge has a home in California. His wife is the former Francesca Braggiotti, a dancer. They have a child of four, Lily de Pourtales Lodge. It was through his wife that he became a film actor. She was duplicating Greta Garbo's voice in "dubbed" foreign versions of pictures.

Wrist Charms Featured for Spring Wear

Wedding Ring Motif Appears in Earrings—Wood and Shell Costume Jewelry.

By Sylvia

THE silver and gold bands which you see on the costume jewelry counters and which look like old-fashioned wedding rings are intended for ears instead of hands. Some of them are set with synthetic pearls, others introduce quite intricate carvings. A hinged arrangement opens when you clamp the ring on your ear. The double wedding ring consisting of one ring through another is even more swanky than the single.

Charms are in style, but not because of evil spirits. Well-dressed girls find them an ideal decoration for the sports costume. The majority of these charms dangle from a chain around the wrist, but others dangle from brilliant pins. Sevens gods of fortune, carved from real ivory, are the most impressive newcomers. Composition Scotties, each one a different color, also provide novel and bright trinkets.

Monogram placques can be made to order if you express your preferences at the costume jewelry counters. Samples on display are of wood, composition, prystal and shell. Some women select a style suitable for a pin or clips, others prefer to wear their intials as a pendant. The oblong type which is several inches in length is a preferred type.

Costume rings may not be shown in as great variety as other pieces of jewelry, but that doesn't mean that they are less important. In fact, it is regarded as quite fashionable to wear as many as three rings on one finger. A stunning set, popular this spring consists of two of jet with one of crystal. All are quite handsomely carved.

If you are undecided as to what flower to choose for the lapel of your new spring suit, consider the attractiveness of a single carnation. The smartest ones are quite large, but the color depends upon your other accessories. Yellow is the happiest choice if you are wearing chamois hat and gloves, but if your suit is navy blue, then why not get flower and gloves of pinky beige?

Georgette crepe is sufficiently old-fashioned to be welcomed back this spring. It appears for various fashionable garments, among them lace-trimmed blouses. A lovely blouse of delicately tinted pink Georgette has a Valenciennes lace-trimmed jabot, a turnover collar and three-quarter length sleeves. Another, similarly styled, is of that off-white shade known as "whipped cream."

Every woman who wants to look like a fashion-plate this spring will have a fur cape. There are shapes and lengths of varied appeal, even to the one with military bearing. A stunning model that endorses the longer back, not only has inverted pleats placed vertically at the center of the back, but others placed horizontally across the shoulders. The fur is beige galyak.

Cape collars of fur are on display at the neckwear counters so any woman who can't decide upon a cape sufficiently long to serve as a wrap may choose the same theme in a costume adornment. One of black lapin has the appearance of Hudson seal and is designed with a quaint frill that stands up around the neck. Scarf ties of taffeta or crepe are decorative additions to these collars and capes.

Imported French plaid gingham in its most vivid color combinations is being used for spring hats. This forms the crown and part of the brim of a saucy little sailor, the rest of the chapeau being of navy straw. A scarf may be obtained to complete a clever ensemble.

OUR DAILY TUG AT THE HEART STRINGS

This is Angus B. McSkittle, who has suffered a nervous collapse as a result of the failure of Congress to pass the Townsend Old Age Pension plan. "Not long ago," says Angus, "I suddenly remembered my dear old mother. So what did I do? I did what any thoughtful son would do under the circumstances—I bought her a washboard and promised that I'd come live with her. I even went so far as to get her a year's subscription to the Daily Racing Form."

I read in the papers the other day where a woman whose divorced husband makes three hundred dollars a month was awarded alimony of two hundred. Should not such an unfair spectacle as this fill the hearts of all women with shame and disgust at the degradation of our sex? Indignant.

The Urge That Makes One Risk Unselfishness

Even Though People Take Advantage of Kindness, It Is Worthwhile.

By Elsie Robinson

"HAVE you," she asks, "ever been taken for a ride, Elsie? Have people taken advantage of you, then sneered at you because they were able to do so?

"I'm asking because I'm one of those big-hearted saps who's always willing to 'lend a helping hand.' And do I get any thanks for it, even from my own family? I'll say I don't. Instead, I'm just about rated as the village idiot. And this from the people I've helped most—

Elsie Robinson

"Yet they keep right on expecting me to help them. But if anyone tries to touch them, they always have 'previous obligations' to meet!

"I suppose there's someone like that in practically every family. I certainly wish you'd tell me the answer, if you know one. It's getting me down. For the first time, I'm beginning to be bitter. So, S. O. S.!"

Folks like you? Yes, lady, thank heaven there are—millions of 'em. And what's the answer?

GO RIGHT ON BEING THE WAY YOU ARE—AND THANK HEAVEN YOU ARE THAT WAY!

But they take advantage of you?

Of course they do! Mooch on your money and save their own. Then sneer at you afterwards. And compare their "smartness" with your softness. Surest thing, my dear—

BUT EVEN SO, YOU GET THE BEST OF THE BARGAIN. And even though you go out busted—and they leave millions—you'll be the richer. For you're piling up something more and better than a bank roll. And you're enjoying an adventure which their money can't buy nor their shrewdness achieve.

You're living life as a HUMAN BEING. Did you ever stop to think that BEING HUMAN is a large job, for which not everyone can qualify?

Many two-legged creatures with regular postoffice addresses aren't living as humans at all. They're still living like jungle beasts, following the old jungle law, outgrabbing, outsmarting the other brutes—chattering shrilly if they store up more nickels and dimes, just as their jungle cousins once chattered over their bloody "kill" or their acorn "cache."

But you've had the courage to attempt this larger, lovelier way of living which we call the human plan. You're daring to forget yourself . . . to put aside your own fear and greed and take a chance with the strange new adventure of generosity. And, of course, the stupid jungle dwellers think that's a swell break for them and proceed to make the most of it. As such creatures always have and always will.

Let them—and don't you worry! And never for a moment regret the course you've taken.

Does the sailor who has known the wild splendor of open sea envy some cowardly landlubber his safety in his cramped little apartment? Does a mother who has known the glory of spending her life for her child regret the love that deprived her of gaiety and gew-gaws? You know the answer!

Then neither should you regret that fine urge in you which dares to risk unselfishness.

Let them laugh, my dear. Let them smirk and sneer. Go on believing—go on daring—go on living! Even though they cheat you again and again—go on! There's only one great way to live . . . only one SAFE way . . . and you've found it.

"FOR WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT A MAN IF HE SHALL GAIN THE WHOLE WORLD AND LOSE HIS OWN SOUL?"

If you make your own sheets, make a wide hem at both top and bottom. Then they can be reversed and still look as well and, in consequence, wear more evenly.

Switzerland Adopts New Stamp Design

Portraits Replace Previously Favored Alpine Scenes on Newest Issues.

THIS time it is Switzerland which gets first position stamp honors. What amounts to two new sets have come from that country.

One group, consisting of three items, is an entirely new design for the country's franchise stamps. The stamps are distributed to numerous institutions and charitable organizations for franking purposes, thus in effect giving them free postage.

In place of the coat of arms decoratively impressed upon an Alpine scene, illustrations of individuals are used in one color instead of two. The five-centime has the head of a nurse, the 10 violet a nun and the 20 red pictures Jean Hanri Dunant, Swiss author, philanthropist and founder of the Red Cross society.

Some of the stamps have control numbers overprinted on the face in black.

The other "set" comprises the creation of a new airpost value to meet a change in rates. Two types of adhesives are used, both bearing the overprint "10" with three parallel bars over the old denomination, 15 centimes in each case.

One stamp is the 15-centime deep green and light green of the disarmament issue of 1932 and the other is the 15-centime brown red and apple green of the 1923 printing.

World Notes.

The four-hundredth anniversary celebration of the founding of the city of Lima has been made the occasion for some more new stamps from Peru. The nine values are divided between postage and airmail. Five being for regular letters and the others for air posting. Scenes connected with the city's history as well as modern views are pictured.

A new printing of the special stamp confined to the use of the British forces in Egypt for mail sent back home to England has a drawing of the Sphinx and is inscribed "British Forces in Egypt—Letter Stamp." The value is one piaster. This year the color is green, while last it was carmine rose.

Three values of the 1918-19 newspaper issue, imperf, of Czecho-Slovakia have been overprinted "O. T." for use by commercial firms only. They are 10, 20 and 30 haleru.

Before the creation of the Dominion of Canada, stamps of Canada from 1851 to 1868 were printed in the monetary unit of Great Britain. In 1868 this was changed to cents and dollars.

In the earlier issues of U. S. stamps the Roman numeral X was used to indicate the 10-cent value in addition to the notation "10 cents."

Since the finding of the rare U. S. Scotts No. 594 one-cent stamp issued in 1924 additional copies of this stamp have been found. At an auction in the east a single and a pair of these rare stamps are to be offered for sale.

Experiments have just been completed for gumless stamps which nevertheless are still adhesive. A new kind of paper has been invented which requires only to be moistened and is then said to stick better than gum. The paper is also far less subject to deterioration than the usual gummed paper.

New Issues.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC — A new value 2c carmine has been added to the regular postage series. The design pictures a group of oil wells.

NETHERLANDS—A set of stamps portraying prominent Dutch musicians is to be issued shortly.

RUMANIA — To commemorate the 150th anniversary of the revolution of 1785 a series of four values is to be issued. The stamps will portray three national heroes, Horia, Closca and Crisan. The values will be 1, 2, 6 and 10 lei.

WESTERN SAMOA—Due to the fact that the name of the country has been changed a new series of stamps is to be released soon. The first values will be ½d green, 1d red and black, 2d salmon and green, 2½d blue, 4d blue and black and 6d lilac.

Boiled Salad Dressing.

Two-thirds cup sugar.
One-third cup flour.

One teaspoon dry mustard.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
One-half cup vinegar.
Two-thirds cup water.

Beat yolks, add dry ingredients and when blended add rest of ingredients and mix well. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture becomes thick and creamy. Beat and pour into glass jar which has been rinsed out of cold water. Cool and cover. Store in ice box.

The Danger of Children Taking Medicine Alone

By Mrs. Brooke P. Church.

THE Smith children were in the habit of getting their own medicines from the medicine cupboard when their mother was too busy to attend to the matter. Even before they could read they would be allowed to take a dose of a laxative or treat their cuts and scratches with iodine.

Every now and then there was an accident, however, and sometimes a serious one. Of course when Tommy covered a cut with argyrol under the impression that it was iodine, and Susy painted a scratch with liquid rouge instead of mercurochrome, no lasting harm was done, though the curative effects of the treatment were not of any noticeable value.

But when one of the children ate a whole bottle of pink laxative pills because he liked the taste, the results were more serious. To be sure the treatment worked its own cure, and it was years before the child could stand pink candies again.

The worst accident was Mary's, who mixed herself a gargle of bichloride, thinking that she was using a mild antiseptic tablet.

If children are to be permitted to dose themselves with drugs and antiseptics they should be carefully taught how to do it. They should know what to avoid and why, should be taught always to read labels, and to use the exact amount prescribed. There is no instinct to warn them of danger of poison. If they cannot read and understand what they read, they should never be permitted to touch a medicine bottle.

SNAPSHOTS FROM HOLLYWOOD ○ ○ ○ By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 12.

ERNST LUBITSCH has always had a penchant for uniforms. He kept Maurice Chevalier dressed to the teeth in this style of clothes until Chevalier begged for his straw hat. Now he has the same idea for Carl Brisson. He will see that Brisson gets plenty of operettas on "The Smiling Lieutenant" type. I am told that Lubitsch has just purchased the rights for that famous old operetta, "The Count of Luxembourg," which will serve Brisson as a vehicle when he returns from his holiday in Honolulu. I wonder if Mary Ellis, who played with Brisson in "All the King's Horses" will be co-starred.

Just heard that Zasu Pitts will be Guy Kibbee's vis a vis in "Crossing Up Society," and that ought to be something. Zasu is one of the very best comediennes in the movies. Nice of Warners to wait until the Santa Anita race season closed before they started the picture. Zasu and her husband have been regular attendants at the track.

Departure

The popular Frenchman, Maurice Chevalier, says au revoir to Hollywood this week, departing for his home town, Paris, on March 15. Accompanying him is his manager and friend, M. Ruppa, who is also a native of France. Maurice severed all relations with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer a few days ago, declaring that he felt "Her Cardboard Lover" and "The Chocolate Soldier" were unsuited to him. I have been complaining for years about the newspaper stories put on the screen because never has one really been produced that would give us reason to believe that the people who had written the story had ever worked on a newspaper. Now comes Hy Daab and Ross Duff Whytock, who used to be on the New York Evening World in the days when Charles E. Chapin was the city editor. They have written an original screen story called "Park Row," featuring all the New York publishers at the time the Titanic went down, the Baker case was front-page material and the war was on among New York newspapers for circulation.

New Picture

Clive Brook, who came over here with the firm intention of returning immediately to England, remains for a picture at the Fox company. He will play the lead in "Orchids to You," which Bob Kane is producing and Howard Estabrook is adapting from the original story by Gordon Rigby and Robert Dillon. Both Mildred and Clive have been on a regular merry-go-round of gayety, all of their English friends having feted them and welcomed them back to our town.

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By Martha Carr

My dear Martha Carr:

I HAVE been going with one boy for almost a year, and finally it was decided (at his suggestion) that we go with others some; in order to test ourselves. But now he is getting very jealous of one man, whom I like very much and who is a lot of fun. I have been going with this man about twice a week and then with others, while I do not see the first more than once a week. The first one protests that if I loved him still, I would not go with the man mentioned.

I think, since it was his idea that we go out with others, he is not in a position to protest, and that if he loved me, he would trust me.

BUNNY ANN.

If the shoe were on the other foot, as he probably imagined when he made the suggestion, he would think you very unreasonable. But since it has turned out the other way round, your popularity is not to his liking. You have the better of him—I would give him a little while longer to try the test and remind him again that it was his own idea. Perhaps you will then change your mind, too, when you feel he has had enough of his own medicine.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WHAT is the name and address of the bureau which handles exchange of correspondence between persons of different nationalities? MADELYN L.

The International Friendship League, 603 Boylston street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WE have in our home a painting which is the work of a famous artist. I have been informed that it is a masterpiece. It has been handed down in the family many years, and I wonder if it is of any value, or if you can tell me where I might go to get more information about it.

CURIOUS.

You can only go to some art dealer who you know is dependable or send the picture to one for examination. If you are near an art museum, you might find an expert who could judge the merits of signed does not indicate that it is signed dones not indicate that it is an original; the copies of the subject also have the copy of the signature.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please tell me if there is a school of whistling in St. Louis? Is there any place a lady whistler could find a place?

ANXIOUS.

I do not know of a school of whistling here, such as they have in Los Angeles and did have, some time ago, in Denver; but I can give you the name of one or two St. Louis musicians who are talented in this line and who could, if they would, give you some points. But you will have to send me self-addressed, stamped envelope for this information.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WHEN does a couple ask the parents for permission to marry, before they are engaged or when the time comes for them to want to marry?

THANKING YOU.

The custom you speak of is a very commendable one, but in this age of informality, it is not known so much as it once was. However, it is still the courteous and considerate way of approaching the subject of marriage to the parents of bride and groom, too. Usually the young couple is betrothed, and then this is announced to the parents with the hope of the parental blessing; before the time is set for the wedding.

If there is parental objection, it is likely to be made known long before the romance has reached the stage of betrothal.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM a working girl, and since I have been working have made it a point to save some of my salary. My boy friend, with whom I have been going the last two years, is very well established in business and has sufficient money to buy me a nice home. It is his opinion that I should take my savings and buy the furniture for our home. What do you think?

PERPLEXED.

If the man is sufficiently established in business to have a comfortable income, I believe he should want to provide the home and its furnishings himself. I believe some investment that would bring you an income would be safest and best for you—and might, some time, enable you to help him in an emergency, which might come some time in the future, if he needed the assistance. At any rate, you should have a little to fall back on yourself in case you need it.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

The Causes of Various Corns And Treatment

Shoe Friction Is Most Common Source—Danger of Infection.

By

Logan Clendening, M. D.

NO ONE, I am sure will maintain that a corn is a minor matter, and yet the medical profession has persistently ignored treatment and care of this humble condition. Fortunately, the practitioners of pediatry are prepared to treat it, and do usually treat it better than the average physician who receives very little instruction about it. I am pleased to note that a prominent New York surgeon has written an article on corns in a scientific medical journal, and has berated the profession roundly for its neglect of this subject.

Dr. Clendening

He says, properly, that while most corns are minor ailments, the irritated corn, which compels the individual to hold the foot in a constrained attitude in order to avoid unpleasant friction with the shoe, may be the primary cause of a severe chronic foot strain.

There are several varieties of corns. The commonest is the hard corn, and this one is almost always due to improper footgear.

In treatment, the use of corn plasters or ointment is generally adopted first. These ointments owe their efficiency largely to their content of salicylic acid, which softens the skin and then destroys the superficial layers so that they can be removed. The salicylic acid plaster usually has some cannabis indica in it also, in order to lessen the pain.

If these plasters do not result in healing, operative procedures are called in. This may seem a large term for simply paring a corn, which is usually the first operative procedure. Strict cleanliness and antisepsis should be observed by the home corn operator, as infected corns are by no means uncommon and extremely stubborn.

In the prevention of recurrence, it is usually necessary to perform a somewhat more radical operation. Recurrence is due to the fact that under most corns is a bursa and, in fact, a corn is not unlike a bunion. When this bursa is dissected out the corn will usually not recur, especially if the surface is protected by a properly fitting shoe.

The soft corn occurs between the toes and is almost invariably the result of infection. If it is not caused by infection, it becomes infected later by a fungus infection. The proper treatment, then, is to destroy the infection and keep the surface of the corn dry. The best way to do this is with a 5 per cent solution of silver nitrate, and protection of the corn with dry cotton.

A special form of corn is the seed corn, a small excrescence usually found in large numbers on the plantar surface of the foot, around the heel or on the inner surface of the great toe joint. It is only when they develop in great numbers that they become annoying. They are usually caused by wrinkles in stockings or nails in the shoe, etc.

When it is necessary to treat them they should be removed with a sharp paring knife, and the surface coated with balsam of Peru.

Questions From Readers.

R. L. E.: "There is 1-10 of 1 per cent benzoate of soda in oleo butter. I am wondering whether the benzoate of soda would affect the joints, like rheuhatism."

Answer: It is generally agreed among toxicologists that benzoate of soda in that proportion has no deleterious effects whatever.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin:"

The Delayed Dinner.

If dinner must be delayed and you are afraid the roast will be too well done, turn the oven as low as possible and open the oven door so that it remains in place but the catch is loose and thus lets a little outside air into it. The roast will merely remain hot but will not over-cook.

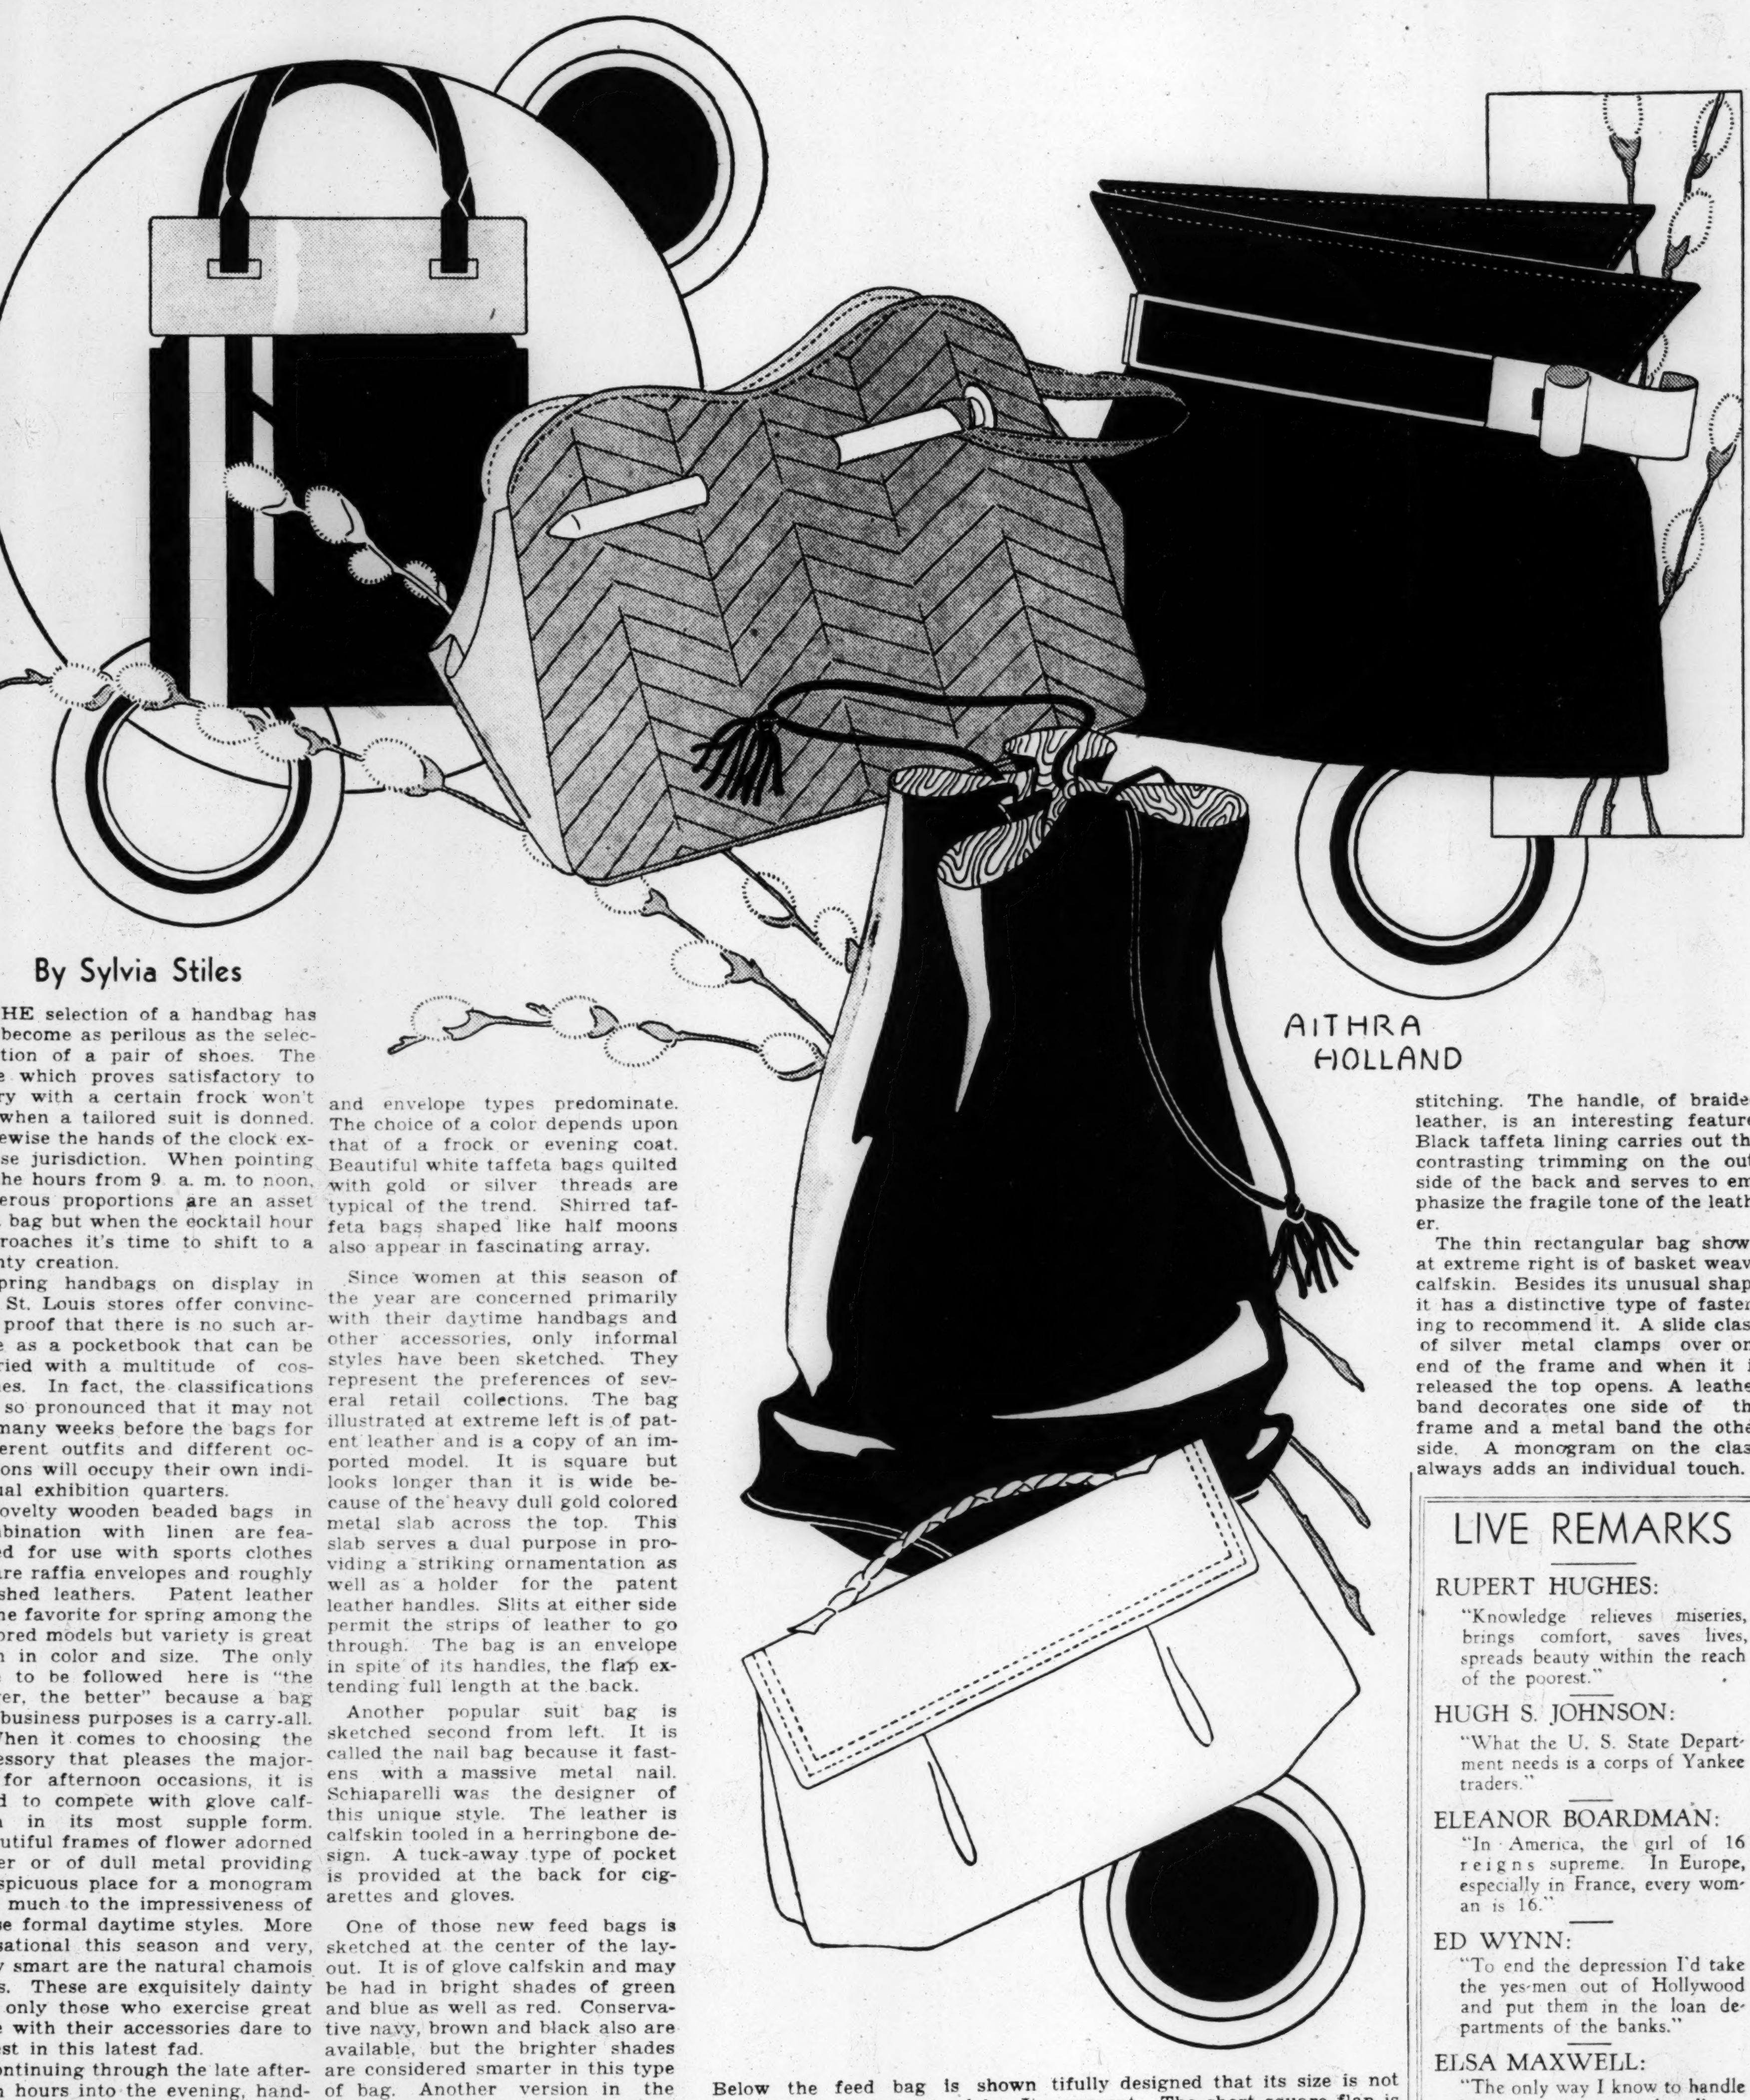
HANDBAGS

To Be in Style You Must Have One for Every Costume Change



By Sylvia Stiles

THE selection of a handbag has become as perilous as the selection of a pair of shoes. The type which proves satisfactory to carry with a certain frock won't do when a tailored suit is donned. Likewise the hands of the clock exercise jurisdiction. When pointing to the hours from 9 a. m. to noon, generous proportions are an asset in a bag but when the cocktail hour approaches it's time to shift to a dainty creation.

Spring handbags on display in the St. Louis stores offer convincing proof that there is no such article as a pocketbook that can be carried with a multitude of costumes. In fact, the classifications are so pronounced that it may not be many weeks before the bags for different outfits and different occasions will occupy their own individual exhibition quarters.

Novelty wooden beaded bags in combination with linen are featured for use with sports clothes as are raffia envelopes and roughly finished leathers. Patent leather is the favorite for spring among the tailored models but variety is great both in color and size. The only rule to be followed here is "the larger, the better" because a bag for business purposes is a carry-all.

When it comes to choosing the accessory that pleases the majority for afternoon occasions, it is hard to compete with glove calfskin in its most supple form. Beautiful frames of flower adorned silver or of dull metal providing conspicuous place for a monogram add much to the impressiveness of these formal daytime styles. More sensational this season and very, very smart are the natural chamois bags. These are exquisitely dainty but only those who exercise great care with their accessories dare to invest in this latest fad.

Continuing through the late afternoon hours into the evening, handbag popularity for spring centers around quilted taffeta. Tiny pouch and envelope types predominate. The choice of a color depends upon that of a frock or evening coat. Beautiful white taffeta bags quilted with gold or silver threads are typical of the trend. Shirred taffeta bags shaped like half moons also appear in fascinating array.

Since women at this season of the year are concerned primarily with their daytime handbags and other accessories, only informal styles have been sketched. They represent the preferences of several retail collections. The bag illustrated at extreme left is of patent leather and is a copy of an imported model. It is square but looks longer than it is wide because of the heavy dull gold colored metal slab across the top. This slab serves a dual purpose in providing a striking ornamentation as well as a holder for the patent leather handles. Slits at either side permit the strips of leather to go through. The bag is an envelope in spite of its handles, the flap extending full length at the back.

Another popular suit bag is sketched second from left. It is called the nail bag because it fastens with a massive metal nail. Schiaparelli was the designer of this unique style. The leather is calfskin tooled in a herringbone design. A tuck-away type of pocket is provided at the back for cigarettes and gloves.

One of those new feed bags is sketched at the center of the layout. It is of glove calfskin and may be had in bright shades of green and blue as well as red. Conservative navy, brown and black also are available, but the brighter shades are considered smarter in this type of bag. Another version in the stores combines wooden beads and contrasting fabric.

Below the feed bag is shown a stunning chamois model. It is rather large but is so beautifully designed that its size is not apparent. The short square flap is decorated with several rows of black stitching. The handle, of braided leather, is an interesting feature. Black taffeta lining carries out the contrasting trimming on the outside of the back and serves to emphasize the fragile tone of the leather.

The thin rectangular bag shown at extreme right is of basket weave calfskin. Besides its unusual shape it has a distinctive type of fastening to recommend it. A slide clasp of silver metal clamps over one end of the frame and when it is released the top opens. A leather band decorates one side of the frame and a metal band the other side. A monogram on the clasp always adds an individual touch.

What to Wear Is Decided by The Invitation

When Hostess Fails to Specify, Guests Should Confer.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

FOR the first time in our lives we have received an invitation to a wedding at 5:30 in the afternoon, in church, and to the house afterwards at 6. My husband and I don't know whether to dress appropriately for the wedding in afternoon clothes or whether to wear evening clothes, which might be expected at the reception. Can you tell me what we ought to wear?

Emily Post

Answer: The question of what to wear on a formal occasion at an hour between day and evening is always impossible to answer definitely, unless the invitation includes "afternoon dress" or "evening dress" in small letters in the lower left corner. At half past five in broad daylight and in church where evening dress is not very suitable ever, the present fashion of day clothes models made for evening, with a small evening type of hat, is the obvious choice for you. But whether your husband would better wear tails or a cutaway is something he would best decide with other men who are going.

Dear Mrs. Post: We have mother's oldest sister for a "star boarder." We thought she would stay with us only for a few days but they have slid into weeks a long time ago, and still she is contented to be waited on and to sit in judgment on everything we do. My girl friends won't even stop in at the house any more, and my brother spends all his evenings out because he can't endure her nagging. Father owns a drug store and he has given all his clerks holidays in turn just so he will be needed at the store. Mother alone has the patience of a saint, though she would be willing to have the spare room empty again if there is any way that we can tactfully ask auntie to leave. Won't you help me?

Answer: This is the most difficult situation that hospitable people can be called upon to face. But if you are expecting other visitors who will completely fill the house—not leaving anywhere, or anyone with whom she can sleep—there will be no help for it but to tell her that so and so and so are at last coming to pay you their long-promised visit. Naturally your mother can explain to her own sister that it is impossible to retract an invitation given long ago to your father's people, or his business associates or to those to whom your father and mother owe a return visit. There can be nothing else she could do under such circumstances.

This does not seem very kind advice, but on the other hand, the guest who stays on without renewed invitation infringes upon each family's right to privacy, and its liberty to proffer its hospitality, or to withdraw it.

Sometimes Toleration Is Only Laziness

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

DR. JOHNSON, in his famous dictionary, said that toleration, though a good word, was not much used. Today we might add that it is still a good word, but it is in danger of becoming obsolete.

The outburst of violent, vindictive, ruthless intolerance in our day is one of the strangest things in our strange age. The mind-set of the time is all toward coercion and stern compulsion.

In other days men were often intolerant in religion; today, in Mexico, Russia and elsewhere, they are intolerant of religion, as if they wanted to destroy it from the face of the earth as a pest.

All the new forms of State, Communism, Fascism, Nazism and the rest, are utterly intolerant in matters of religion, if not in race, and often in both, knocking people over the head who think otherwise.

Their idea is a race regimented under the new collective despotism, doing the goose-step at the bidding of a dictator, all wearing the same kind of shirts and thinking what they are told to think.

By contrast, with us much of what passes for toleration is simply a lazy, hazy indifference, an open-mindedness so open that ideas go in one ear and out the other—just mushiness of mind.

Today we seem to go from one extreme to another, unable to strike a wise balance. We push truths so far that they become false; we have no standards, and a use of force betrays a loss of faith.

Toleration, to be sure, is a ticklish matter. If we let men think, they may not think as we do. They will divide and debate, and that may seem to weaken the state, the party, the church, the home.

No wonder tyrants are afraid of toleration, as they are afraid of liberty. But in the end only those who take the risks of toleration can know the truth and the freedom that truth bestows.

It is intolerance that rests upon uncertainty; every bigot is at bottom a skeptic. Only when love of truth is joined with love of man do we have a true toleration, and the fruits of liberty.

Juvenile Style Children's apparel of past seasons has not reached far in the field of color. To inject new colors into ladies' clothes gives them a double interest value. Yellow and orange combined with brown or green, egg plant used with pink, cadet blue with bright red, are a few of the newer color variations.

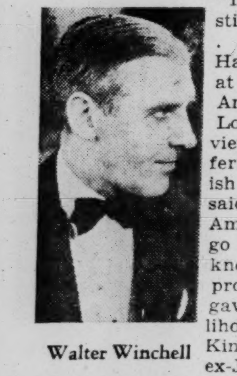
On Broadway

By Walter Winchell

Dear W. W.

LEA LELAND is clicking big in Miami. . . . Jack Osterman is in town, I hear. . . . Good gag from Edith Zittler on Bernie. She says he is the "Top" and he's still spinning! . . . Natalie Hall took a rap at the radio in America. In a London interview she preferred the British manner, she said. . . . Nice American girl to go around knocking the profesh that gave her a livelihood. . . . Capt. King J. Powell, ex-Jersey State policeman, annexes Lucy Olt at the Little Church on Oct. 11. . . . The Birthday Ball for the President Committee acknowledged the stamps you sent from readers, which were turned into cash for the infantile paralysis war. . . . Wilentz phoned, said he roared at the program.



Walter Winchell

Boost

I hear that grand Lillian D. Wald head of the Henry Street Settlement is at the N. Y. hosp—poor thing. . . . She does so much good for people, and she has to be sick! . . . I also heard that Gaumont British is looking over Florida sites. . . . Ted Hammerstein phoned. Said he was contacting Mike Bernard for a broadcast, after reading your piece about him the other morning. . . . While making "Toyland" Stan Laurel playfully pushed John Woods, an actor, into a pool of water. Woods brought suit and because of unfavorable publicity Laurel is settling out of court. . . . Personally, anybody who pushes people into water can't get a tear out of me. . . . Here's a Bernie gag. Bernie went to a dentist to have a tooth pulled, and he asked for gas, but the dentist refused to give it to him on the ground that he wouldn't know when Bernie was unconscious!

Singer

Harry Stockwell's singing at the Casino de Paree rates an orchid, and give him one for me. I think he's double okay. . . . The song "Soon," is in the Bing Crosby flicker, after all, for which goody. . . . Abner Silver describes Hugh Johnson as a Jack Dempsey with a dictionary. . . . Vi Bradley phoned. Said the prettiest orchids are those one pays for with a kind deed. . . . I like that, don't you? . . . Herman Bernie is an agent now—placed Phil Baker and Ethel Barrymore on the net works, not together, of course. That's a good start for a newcomer.

Notes

Cab Calloway leaves to tour. . . . He was succeeded at the Cotton Club by Claude Hopkins and his crew last night. . . . Paulette Goddard is really Pauline Levy. . . . But she doesn't deny it. . . . Gertrude Neisen is at the St. Regis and doing splendidly. . . . Pierre de Rohan is convalescing after a motor accident. . . . Tell the night club owners to be careful of phonies who get free feeds by promising radio plugs, etc. . . . Bonne Venuta is a newcomer who will amount to something soon via the net works, watch and see. . . . Harry Cooper is another who features Jimmy Walker's likeness at his place—Sardi's is the other—they don't care what the fair weather friends think—they're sticking. . . . Very few people in this world get to know the satisfaction that must be Grace Moore's. . . . She was snubbed by the Hollywood flicker academy, when it picked its ace stars. So Grace snatched a gold medal from the Society of Arts and Sciences, which is, as Grace needn't be told, really an academy—not a company union! . . . Don't forget, use the Gallagher & Shean parodies tomorrow.

ALL THAT GLITTERS - A Serial Story - By ANNE GARDNER

Gordon Becomes Really Ill, and Jerry Devotes Herself to His Care, to the Great Worry of Ross.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE.

NOW Jerry understood the whole matter, how her recklessness had appeared to the bitter troubled man, working under great difficulties, poor and seeing her accept the attentions of a flagrantly wealthy man.

Then Jerry had skimmed over the surface of life, taking, taking. No wonder Ross had thought she would scorn the poor things he had to offer. It was because of her glittering marriage that Ross had become cynical, had lost respect for women. She could not fail him twice.

And then her duties would take her up to the bedroom where Gordon now spent most of his time, as though some inner warning of his peril were leading him to make an extra claim upon her sympathies. She would see him white and thin, and though she told herself it was because he had lain about for so long, that he was not really ill, a pang for him would go through her all the same.

A bad time indeed, and Jerry came to realize that to see it through would require more courage than anything else she had ever done. Here was a struggle indeed. She had boasted to Ross that she was strong, strong enough for anything. Was she to prove unequal to this first test of her strength in the name of her love?

"Jerry, you are going to break down if you don't get some rest," her mother said to her one morning at breakfast.

"Nonsense," Jerry replied. "We Richards may bend, but we never break." Inwardly she recognized, however, that she could not go on in this way much longer, that if something did not happen she would break.

What happened was the one thing she had not thought of as a possibility. Gordon became ill again, really ill this time, gravely ill. Jerry saw that he was suddenly feverish and extremely weak, and called Dr. Martin.

When Jerry had encountered him at the time of Gordon's previous illness, she had felt that the tall, gray man had not approved of her. Now, though, he looked at her with sympathy as, the examination of the sick man completed, he went down the stairs with her.

"What is the matter with him?" Jerry asked.

"I warned him of this after the pneumonia attack," Dr. Martin replied gravely. "His heart, you know. A defect of long standing, greatly aggravated by the pneumonia infection. I had hoped that by remaining quiet he might avoid an attack, but apparently—" he gestured.

"His heart! But I didn't know, I never dreamed—!" Jerry clutched the banister, looked at the doctor with horror in her face.

"He said he didn't want you to know, didn't want you to be worried."

"But I should have known! I should have known!"

* * *

DR. MARTIN put a kindly hand upon her arm. "What good would it have done, my dear? It would only have distressed you. And he has had excellent care. You have nothing to reproach yourself with."

"But he is going to be all right, doctor?"

"In these cases, it is difficult to say. He is young. Aside from the tricky heart he has a good constitution. On the other hand—" Dr. Martin did not complete the sentence. Still, Jerry could not believe that he meant to imply anything but a doctor's usual conservatism.

He suggested a nurse, but Jerry said quickly that she would care for the sick man herself. "If I can take good enough care of him, that is."

"I don't know why you can't," Dr. Martin said. "There is very little to do. Medicine to give, pulse and temperature to take. For the rest, it is largely a matter of making him comfortable."

"Oh, I can do that!"

It was not until the doctor was leaving that Jerry realized how ill Gordon was. The doctor picked up his hat from the hall table where he had left it, stood holding it in his hands, then turned to Jerry. "Do you have any children, Mrs. Brock?"

"One, a little girl."

"How old is she?"

"Three."

The doctor said goodnight then and left, but he had told Jerry as plainly as though he had uttered the words that in his thoughts, Gordon had no chance. She flew back up stairs, bent anxiously over the sleeping man. She could see that he was sick indeed, that he had been failing for weeks while she had been silently reproaching him for imposing upon her.

Nothing to reproach herself with, nothing to reproach herself with! Would she ever in her life cease reproaching herself for the wrong she had done Gordon?

Although she knew what was in the doctor's mind, Jerry could not accept it. It was impossible that Gordon should not recover. She would take such good care of him that he would recover, and then she would spend the rest of her life being good to him. She did not despair at all, she was so confident that it must happen this way. For if it happened any other way, how could she bear it?

Aldie, grand person that she was, rose splendidly to the occasion when she came next day and learned of Gordon's illness. Of course she could manage the shop, she said. They would get someone in to handle the dresses temporarily while Jerry was caring for Gordon. Jerry was to give no thought at all to the shop.

> When dealing with JERRY BROCK, about the only thing one could be sure of was that something unexpected would happen. So ROSS TAYLOR found out when he laid a trap for Jerry, baiting it with the mortgage on her mother's home, which she might have just by coming to his office and asking for it. But instead of the reckless girl he expected, willing to barter her feminine favor for a material benefit, a dignified gentlewoman had come, and he had been ashamed. Jerry Brock had risen to the hardships of the depression, and he had for her only respect. To his surprise, he found himself at the end of the interview with a partnership in Jerry's dress shop, as satisfaction for the debt. Gordon Brock, her husband, failing in business, takes refuge in ill health, shifting his burdens to Jerry. Ross meets her on a hilltop, and they realize they have always been in love.

When Jerry came downstairs later in the day, she was met with the gratifying news that Barbara Hilton had promised to fill in for Jerry for as long as she was needed. It could not have been better. Barbara was fairly well acquainted with the stock and had proved to be a good saleswoman. The very thought of having her in the house was a comfort to Jerry.

Susan would go on as she had when Jerry was in the shop, looked after by Muzz and Martha. And so Jerry set herself to her battle to save Gordon's life.

TO ROSS TAYLOR, the news that Gordon was really sick was a staggering blow. He had been prepared for anything else but this. He had forseen that Jerry would weaken when it came to the point of breaking away from Gordon, he had his plans made for strengthening her resolution again. He had thought of everything indeed, except the thing that had happened.

Hearing of it, his intelligence told him at once that there was no way he could meet it. He knew what it would do to Jerry as well as though he had looked through a magic glass into her mind. She would cling to the invalid, and nothing Ross could ever do or say would move her in the least.

For that was the sort of stuff Jerry Brock was made of. She would not fail her husband if he really needed her, no matter what sacrifice she would have to make of her own desires. He knew that, and knew that he was beaten.

With this realization of Jerry's character and the gallantry with which she would respond to the call upon her came to Ross overwhelming realization of his love for her. Feeling that he had lost her, he wondered how he could go on without her.

Strange, the strength of the attraction this slender girl had had for him, strange the phases through which it had passed. First the attraction of her brightness and cleverness and beauty, the friendship that had been turning into a courtship.

Then the sudden bitterness and doubt of her, the almost savage repudiation of his dreams. After that the attempt to forget Jerry in a series of other women, always unsuccessful.

The careful plot to make her reveal her true character so that he would be free of her—Ross writhed at the thought of that brilliant action and marveled at its result. The beginning of a profound admiration and respect, a love that was formed of tenderness and compassion and the desire to help her.

Culmination in the glorious flaming up of their mutual passion and his resolution that she should be his, no matter what the cost.

And now he knew that she would never be his while Gordon lived, never anything to him, and in his despair he arrived at a final stage, resignation to the situation for her sake. He had to help her, for the load would be terrific. Not with displays of love, but with the undemanding thoughtfulness of the man who has stopped thinking of himself and thinks only of the one he loves.

Ross Taylor, the family friend of the Brocks! What a role to play for him who had determined that Jerry should be everything to him, or nothing. But it was the only way he could help Jerry.

His thoughts leaped to the future—the invalid husband as the center of life for both of them both attending him, Jerry from her sense of duty, Ross because he loved Jerry. A "Strange Interlude" but different, for Jerry Brock was no neurotic, but the most magnificent woman Ross had ever known.

Puddle Muddle's Bears Awaken From Their Nap

By Mary Graham Bonner

"GROWL, growl, get up Jupiter," "Growl, growl, get up Blacky."

Honey Bear was speaking to her cubs.

"I've let you sleep quite long enough. In fact I do not believe I have ever slept for so long a time. It must have been a cold winter."

"Growl, growl, do as your mother tells you," growled Jelly Bear.

"We've all slept long enough," repeated Honey Bear.

"Good-morning, my dear Honey Bear," growled Jelly Bear, for by making this greeting he delayed getting up for another moment.

"My, but I'm hungry."

"I'm simply starved," said Jupiter Bear, and the other cub, Blacky Bear said:

"I could eat all the food in the world if it were set before me."

"Maybe not quite all that," laughed Honey Bear, "but we certainly do need a great deal of food. What a thin lot we are!"

And as their growling voices could be heard outside the cave Sweet Face, the lamb, shook with fear but felt he couldn't move an inch.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE » by WYNN «

THURSDAY, March 14.

HERE'S the kind of day good folks like; sort of a pay day, with rewards being distributed to those who deserve 'em. If we don't receive them, let's find out why, not just call Nature's vibrations a lot of baloney. Settle finances.

Your Life Pattern.

Making a life is more important than making a living, and Astrology helps in both. In making a life, it shows you your true pattern of qualities to develop, of experiences to go through, of lessons to learn in order to reach that perfection to which each of us is entitled to possess until we have earned; equality is in opportunity under natural law.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead can be profitable, if: (1) you neglect no opportunity to push occupational interests, and (2) you keep very strict control of emotions. Danger: Oct. 11 to Nov. 22; and Feb. 1 to March 17.

Tomorrow.

Emotional tests; be tactful and diplomatic if you can't be silent

WARNING TO POST-DISPATCH READERS ABOUT "B. O."

ONE of the most common mistakes made among men and women is the belief that "white collar" people are never guilty of "B.O." (body odor). It is often assumed that only manual workers, or those who are active physically, can be victims of body odor.

But this belief is decidedly untrue. For any doctor will tell you that everyone—regardless of the work he does—perspires at least a quart a day, even during the winter when the perspiration may be invisible.

The guilty rarely know the truth

The tragedy of "B.O." is the fact that the first one to offend is usually the last one to know. For we soon become used to an ever-present odor and don't realize it's there. That is why so many people in every walk of life offend unknowingly.

Millions of men and women have come to realize how foolish it is to take chances when there is a soap like Lifebuoy. For Lifebuoy's purifying, deodorizing lather ends "B.O." quickly—protects you against offending.

Wonderful for complexions, too

Lifebuoy's bland, abundant lather agrees with the skin as no other soaps do, say millions. It penetrates deep into the pores, coaxing out dirt and clogged waste. It stimulates, soothes and refreshes.

And it's so mild and gentle the most delicate complexion thrives on it. Scientific tests made on the skins of hundreds of women show that Lifebuoy is more than 20 per cent milder than many so-called "beauty soaps." Use Lifebuoy and watch your skin gain healthy radiance.

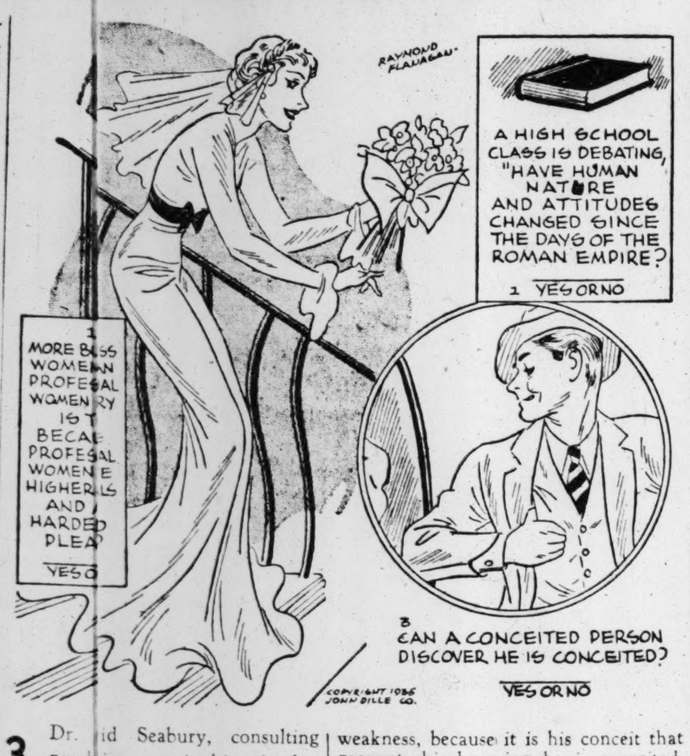
Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

See Whether His Opinions Agree With Your Own

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.



RAYMOND FLANAGAN
A HIGH SCHOOL CLASS IS DEBATING, "HAVE HUMAN NATURE AND ATTITUDES CHANGED SINCE THE DAYS OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE?
2 YES OR NO
MORE BUSINESS WOMEN THAN PROFESSIONAL WOMEN MARRY. IS THIS BECAUSE PROFESSIONAL WOMEN HAVE HIGHER IDEALS AND ARE HARDER TO PLEASE?
YES OR NO
CAN A CONCEITED PERSON DISCOVER HE IS CONCEITED?
YES OR NO
COPYRIGHT 1935 JOHN DILLE CO.

1. —No researches directly answer this question, but number of studies of college and professional women would indicate it is due chiefly to three things: first, that, as a group, professional women have higher education and thus higher ideals; second, that there are fewer men of their class to choose from; and third, that they have far less opportunity. As I showed recently, an additional factor is probably that as a rule, business women dress better and make themselves more attractive, although they spend less money on dress and personal make-up.

2. —May I suggest to these students that they are debating two questions at once. Should human nature change, attitudes would almost certainly change, but attitudes could change tremendously without any change in human nature. Our knowledge of evolution would lead us to believe that human nature has changed somewhat within recorded time, although we have no way of proving or measuring it. But attitudes undergo many changes from century to century, even from decade to decade. Imagine [illegible] nowadays throwing beau[illegible] to the lions!

3. Dr. David Seabury, consulting psychologist, says in his stimulating new book, "What Makes Us Seem So Queer," that it is very rare that a conceited person discovers his weakness, because it is his conceit that prevents his knowing he is conceited. He thinks he is all right, just like the mother who had an undersized boy, but who claimed he was full-sized because most other boys were overgrown.

White Magic

By Olah Maude Abbott

THE 15 black boys lined up in front of the Colonel were ill at ease. They shifted their great splay-feet about and scratched their heels with their toes. They rolled their eyes until the whites showed, looking anxiously at their master.

It was near sundown, and from the shanties out behind the chinaberry trees came the enticing odor of black-eyed peas and corn pone. Big Tom sighed audibly and looked wistfully at the Colonel. But the Colonel just stood there beside the empty boiling kettle and flicked at his shiny new boots with his riding crop. The Judge from up North stood beside the Colonel looking very solemn.

Finally, the Colonel cleared his throat and said: "Boys, you all know Judge Henderson here is a friend of mine. Now, while here in my home, he has suffered a great loss. A valuable gold watch, with a rabbit's foot charm has been stolen. We can't let the Judge go home without his watch and charm. Now I'm going to give each one of you a chance to tell me if you have that gold watch. Tom, have you got that watch and rabbit's foot charm?"

"No, sah," Tom denied, looking as bland and innocent as a babe.

"Jim, have you got that watch and charm?"

"No, Marsh Colonel, I ain't neber seen no sich thing."

The Colonel asked each one, and each one spoke his denial in a soft, liquid voice and held out his empty hands for the Judge and Colonel to see.

Col. Solomon turned to the Judge and said: "Did you say that rabbit's foot had a curse on it, Judge Henderson?"

The Judge nodded emphatically. "A terrible one," he replied.

The Colonel pointed at a pickaninny standing near and said to him: "George, go fetch my rooster."

Judge Henderson smiled in anticipation. All over the country the Colonel was known as "King Solomon" because of his canny way of handling his servants. The Colonel felt one of the new boys had the watch and charm—he trusted the old hands completely—but they all must be taught a lesson.

The Colonel took the rooster from the grinning George and pretended to whisper to it. Then he said:

"Now, boys, the rooster knows who got that watch and charm, and he's going to tell us in his own way. I'm going to turn this b'ilin' pot down over him, and you are each to come by and rub your hands over the pot. When the guilty boy touches the kettle the rooster will crow."

So saying the Colonel turned the kettle down over the surprised rooster and indicated that the boys were to start. Each boy passed by the boiling pot and passed his hand over it. And each time the rooster failed to crow. When the last one passed the pot the rooster still had not crowed.

But the Colonel was not through yet. He went over to the boys and told them to hold their hands out in front of them. He went down the row looking at the pale pinkish-yellow palms. When he came to the three new boys he grabbed the biggest fellow by the wool and hustled him over in front of the Judge.

IN an awful voice he said: "You, Moses, give the Judge that watch and chain before that curse falls on you. I'll teach you to try to steal around here. Give it to him quick before you get a curse on you."

The astonished and frightened Moses got down on his knees and bowed his head. He began to rock and moan for mercy. From inside his jumper he drew the watch and charm and handed them to the Judge. "Oh, Lawdy," he moaned, cringing from the thrashing he fully expected.

But the Colonel merely looked at him and said: "Get up. Next time you steal anything around here there's going to be a curse fall on you for sure."

He turned to Tom, one of his oldest boys, and said: "See that the new boys have plenty of bacon and corn pone with molasses tonight."

When the boys were gone to their quarters Judge Henderson turned to Col. Solomon and said: "Well, out with it. How did you do it?"

The Colonel explained.

"The boy who was guilty was afraid to really touch the kettle for fear the rooster would crow—racial superstition, you know—and, consequently, all the boys had soot on their hands except the guilty one, who was very careful not to touch the kettle bottom. Very simple when you understand them—just like children.

He sniffed delightedly. "Come on. Aunt Chloe is going to have fried chicken and beaten biscuits for supper.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SMALLEST APARTMENT—W. Eugene LeHuquet of Bellevue, Wash., has what he says is undoubtedly the smallest home in the world—the home he has lived in since December 17, 1931. It is an old 1923 Ford sedan, once given up as a worn out car by its former owner. At an initial cost of only $25 LeHuquet made it run another 30,000 miles and it is still going strong. The interior of the unique car includes heating and cooking facilities, storage compartments for food, bureau drawers, a radio, sleeping accommodations and everything else necessary for travel. LeHuquet has visited 43 of the United States state capitals and expects to keep on going in his little home-on-wheels until he has seen them all.
